Today's War News Given in Summary.

Violent fighting has been resumed within a two hour motor ride of the gates of Paris. At Tracy-le-Val, where the main battle line from the north swings to the eastward at the point nearest Paris, a German advance led to a violent encounter. The Germans attempted to recapture the town, won by the allies a few days ago, but according to the French war office statement today, they were repulsed with heavy losses.

In Flanders the artillery duel, described during the last few days as of furious intensity, has become still more violent, on the part of the Germans, but here, as elsewhere, the opposing forces are holding fast to their main positions.

An official German communication states that heavy fighting has been resumed in the Argonne forests around which some of the most severe encounters of the war have raged from time to time during the last two months. A heavy loss, it is said, was inflicted on the enemy. In a battle between two squadrons of aeroplanes, it is said, one airship of the allies and one of the Germans were lost.

Turkey's explanation of her act in firing on the American flag at Smyrna has not been submitted, nor has the navy department at Washington received a detailed report from Captain Decker, of the cruiser Tennessee, one of whose launches was under fire. The Washington authorities were confident, however, that satisfactory amends would be made by Turkey and that no complications would result.

Austria is calling for more soldiers. The older men of the landstrum of 1870 to 1890 have been summoned to the colors. Austria apparently has the upper hand in her war with Servia. Reports from Vienna state that the pursuit of the enemy is being carried further and that the Servians retreat was attended with heavy losses.

Germany's new attack on the Russian army in the center of the eastern battle line stood out conspicuously today as of chief immediate importance in the European war. The sudden assault of the Germans in Russian Poland, from which territory they were described recently as being driven in disorder, has lent a new aspect to this campaign. Russian military officials admit a reverse in the territory and Berlin is celebrating a great victory, but the remoteness of authentic information from the front makes it impossible to determine the extent or importance of the German success.

AIRMEN ENGAGE IN FIERCE ENCOUNTER

Berlin, Nov. 19.—Via Marconi Wireless to London—(3 p. m.)—A German official communication given out in Berlin today says:

"The situation in West Flanders and in the north of France is unchanged.

"A German aviation squadron encountered some of the enemy's aviators while making a reconnoitering flight and caused them to descend, one of them falling. One of our flying machines is missing.

"A fierce French attack in the region of Servon, on the western slope of the Argonne forest was repulsed with heavy loss to the enemy. Our losses were small.

"In the eastern theater of the war the newly commenced battles are proceeding."

For the first time since the outbreak of the war the Germans spent the day without their newspapers, the publication of which was suspended because of the religious day of repentance. The daily report from war headquarters appeared as usual but there was no means of circulating it except through bulletins posted in shop windows and by means of a telegraphic extract displayed in the postoffice down town.

Berlin is Celebrating.

The streets of Berlin today were crowded and the spirit of the promenaders was confident as a result of the Russian defeats reported yesterday. The Neuwe Frie Press correspondent gives details of the capture of Valcivo, Servia. The Austrians advanced in five columns, three of which arrived within cannon range early Sunday but the attack was delayed because of the slow progress of the other columns over a difficult terrain.

The attack began at 11 o'clock. The Austrians, despite vigorous resistance, drove the left wing in. The right wing was simultaneously threatened by an outflanking movement from Rolubara and a devastating artillery fire completed the discomfiture of the Servians so that by 5 o'clock in the afternoon they were in full retirement on Arandelovatz, abandoning fortifications on which they had worked for years and which were considered impregnable. It is doubtful whether the Servians will make a stand at Arandelovatz.

The Servians had no time to bring off or to destroy their guns or supplies, great quantities of which fell into the hands of the Austrians. Over 6,000 Servians were taken prisoners.

WEST FLANDERS CUT OFF.

The Hague, Via London, Nov. 19.—(3:30 a. m.)—Advices received here from Thielt, Belgium, which were brought by way of Sas Van Gent by messenger and are dated Monday, Nov. 16, state that west Flanders, the scene of incessant military operations, remains almost cut off from the rest of Belgium through the blowing up of most of the bridges leading thereto. Peasants are obliged to make emergency bridges from planks and crawl along these to escape from the danger zone. The Germans have declared the territory west of the railroad running from Antwerp to Brussels and thence to Mons, an official war area where nobody, including even Germans, are allowed to travel without a special military passport.

It is difficult to obtain reliable news of the situation in the war zone, as the bedraggled men and women, who manage to escape, are too miserable, through cold and hunger, to give a connected account of their experiences.

Their only definite recollection seems to be the continued cannon fire and the endless procession of wounded filling their villages. It was learned from some of them, however, that Dixmude, the scene of such severe fighting, is entirely ruined. Nieuport also suffered severely. The principal church there has lost its tower and its roof and the renaissance carvings in its interior have been demolished. In Ypres the Cloth Hall, which was one of the few ancient buildings saved from the English siege in the year 1383, is severely damaged by shrapnel fire.

In Termonde the Germans have ordered the schools reopened, but since the ten thousand inhabitants have been reduced to a hundred, there are no pupils and besides, as four-fifths of the town is in ruins, there are no schools. The bridges here are lightly guarded by men of the Bavarian landwehr.

Ghent is deserted by its population, but is overflowing with German wounded. Zeebrugge, according to reports, has been made a station for submarines by the Germans. At Alost the population is beginning to return. The people are establishing themselves in shacks and in the ruins of their old homes. From the entire province of Flanders, where the roads are full of aimlessly drifting people, come credible reports of ever increasing suffering and privations. Food is exceedingly scarce and many persons are suffering from hunger. The peasants are cutting down the old line of trees at the country places for fuel.

Brussels is quiet. About one-third of the population there is supported by

RUSSIAN WARSHIPS PUT TO FLIGHT

Berlin, Nov. 19.—(By Wireless to The Associated Press.)—A Turkish fleet has engaged a Russian squadron composed of two battleships and seven cruisers off Sebastopol, according to an official report reaching Berlin from Constantinople today. One of the Russian battleships was seriously damaged and the other vessels, with the Turkish warships in pursuit fled to Sebastopol.

HELD ON CHARGE OF HIGH TREASON.

Sault Ste Marie, Nov. 19.—Robert Sayer, of this city, is held in custody here on a charge of high treason. He is said to have admitted in court today that he aided the Austrians to cross the St Mary's river from the United States into Canada, to join their home regiment in the European war. The crime is punishable by death. The hearing has been postponed eight days while local officials wait for instructions from the military authorities.

FIGHT FROM BOATS IN INUNDATED REGION.

Bruges, Belgium, Nov. 19.—Fighting between the German and allies forces in inundated territory between Dixmude and Nieuport on the north sea coast, is now frequently being carried on in boats. Artillery, for the first time in the war, has proved ineffective, but personal bravery and enterprise are counting for much. The battle is beginning to resemble the classical siege of Leyden, in the sixteenth century with raids and counter raids by means of flat bottomed boats.

GRAND JURY IN ELECTION PROBE

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 19.—Investigation of the Terre Haute election was begun today by the federal grand jury. Twenty-six witnesses had been subpoenaed for the day and all election returns to the Vigo county clerk and the registration books held by the county auditor were taken into the grand jury room. Both men and women were among the witnesses. All the witnesses today are regarded highly by people of the state, no alleged gangsters or election crooks being among those appearing.

When first information regarding political conditions in Terre Haute was presented to Frank C. Dailey, United States district attorney, who has personal charge of the investigation, it was said that 2,800 names had been falsely registered. Later, when the election was held, many corrupt acts were committed at the polls. Both phases of this alleged political crookedness will be investigated. Two weeks or more, it is expected, will be spent in consideration of the Terre Haute case. How many witnesses have been subpoenaed is unknown, but it is expected that three hundred persons will be examined before the inquiry is complete.

MOTHER LOOKS FOR LOST SON

In a search for her 17-year-old son, who left home three weeks ago, Mrs. Lillian Randall, of Huntington, made a visit to the office of the Indiana Free Employment bureau, in the court house, Wednesday afternoon. While she learned that he had been there a few days before in search of employment, she was unable to locate him.

The boy left home suddenly and without telling a soul that he was going. There was apparently no cause for his leaving, according to the distracted mother. She was told at the employment bureau's office that at the time her son was there no positions were available and for that reason they had no record as to where he might be found. The young man is a fine looking chap. Mrs. Randall is a widow.

Washington, Nov. 19.—Although the navy department continued every effort to get a fuller report to furnish the missing links in the chain of incidents connected with the firing upon the cruiser Tennessee launch by the Turkish forts at Smyrna, nothing had been heard early today from Captain Decker or from Ambassador Morgenthau.

As nearly a week was taken in getting the last message through to the state department from the ambassador at Constantinople little information is expected from him before Captain Decker is heard from. Yesterday he got through his first report of the incident within a few hours.

DESPONDENT MAN COMMITS SUICIDE

Excessive drinking is believed to have caused Worthington Asher to commit suicide Wednesday evening by swallowing the contents oof a two-ounce bottle of carbolic acid at his home, 1509 Cass street, shortly after he had finished his supper. Mrs. Asher is of the opinion that his excessive drinking had deranged his mind. Asher was 35 years old and a carpenter.

Asher drank the deadly drug in the presence of his wife and step-children, who attempted to prevent him but to no avail. Mrs. Asher immediately called the police and Dr. M. W. Tinkham, who arrived just a few minutes before Asher breathed his last.

According to Mrs. Asher her husband had often threatened suicide, but she paid little attention to it. He also had threatened her life, she said, and on one occasion carried a hatchet around with him for hours declaring he would use it on her.

Asher moved to Fort Wayne some months ago from Indianapolis and six weeks ago he was joined by his wife and her three children, Robert, Alma and Esther, children by a former marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Asher were married only last April. The deceased is survived by a mother and brother, both of Indianapolis, and two small children, David and Flora, who live with relatives in Indianapolis.

Coroner E. H. Kruse investigated the case Wednesday night. The body is now at the Schone & Ankenbruck undertaking parlors.

SKULL CRUSHED BY PIPE WRENCH

Aurora, Ill., Nov. 19.—A woman found lying unconscious in a church yard here last night with her skull crushed by a blow from a heavy pipe wrench, was identified today as Miss Jennie Miller, 55 years old, daughter of a former mayor of Aurora. Physicians say she cannot live.

Miss Miller's hand bag containing money and valuable jewelry, was not found. Authorities investigating the case held a theory of robbery. Although a member of a family that long had been prominent in social affairs, Miss Miller had lived the life of a recluse.

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in avoiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

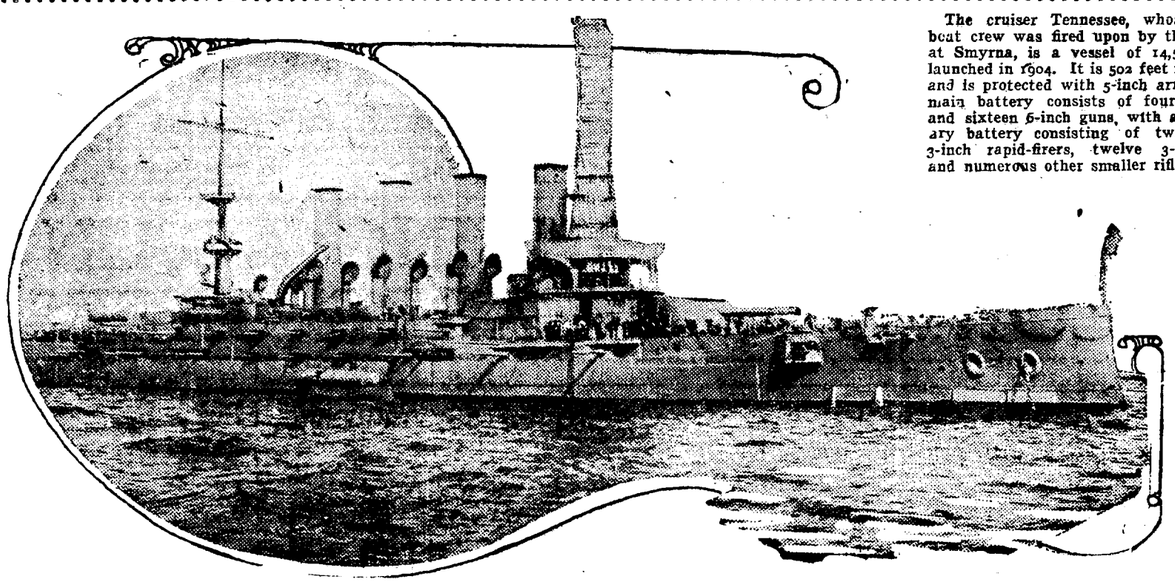
THAT TURKISH SHOT AT THE AMERICAN FLAG



The cruiser Tennessee, whose small boat crew was fired upon by the Turks at Smyrna, is a vessel of 14,500 tons, launched in 1904. It is 502 feet in length and is protected with 5-inch armor. The main battery consists of four 10-inch and sixteen 6-inch guns, with a secondary battery consisting of twenty-two 3-inch rapid-firers, twelve 3-pounders and numerous other smaller rifles.

GERMANS DRIVE BACK THE RUSSIAN ADVANCE

London, Nov. 19.—(12:07 p. m.)—The unexpected blow delivered on the Russian center by Gen. von Hindenburg with the German army which had retreated from before Warsaw was the predominant feature of the news reaching London today from the eastern arena of war.

No change of importance has been recorded for some days past in the western arena where Flanders is still the scene of heavy fighting. In spite of adverse weather conditions and flooded trenches the Germans appear to be holding their positions from which, at intervals, they launch the attacks for which the territory from the Belgian coast to Arras has become famous.

The allies' warships are still off the coast, putting shells inland when opportunity offers. The Belgian army remains in the region where the floods have been the worst and some dispatches say that in certain places they have been fighting from small boats.

Having for the time being thrown back the Russian advance toward the German frontier of Posen, Gen. von Hindenburg is the hero of the hour in Berlin. There is much criticism in Berlin of the German retreat from Warsaw, but if the present marked reversal of form proves permanent, the German tation just as the allies retrived themtation just as th allies retrieved themselvees almost at the gates of Paris. The German wedge from Posen would appear to have driven the Russian center more than fifty miles back from the frontier, so that the line is now about midway between German territory and Warsaw. Elsewhere along the great eastern front the Russians, where they are not progressing, seem to be holding their own.

England and especially London turned its eyes from the conflict today to pay a last tribute to its greatest and best loved soldier, Field Marshall Lord Roberts, whose body, in the presence of King George and all the military leaders not at the front, was placed at rest beside Wellington, Nelson and others celebrated in the country's history, in St. Paul's cathedral.

COLD BIG DRAFT ON THEIR FUNDS

Cold weather of the last few days has created a big draft on the resources of the poor and the snow flurries that accompanied it call to mind the fact that Christmas is rapidly approaching when the flood gate of generosity ought to be opened and permitted to pour its flood of joy and happiness on the world at large and the children of the poor in particular.

Donations of $25 each have been placed in The Sentinel-Empress fund by the Fort Wayne Sentinel and by the Empress theater management and a charitable young lady who does not want her name to be made public at this time, has insured that an equal amount in useful gifts will be added, so that this makes a good start for one of the undertakings that is certain to spread Christmas cheer among the little ones.

Then the show that goes with it all is to be considered. It can not be measured in dollars and cents, but last year the enjoyment it provided was worth an immense sum to the little fellows whose parents have no money to provide the amusements that help to relieve life of its monotony.

At the meeting Wednesday afternoon the Fort Wayne Mothers' club made arrangements to distribute the gifts that are to be purchased with the donations and this work will be done by a committee made up of the various parent-teacher clubs of the city.

These clubs also will be able to reach directly the children who will be deprived of the joys of Christmas gifts unless the charitable people of Fort Wayne provide them.

With a year of experience as a guide and the full knowledge that there is a wonderfully rich field in Fort Wayne for charity among the poor children the fund can be more intelligently handled and better results obtained. Persons who desire to contribute are asked to send their money to The Sentinel office and they will be duly acknowledged.

TAKES A RAP AT WILSON HISTORY

Mrs. Beard Scores It for Failure to Recognize Woman's Work.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 19.—The presentation and discussion of commissioners on a wide range of subjects pertaining to municipal government occupied the attention of the delegates to the twenty-second annual conference of the National Municipal League here today. Mrs. Charles A. Beard, of New York, who delivered an address on "Woman's Work for the City," declared that if a visitor from Mars were to read President Wilson's five-volume history of American people "he would imagine that there had been no women in this part of the universe from the landing of the pilgrims to the present day, for scarcely a mention of women can be found in all the hundreds of pages."

Mrs. Beard believed the knell of that sort of history had been rung. "Women are now studying history for themselves," she said. Mrs. Beard outlined the wide range of women's activities, particularly in civic work—all the way from planting window flower boxes to assumption of the "judicial ermine."

"It is a matter of common knowledge," she declared, "that many a municipal politician in office owes the success of his technical administration to the efficiency of a woman under-secretary."

DOES CUPID USE A HAIR NET ?

Yes indeed he does. At least many times the attention of "the one man" has been caught by beautiful hair. Love stories all tell us of the heroine's beautiful hair because it is one of the features which most attracts men. In washing the hair it is not advisable to use a makeshift, but always use a preparation made for shampooing only. You can enjoy the best that is known for about three cents a shampoo by getting a package of canthrox from your druggist; dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and your shampoo is ready. After its use the hair dries rapidly with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its lustre and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth.—Adv.

ROBERTS' BODY BORNE TO TOMB

London, Nov. 19.—(12:12 p. m.)—The body of Field Marshal Lord Roberts, borne on a gun carriage, moved slowly through the streets of London today to its last resting place in St. Paul's cathedral. The streets were lined with troops while hundreds of thousands of civilians stood with bared heads in a cold rain as the funeral cortege went by.

The cortege reached St. Paul's at noon where funeral services were held before a reverent throng, including King George. The body will be interred alongside the remains of Wellington, Nelson, Wolseley and other famous Britons.

Lord Roberts died from natural causes last week at the headquarters of the British army in France. He was 82 years old. The body was returned to England yesterday and last night it lay in his residence at Ascot, where brief services attended by Lady Roberts and her daughters were held. This morning the coffin was brought to London for public funeral.

Washington, Ind., Nov. 19.—A surprise was sprung here yesterday when Judge J. W. Ogden in the circuit court entered an order calling the grand jury together on Wednesday, December 2. The body held a session only a few weeks ago and nothing of importance resulted. From what can be gleaned from remarks from democratic leaders, it is understood that the grand jury is to look into the conduct of the last election in Daviess county, these men openly charging that "boodle and booze" caused the defeat of the entire democratic ticket.

MINE WORKERS SEE PRESIDENT

Washington, Nov. 19.—Three officials of the United Mine Workers of America, fresh from the American Federation of Labor convention in Philadelphia, where a resolution was adopted calling on the federal government to put the Colorado mines into a receivership unless the operators accept the pending plan for settlement of the strike, conferred today with President Wilson at the white house. The delegation, consisting of John D. White, president; Wm. Greene, treasurer, and F. J. Hayes, vice president of the mine workers, were accompanied by Secretary Wilson, of the department of labor, who has had charge of the negotiations to bring about a settlement.

Recently it was said the president investigated the legality of a proposal of some labor leaders that the government close down the mines. Protests against such action were received from the representatives of the operators and it was denied at the white house that such a plan was being considered.

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 19.—Fire this morning destroyed the Davies laundry and the Twentieth Century garage for a loss of from $130,000 to $150,000. Captain Frank Strickler, of hose company No. 6, was perhaps fatally hurt by a falling wall and is in Epworth hospital. Thirty automobiles stored in the garage are a total loss. The loss is divided as follows: Davies Laundry company, $70,000; Twentieth Century garage, from $75,000 to $80,000. It is believed that the former concern carried about $30,000 insurance and the latter company about $25,000 insurance.

ANOTHER IN PENNSYLVANIA.

Pottsville, Pa., Nov. 19.—Fourteen buildings used as business places and residences combined were destroyed by fire in Girardville, near here, early today. The loss is $100,000. The water supply gave out and water was pumped from a creek running through the town. A building was razed by dynamite to check the progress of the blaze.

WHAT MR. TAFT IS DOING.

Just Sitting Up in Tree Watching Events, Says Ex-President.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—Wm. H. Taft told reporters who sought his views on national questions today that he "was sitting up in an apple tree watching the course of events." The former president is here to deliver three lectures at the University of Chicago. "I am having an infinitely better time as a spectator than I would be having as an actor in the happening," Prof. Taft said. "I am a pedagogue now and pedagogues are a quiet, contemplative lot, who can afford to sit back and wait for things to take place."

GRAND LODGE NEARS END.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 19.—The grand lodge I. O. O. F., will close its sessions here today with the election of officers and the transaction of other business. There are five candidates for grand warden, the only office on which there is a contest. The candidates are A. A. Spears, of Brazil; W. W. Swank, of Wingate; C. H. Luthman, of Hammond; Harry C. Barnett, of Salem, and Leander Leivsley, of Newcastle.

GROOM FREEZES WHILE WEDDING PARTY WAITS.

Manchester, N. H., Nov. 19.—Timothy F. Cronin was found dead in a ravine north of the city yesterday after his fiancee, Miss Amelia Schultz, who was to have been married to him, waited in vain for several hours with the rest of the wedding party at St. Joseph's church. [illegible]

Dances and Plays for Churchgoers

Rev. J. R. Atkinson.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 19.—Dancing and acting are to have a prominent place in the social program of St. Phillip's cathedral this winter, and St. Phillip's is the most conservative church in the south.

The new rector, Rev. John Robert Atkinson, came here recently from Newark, N. J., and he brought with him many new ideas—one of them is that, as young people have a natural love for dancing, they should be allowed to dance under proper supervision, and, as they like plays, they should be provided with the right kind of plays.

"I do not want to hurt anyone's feelings," declares Rev. Atkinson. "I simply want to reach the people through the church."

STOCK SHIPMENTS CHECKED.

Thousands of Animals Ready for Market Held in Montana.

Billings, Mont., Nov. 19.—More than 40,000 sheep and 1,000 cattle, ready for market, are being held in the local yards on account of the quarantine against the foot and mouth disease. It is estimated that more than 80,000 head of sheep and several thousand cattle also are being fattened in neighboring valleys, none of which can be shipped under the present federal quarantine order.

Unless this stock can be moved shortly stockmen of this region say they face a loss estimated at a quarter of a million dollars.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

VAN WERT BURGLARS SENTENCED

Van Wert, O., Nov. 19.—Robert Martin and John Kane, the two young men arrested in Pittsburgh, Pa., several weeks ago and brought back here for the burglary of the Van Wert Clothing company's store, from which they stole over $500 worth of merchandise, pleaded guilty in the criminal court here. Martin was sentenced to an indefinite term in the penitentiary at Columbus, and Kane was sentenced to an indefinite term in the reformatory at Mansfield, the court judging it best to separate them. The two men got from here to Lima with their booty and from that point expressed it to Pittsburgh. Van Wert officers got to the stuff in Lima before it could be put on a train and seized it, then went to Pittsburgh where they arrested the two men when they called at the express office expecting to get their loot.

INJURED BY HORSE.

Columbia City, Ind., Nov. 19.—Lloyd Mowrey, a son of Sylvanus Mowrey, of Union township, was injured by a horse Tuesday in Fort Wayne. He was one of the fellows who started to the Allen county seat at an early hour with some articles and when he was getting ready to return home, he was hitching up his team. One of the horses became frightened at a train and when it reared and plunged, Mr. Mowrey was knocked down, severely injuring his left wrist. He did not think much about it at the time, but when he got home it continued to hurt, so he called Dr. F. G. Grisier, who found that some of the wrist cartilage had been broken and some of the tendons torn loose.

WANTED TO SEND MOUSE BY MAIL

Delphos, O., Nov. 19.—An unusual package for transportation by parcel post was received at the Delphos postoffice, when a Delphos person brought to the office a neatly fashioned box, in which was imprisoned a live pet mouse, which it was desired to send to a friend. The person was informed that the mailing of live animals by parcel post was not permissible and against the postal laws.

AGED WARSAW WOMAN INJURED.

Warsaw, Ind., Nov. 19.—Mrs. James Barfel, aged eighty years and a well known resident of this city, was badly injured by a fall in Marion, where she is visiting the home of her son. She had long been an invalid and for nine years had been able to get about only by the use of crutches. She had stepped from the house into the yard, at the home of her son, and slipped, breaking a shoulder.

TYPHOID SLAYS YOUNG MAN.

Huntington, Ind., Nov. 19.—George F. Gill, aged twenty-five years, and son of John Gill, residing north of Huntington, is dead after an illness of three weeks with typhoid fever. He was a telegraph operator and was well known. Besides his parents he leaves four brothers and four sisters.

TRAIN HITS TRUCK; MAN HURT.

Huntington, Ind., Nov. 19.—Glade Diffendorfer, aged twenty-eight, of Zanesville, was seriously injured and an auto truck he was riding on was badly damaged when Wabash train No. 5 struck the truck at the Byron street crossing in this city. Diffendorfer was returning to Zanesville with a truck load of supplies from a wholesale grocery here and the accident occurred because he neither saw the headlight of the locomotive nor heard the roar of the train, though he says he stopped his truck at the crossing and both looked and listened. Diffendorfer was thrown from the truck near the wheels of the passing train and had a narrow escape from death.

DISEASE CLOSES SCHOOL FOR DAY.

Bluffton, Ind., Nov. 19.—The high school was closed at noon Wednesday for fumigation when it was discovered that George Beeler, a son of Manus Beeler, a member of the high school senior class, is suffering from smallpox. The Beeler home, east of town, was quarantined yesterday afternoon. The high school building was thoroughly fumigated Wednesday afternoon and last night and the classes were resumed this morning. Unless other cases appear in the high school it will probably be unnecessary to close the school. Most of the high school students have been vaccinated.

STOPS A CORN SHREDDER.

Plymouth, Ind., Nov. 19.—Dr. Carl Reynolds was in the north part of Polk township Tuesday and put a stop to corn shredding. Wm. Waner had been operating a shredder in St. Joseph county and, after being stopped by the authorities of that county on account of the hoof and mouth disease quarantine, moved over into Marshall county and continued his occupation. The people in that vicinity complained to Dr. Reynolds and he hastened to the locality and ordered the shredding to cease.

LANDS COLORED FUGITIVE.

Van Wert, O., Nov. 19.—Sheriff H. W. Wilson has returned from Decatur, Ind., with Louise Watson, the colored woman wanted on a charge of having robbed a man in Delphos recently. She was in the custody of an officer in the interurban station at Delphos and asked to be "excused for a minute," and a bit later she escaped through the window of a toilet room and walked out of town. She footed it to a small way station and took a train for Decatur, where she was arrested and where she tried the same game on the officers, but without success.

MONTPELIER HAS SMALLPOX.

Montpelier, Ind., Nov. 19.—A case of smallpox was reported by Dr. Emshwiller to Health Officer Reynolds. The case is in the home of Mrs. Nellie Huffman, on West Huntington street, who recently moved here from Keystone, and is her 10-year-old son Paul. He has not been in school since last week, and it is thought that he will not spread the disease. She has another son. Mrs. Huffman is the wife of Frank Huffman, and has applied for a divorce from him.

USING WRONG CHOLERA SERUM.

Warsaw, Ind., Nov. 19.—Wrong serum, used in the vaccination of hogs, is held to be responsible for the failure to check the ravages of cholera among the droves of swine in Kosciusko county during the past two months. Dr. W. A. Mabie, who is in charge of the work here, gives out a statement in which he says that farmers on their own authority have sent to Chicago and purchased anti-cholera serum from the stockyards in that city and have user it in vaccinating their hogs. This serum is useless and has been condemned by the bureau of animal industry of the agricultural department in Washington.

WILL FEED PORTLAND'S NEEDY.

Portland, Ind., Nov. 19.—Portland's poor and needy are to be feasted Thanksgiving day at the expense of Morris Weiler, a local merchant, who today offered to bear all expenses of a big turkey feast and all trimmings if the churches of the city would unite and serve the feast, looking after other details. The proposition has been accepted by the ministerial association and at a meeting held today preliminary details were arranged.

FIRES SHOT AT OFFICER.

Montpelier, Ind., Nov. 19.—Night Officer Sleppy, of this city, is trying to identify the person who took a pot shot at him last night, while he was making his rounds. When near the Pharmacy drug store a shot was fired at him from some unknown place. The bullet did not touch Officer Sleppy, but he heard it sing past.

CROSS, FEVERISH CHILD IS BILIOUS OR CONSTIPATED

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless "fruit laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When its little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here, so don't be fooled. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company."—Adv.

Don't Merely "Stop" a Cough

Stop the Thing that Causes It and the Cough will Stop Itself

A cough is really one of our best friends. It warns us that there is inflammation or obstruction in a dangerous place. Therefore, when you get a bad cough don't proceed to dose yourself with a lot of drugs that merely "stop" the cough temporarily by deadening the throat nerves. Treat the cause—heal the inflamed membranes. Here is a home-made remedy that gets right at the cause and will make an obstinate cough vanish more quickly than you ever thought possible.

Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth) in a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. This gives you a full pint of the most pleasant and effective cough remedy you ever used, at a cost of only 54 cents. No bother to prepare. Full directions with Pinex.

It heals the inflamed membranes so gently and promptly that you wonder how it does it. Also loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough and stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, rich in guaiacol, and is famous the world over for its healing effect on the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex," and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of [illegible]

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

Esther 2:1-12.

1 After these things, when the wrath of king Ahasuerus was appeased, he remembered Vashti, and what she had done, and what was decreed against her.

2 Then said the king's servants that ministered unto him, Let there be fair young virgins sought for the king;

3 And let the king appoint officers in all the provinces of his kingdom, that they may gather together all the fair young virgins unto Shushan the palace, to the house of the women, unto the custody of Hege the king's chamberlain, keeper of the women; and let their things for purification be given them:

4 And let the maiden which pleaseth the king be queen instead of Vashti. And the thing pleased the king; and he did so.

5 Now in Shushan the palace there was a certain Jew, whose name was Mordecai, the son of Jair, the son of Shimei, the son of Kish, a Benjamite;

6 Who had been carried away from Jerusalem with the captivity which had been carried away with Jeconiah king of Judah, whom Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon had carried away

7 And he brought up Hadassah, that is, Esther his uncle's daughter: for she had neither father nor mother, and the maid was fair and beautiful; whom Mordecai, when her father and mother were dead, took for his own daughter.

8 So it came to pass, when the king's commandment and his decree was heard, and when many maidens were gathered together unto Shushan the palace, to the custody of Hegai, that Esther was brought also unto the king's house, to the custody of Hegai, keeper of the women.

9 And the maiden pleased him, and she obtained kindness of him; and he speedily gave her her things for purification, with such things as belonged to her, and seven maidens, which were meet to be given her, out of the king's house: and he preferred her and her maids unto the best place of the house of the women.

10 Esther had not shewed her people nor her kindred: for Mordecai had charged her that she should not shew it.

11 And Mordecai walked every day before the court of the women's house, to know how Esther did, and what should become of her.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 19,1914.

Cities, Too, Must Train for Farming.

In every big city you hear the sad story of shop girls, women office clerks and stenographers laid off, hungry and unable to get work. It happens most every winter—only this time war and scare have made it worse.

It's tough for a husky man to be out of a job in winter, but he can generally find something to do. Many of these girls can't find a thing that they can do. What must the winter mean for them? In a way they are victims of city life and city training. They know only one job and when that fails they are stranded.

A good many of these young women have come to the cities from small towns and from homes on the farm. They wished to be "independent." Alas, they are finding that nobody is independent; that everybody is somehow related to everybody else.

Now suppose the village and country schools had taught them how to earn a living from the soil; had fitted them to be wives of skilled farmers. Don't you think they would be better off? Our agricultural schools are filling up with lads from the cities who have tired of the city glamor and want to become out-of-door producers. But can this wholesome tendency continue if there are not women to go with them upon the farms?

Right now, in the west, there are enough bachelor ranchers and sturdy farm workers to provide homes for very many of these jobless women in the cities; but the latter aren't fitted for country life and there is no way by which they can be fitted and mated.

Application of the state law which provides for the revocation of automobile license on conviction of driving the machine while in an intoxicated condition, as has been done in a recent Fort Wayne instance, is to be thoroughly commeded. It will perhaps never be possible to entirely divest automobile driving from its perils, even under the most favorable circumstances and in the exercise of the utmost caution. But it is very clear that a drunken man has no business whatever at the wheel of a motor car. His elimination will remove a menace both to himself and to the general public.

Eighteen Terre Haute men have been arrested by federal authorities on election fraud charges, and their cases will be submitted to the United States grand jury at Indianapolis. Three hundred witnesses are to be summoned to testify regarding conditions in Terre Haute, and the developments are at least bound to be interesting. After all, Terre Haute is useful in giving that variety which is declared to be the spice of life, but it might at least vary the variety occassionally. Charges crookedness in elections there have become so frequent that they have lost much of their pristine originality.

Boys of the Hoagland school who are engaged in the study of forestry are getting some practical grasp of the subject at the same time by spraying trees under competent instruction. The idea is a splendid one, and values in education would be tremendously increased if it were possible to apply similar methods to still other branches of instruction that are not now included in vocational and manual training work.

When a politically good thing comes out of Pennsylvania, the fact is so rare as to make it noteworthy. The other day Philadelphia tried a remnant sale of 4 per cent. bonds direct to the people; $825,000 were offered at par, over the counter, first come first served. In an hour and a half the lot was exhausted and the public clamored for $500,000 more.

Testifying in an anti-trust suit at Chicago on the question of price-fixing, one witness explained that the policy of his company was to sell at a price sufficiently low that its competitor would not be happy in his business. PRESS ON NEGROES AND SEGREGATION.

"Was No Segregation."

Boston Transcript:—"Until the Wilson administration came into power there was no segregation of negro clerks at Washington; there was no necessity for it, there was no demand for it—in short, there was no 'segregation issue.'"

"Segregation Justified."

New Orleans Times-Picayune:—"The segregation effected during this administration can be justified on any one of a number of grounds. It makes for efficiency in the public service and for better racial relations."

"Un-American Attitude."

Philadelphia Ledger:—"There can be no question that there has crept into the departments at Washington an un-American attitude toward colored people. The necessity for segregation has been forced, with the connivance of at least one member of the cabinet."

"Perfectly Reasonable."

Syracuse Herald:—"It appears that provision has been made in the treasury department for separating white and colored employes. Most people will think that it is a perfectly reasonable one."

"Trotter Not Tactful."

Boston Herald:—"Mr. Trotter is not a tactful man. He is very prompt to assign ineradicable prejudice to any one who does not comply with all his wishes. His address to the president, passages of which are now reproduced, was inexcusably offensive."

"The President."

Philadelphia Bulletin:—"Had the president been wise he would have checked the zeal of his southern department and bureau heads long ago and counselled them to follow the path of least resistance and let the modus vivendi, which was one of inoffensive segregation, stand."

"Bad Service."

Baltimore Sun:—"William Monroe Trotter, of Boston, and others of his kind are rendering their people a notably bad service by such insolent performances as that at the white house Thursday."

"Politics Responsible."

Montgomery Advertiser:—"In Washington the race question is more acute than anywhere else in the United States. Politics and a hypocritical theory of 'racial justice' are solely responsible for conditions in the District of Columbia."

JOY WALKING.

(New York Press.)

Out in Kansas City, three or four years ago, they adopted police regulations to compel pedestrians to observe due caution in the streets. It was complained that too many were utterly regardless of such rules as keeping to the right or watching where they were going. The police adopted a program not only of holding up people that undertook to cross streets without giving attention, but that walked along the sidewalk reading newspapers and expecting other people to get out of the way.

Particularly was there effort to compel due regard of the obligation which is on the pedestrian to contribute his share toward safety at crossings. Every town has its proportion of walkers who deliberately take advantage of the supposed priority of their rights over those of vehicles to discommode and worry drivers. The countryman who seesawed his vehicle back and forth across the road because he hated to let a motor car pass was of the type of this pedestrian of the city. The number of these has been rapidly lessened in the country, but there are too many of them in the town.

GENUINE ECZEMA REMEDY.

New Remedy That Heals Eczema Quickly.

Meyer Bros. Co. has sold hundreds of jars of Hokara, and although they offered to refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied purchaser, not one jar has been returned.

While this is surprising in itself, yet the most marvelous thing is the reports of chronic cases of eczema that have been cured by this simple skin food. People who have suffered with scales, scabs and even bleeding itching have found relief in Hokara.

No matter where the eczema, pimples or other breaking out occurs, whether on the face, hands, legs or body, the application of Hokara should give quick relief, and even the worst or most chronic cases should be cured in a short time.

You can buy a liberal-sized jar today at the very low price of 35c, and with every package goes [illegible]

GOV. RALSTON IN A PROCLAMATION

Urges Thanksgiving Day Observance on Thursday, Nov. 26.

"The pilgrim fathers found cause for Thanksgiving in the fact that their lives were spared by the sea, although they landed on a barren rock and faced nature and man in their most savage state. They were thankful, although they had abandoned the peace of Europe and the comforts of civilization and had chosen the perils of pioneer life, because they were securing for themselves and their posterity the blessings of civil and religious liberty. And with humble and thankful hearts and a patience, fortitude and sacrifice unparalleled, they met and overcame the dangers and difficulties which compassed them about and laid broad and deep the foundations of republican institutions in American life and character.

"If our forefathers were so impressed by their faith in Divine guidance that they could establish a day of thanksgiving under such adverse conditions, how much more should we, who are heirs of their achievement and beneficiaries of their life struggles keep in our minds and hearts and maintain with all sincerity and humility the Thanksgiving day which they established.

"With all Europe at war, the American people have peace, because of the isolation and civilization created by our forefathers under the providence of God. Our lines of life and duty have fallen in pleasant places. We are the victims of no man's mad ambition, but are a free and prosperous people. We are friendly with all nations and have the respect of all. Our families are united, our sons and daughters are about us and we are happy in the peaceful pursuits of civil life.

"Now, therefore, I, Samuel M. Ralston, governor of the state of Indiana, in consideration of the many blessings, both national and individual, so deeply impressed upon us all at this special time, and in response to law and to a custom as wise as it is beautiful, do hereby designate and proclaim THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1914, as Thanksgiving day and I earnestly request that all business be suspended as far as possible; that the people assemble in their various places of worship; and that they do in spirit as well as in form have such regard for the day as will do it real honor, and inspire all our hearts to better things and nobler lives in the future.

"In witness whereof, I, Samuel M. Ralston, governor of Indiana, do hereunto set my hand and cause to be affixed the great seal of the state at the capitol in the city of Indianapolis, this 18th day of November, 1914.

(Seal)

"SAMUEL M. RALSTON, governor.

PRICES SEEK LOWER LEVELS

Live-Wire Merchants Pick Up Much Winter Goods at One-Half and One-Third.

In spite of the Dry Goods Economist's claim that the crises in American manufacturing, due to the European war, has passed and that there is now an upward trend in prices, Fort Wayne's shrewd shoppers are today experiencing the novel sensation of buying standard merchandise at one-half and one-third the prices usually paid at this time of the year. This is due to the fact that The Grand Leader, for six weeks past, has been scouring the markets of the east and middle west for large quantities of surplus stocks and buying them in on a cash basis at much less than the usual price.

"People can't realize," said one of the firm's buyers, "the depressing effect of this war upon American manufacturers. The hostile fleets that have been sweeping the seas have put a stop to all our foreign commerce—completely bottling us up—and many American manufacturers in their patriotic endeavors to keep their mills running on full schedules have been piling up surplus stocks of merchandise, hoping against hope that each passing day would see some action taken by the warring nations that would enable them to ship this vast stock abroad. The nation owes a deep debt of gratitude to these patriotic men, who, in unparalleled hard times, have realized their duty to their employes and have kept their mills running on full time in the face of certain losses. But the war still continues with unabated fury and these manufacturers, in need of ready money, have asked the larger merchants of the entire nation to take hold of these surplus stocks and put them before the public in the right manner. When our buyers went east several weeks ago to buy in some of these stocks, they had a list of marvelous opportunities to choose from—merchandise of every description, merchandise whose name has been a household word for more than a generation, and offered at just about what it cost to make. This organization usually buys on a conservative basis, but the rare opportunity presented caused us to ignore that policy and plunge. We bought liberally for this store and the eight other stores of our organization. The special sales we have arranged for the remainder of this week and all during the coming week is for the purpose of disposing of this merchandise to the interest of the American manufacturer and the American consumer—that's why Fort Wayne women can buy winter goods at one-third and one-half the usual prices.

How long this demoralized condition will prevail is hard to say. We still continue to receive sacrifice offers on surplus stocks every day, but I am convinced that the crisis is past. The defining, by the warring nations, of contrabands of war, the destruction of the German cruiser Emden, and the almost complete mastery of the seas by the allied powers will open many of our former foreign markets, while South America—the new market—will consume vast quantities of our products when once we are able to secure ships to place it within her reach. I firmly believe that the bottom has been reached, that the depression due to the war has come to its end and that from now on there will be an upward trend in prices on all lines of merchandise. Shrewd people should make the most of today's opportunities presented by this great underselling store."

Why FIRMSETT GLASSES

Are better than the imitations on the market. The lenses are large, there is no unsightly metal projecting into the field of vision to obstruct or annoy. The lens boxes or gold part that is attached to the glass is copper lined (on which we hold a patent) thereby preventing disintegraion which cannot be prevented in any other manner. When cemented with Firmsett cement, they are there to stay. Call and see them.

This Blunder Has Proved Costly

To Many Builders--and Some Architects

The strongest evidence that we can advance in support of our contention that every Building should be piped for gas during construction can be found in our records, showing that we are sooer or later called upon to furnish gas to occupants of most every building in the city.

We can prove that the builder who for special reasons leaves gas out of his specifications, eventually uses or rents his buildings for a purpose it was not originally built for.

When it is finally necessary to install gas, it means a lot of tearing up of floors and walls, and a loss of time and money to all concerned

For this reason it is clearly a matter of plain economy to have every building piped for gas during process of construction.

We will be pleased to send one of our engineers free of charge to consult with any architect or builder in regard to special requirements, proper appliance or installation problems.

STARE THIS FACT IN THE EYE

IF you could buy a piano as good as a Packard for $350 there would still be many reasons why you should select a Packard. Of course you know that the Packard has a nation-wide reputation among Musicians and lovers of Music, won solely on its merits as a musical instrument.

The Packard is purchased in every state in the union. Those who buy it cannot possibly have your opportunity to learn what a good piano it is before they choose it, because they haven't your chance to learn how it is made, or to know the men that make it.

YOU can learn DEFINITELY what THEY take for GRANTED, any time you care to visit the Packard factory.

SEEMS READY TO TAKE THE RISK

England Professes to Welcome Zeppelin Raid on London.

Manchester, England, Nov. 19.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—Speculation on the possibility of a Zeppelin raid on London, the Manchester Guardian says there is a noticeable feeling of "disappointment" in England over the non-appearance of these airships. While the Zeppelin would not be really welcome, there were those at home so hungering for excitement that as a whole England seemed ready to take the risk.

It was coldly calculated that even if fifty Zeppelins were sent over, their concentrated devastation could not cover more than six acres—or if they dropped all their bombs on the "square mile" that makes up the city of London proper "they could kill something under one in a hundred of the people who happened to be there.

"Over the whole of London, taking the metropolitan police area, the chances of escaping would be about 70,000 to one. Over what may be described as the central area of London, within which a Zeppelin might be expected to operate, the chances of escape would be about 15,000 to one."

"Personally, I think it would be a good job if the Zeppelins did come. Even if they did drop a few bombs, the stimulus to recruiting would be worth what little was done," says Frank Hedges Butler, who is founder of the Royal Aero club.

"Among the most interesting of the war trophies that have found their way over here," says the Manchester Guardian, "are some specimens of the German lance. It is not a wooden pole, but an eleven or twelve-foot steel tube. It is very heavy and at first seems quite unmanageable to a man of ordinary strength. But two-thirds of the way down from the head towards the butt is a wrapping of thick twine to give a grip. And if you hold it there, and there only, you find that it is so evenly poised that, as one admiring observer remarked, you could write your name with it.

"There have been some descriptions of cases where these tubular lances have crumpled up in action like an overburdened steel mast on a racing yacht. Perhaps that may be accounted for by the peculiar shape of the head. There is no point or spear head of any kind. Instead there is a solid piece of iron shaped exactly like the end of a giant poker, square and quite blunt."

Residents of Carney's Point, Me., now receive their mail by trolley. Several of the residents have had built an endless chain which is suspended across the river to a point near their homes. Now the carrier slides the mail bags over the wire and the residents sort the contents.

MANY DISPUTES IN JURISDICTION

Labor Federation Gives Day Over to Their Adjustment.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 19.—Jurisdictional disputes in many trades held the attention today of the delegates to the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor. The committee on adjustment, to whom had been referred most of the troubles regarding jurisdiction, reported on thirty-nine cases. Some were amicably adjusted, in other instances the disputes were referred by the committee to the executive council for final adjustment, and about ten cases were submitted to the delegates to be threshed out on the floor of the convention.

The dispute between the International Typographical union and the bookbinders' organization over control of the mailers employed in the printing business was referred to the executive council for adjustment after much debate.

The convention agreed to give support to the defense of the men who were arrested in Michigan in connection with the copper strike.

NEW FILIBUSTER PLOT IS NIPPED

Laredo, Tex., Nov. 19.—Discovery of an alleged filibustering plot against Nuevo Laredo, Mex., was announced here today. Four Mexicans were arrested here late yesterday and another was arrested in San Antonio. They were said to be former Villa men. They were charged with recruiting on American soil.

The Mexicans were held to await an examination before United States Commissioner Foster here on Monday. Within the last two months there have been several reports of attempts to organize filibustering expeditions here. Definite proof failed to develop, but with the publication of each report the apparent filibustering activity disappeared.

With the completion of the line from Denver to San Francisco there is now a continuous commercial telephone line stretching across the continent from New York to the Pacific coast.

Wanamaker Sends Aid to War Victims

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 19.—Cheering like a school boy, John Wanamaker, former postmaster general and founder of the Wanamaker stores, was at the dock when the "mercy ship" Thelma sailed recently for Belgium to give succor to starving war victims.

The Thelma carried 1,000 tons of supplies—food and clothing and other necessities—collected by the Wanamaker stores.

ALL CHANGING OVER TO VILLA

Carranza's Men Desert Him as Rival Nears Mexican Capital.

Washington, Nov. 19.—Two thousand Carranza troops voluntarily surrendered to Gen. Villa when he took Leon, and other garrisons. All along the line people are changing allegiance to the northern chief, as he marches on toward Mexico City.

American Consular Agent Carothers, with Villa, reported there had been no fighting since the southward movement began and ventured his opinion that there would be no hostilities because the rank and file of the constitutionalist army seemed to favor Villa.

Leon was taken yesterday without the firing of a shot and other reports tell of the occupation of Irapuato and Guanajuato also without resistance.

No report was received here of the alleged interruption by Villa of the telegraph conference between Gen. Gutierrez and Gen. Gonzales, but it was the opinion that Villa had ordered all telegraph communication with the troops south of him to cease so that the enemy would be unable to learn of the oncoming of his forces.

The general expectation in official circles today was that Gen Villa would reach Mexico City without much difficulty, fighting perhaps one battle as his troops clashed with those of Obregon or Gonzales near the capital.

ALL RUSSIA NOW IS ACTUALLY DRY

Czar's Edict Makes Rule of Prohibition Absolute in Empire.

Petrograd, Nov. 19.—There is prohibition in Russia today, prohibition which means that not a drop of vodka, whisky, brandy, gin or any other strong liquor is obtainable from one end to the other of a territory populated by 150,000,000 people and covering one-sixth of the habitable globe.

The story of how strong drink has been utterly banished from the Russian empire was related to the Associated Press by Michael Demitrovitch Tchelisheff, the man directly responsible for putting an end to Russia's great vice, the vodka habit.

It should be said in the beginning that the word prohibition in Russia must be taken literally. Its use does not imply a partly successful attempt to curtail the consumption of liquor—resulting in drinking in secret places, the abuse of medical licenses and general evasion and subterfuge.

It does mean that a vast population that consumed $1,000,000,000 worth of vodka a year, whose ordinary condition has been described by Russians themselves as ranging from a slight degree of stimulation upward, has been lifted almost in a day from a drunken inertia to sobriety. The nation has been compelled, virtually overnight, to abandon its enormous daily consumption of vodka, a liquor that is almost pure alcohol, and become abstemious to the extent of letting no liquor pass its lips.

"Seven Keys to Baldpate" at the Majestic Saturday.

This is one of the last speeches by the leading character in George M. Cohan's new "farce of mystery," called "Seven Keys to Baldpate," which is booked for presentation at the Majestic theater Saturday matinee and night. The character, a writer of "best sellers," is speaking of his latest book.

The same words might be applied to Mr. Cohan's new piece, which is said to be one of the cleverest bits of writing he has ever done, and one which promises to lead all others in popularity. And that is saying a great deal.

As told in the form of farce, "Seven Keys to Baldpate," which Mr. Cohan made from Earl Derr Biggers' story of the same name, is not alone highly entertaining; it is thrilling and by far the most entertaining of his plays of the past half dozen years.

FORT WAYNE'S GREATEST BARGAIN STORE

THEATER'S NAME MAY BE CHANGED

The Messrs. Stouder and Barnett will have to change the name of their new theater now in course of construction, is the belief of local postoffice authorities. There are two Palace theaters in Fort Wayne, one a moving picture house located at Fourth and Wells streets, and the new house now being erected. Of course, if the moving picture house manager agrees to change the name of his theater then the name of Fort Wayne's beautiful new theater can continue to be known as the Palace.

In this instance Shakespeare's saying that "there's nothing in a name," does not hold true. Already there has been much confusion in the delivery of the mail, for it is nearly an every day occurrence that the moving picture theater gets mail intended for the owners of the new theater and vice versa. As a result the postal authorities are going to take a hand in an effort to remedy the situation.

AT THE EMPRESS.

This afternoon marks the opening of the new bill for the last half of the week at the Empress and on this bill appear two unusual foreign acts which are visible in this country because of the European war. They are Mlle. Fleurette in an artistic posing novelty and Ergotti and Lilliputians. Both of these acts were big successes in Europe before the war broke out and came over to this country because of the war. The Lilliputians are physical marvels and they have a snappy, interesting act.

The Three Brownies will present the acme of artistic roller skating for the last half of the week at the Empress. Edmund Hayes and company appear in Mr. Hayes' latest laugh-maker, "The Piano Movers." Armstrong and Ford, those laughable parties, present an act entitled 'The English Johnny and the Cop."

AT THE LYRIC.

The Lyric this afternoon opened a new box full of novelties for the local theater-going world. King and Brown, the acrobatic comedians; Mable Merritt, the saxaphone queen and acrobatic dancer, and T. F. Alexander, the famous monologuist, are on this bill. The box of tricks of course includes for this afternoon and evening another series of adventures in which Our Mutual Girl is involved. "Shep's Race With Death" is another superb picture on this program. In this picture the great canine actor belonging to the Mutual troupe saves an entire family from annihilation in front of an express train. "His Musical Career" is the Keystone comedy feature picture for the day.

THE ORPHEUM.

"HIS UNCLE'S WILL."

Pretty Romance Featuring Winsome Ella Hall and Robert Leonard.

One of the most delightful comedy-dramas conceivable is "His Uncle's Will." Acted by those two talented Universal stars, Robert Leonard and Ella Hall, this dainty romance will give one of the pleasantest hours imaginable. It tells a story of youth and love; of how the affection of two young lovers was almost thwarted by the dictates of a certain clause in the will of the boy's uncle, which said that he must marry a girl whom he had never seen or lose the inheritance. He accepts the latter course, and after he has eloped with his sweetheart, after taking her from the school where she is confined, he returns proudly home, only to find that his bride is the supposedly unknown girl mentioned in the will.

The other number of this excellent program will introduce another of the inimitable Sterling comedies, under the caption, "Noodles' Return." The orchestra will contribute two very popular late successes, the "Invincible Eagle" march, and the much syncopated "Ragtime Everywhere." Miss Lyons will be heard in Cadman's wonderfully beautiful love song, "At Dawning."

AT THE JEFFERSON.

A SENSATIONAL HIT.

One of the most notable successes ever registered at this popular playhouse was noted yesterday in the appearance of Lydia Borelli, the celebrated Italian actress, in the filminized version of Henry Bataille's sensational story of Parisian life and love, "The Naked Truth." As Lolette, the artist's model, in this unique play, Miss Borelli treated us to some acting the like of which we have not seen for many a day. Her art is distinctified by a certain charm that establishes her firmly in the estimation before she has been on the screen for a minute. She is an adherent of the Bernhardt school of expression, and many little peculiarities of her art were reminiscent of that distinguished artiste.

Setting in the photo-play are on the elaborate scale, the majority of the outdoor scenes revealing backgrounds of surpassing beauty. It is without a doubt one of the most surprising and distinct film-plays we have seen this season. Today and tonight marks the last appearances.

NEW FEATURE OF PARROT STUDIO

Miss Mary West, who for ten years has been identified with some of the best art stores in the country, and for the past three years has been in Winnipeg, Canada, has come to Fort Wayne to take charge of similar work in connection with the Parrot studios. Miss West is familiar with high class work in watercolors, oils and reproductions in mezzo-tints and photogravures and talks well about things of the kind. When Mr. Parrot moves into his new quarters in West Berry street Miss West will have an opening and will show many beautiful things in the art line. Miss West is a Virginian by birth and is personally quite charming to meet.

HARRISON STREET BRIDGE CONTRACT

Carmichael & Cryder Given Award and Will Build It for $70,474.

At figures practically $10,000 under the $80,000 appropriation made by the Allen county council for that purpose County Commissioners James D. Butt, William C. Schwier and Albert J. Black on Thursday afternoon awarded to the Carmichael & Cryder Construction company, of St. Louis, the contract for building the Harrison street bridge over the St. Mary's river. The successful firm's bid, made in competition with half a score of other bidders, is $70,474 for the work complete and the bridge will be constructed upon the "county plans" prepared by Engineer Asa W. Grosvenor, of Fort Wayne.

The Carmichael Cryder company will furnish a bond at once for the performance of the work and operations will begin this winter if the weather does not become too severe to permit excavations to be made.

Will Open Long Thoroughfare.

The Harrison street bridge will realize the long-held dreams of the people of Fort Wayne and especially those residing on the northside, for it will join the now separated parts of the only thoroughfare that will pass entirely through the city from north to south. The fact that the Harrison street subway under the Pennsylvania and Wabash railroads is completed and that Harrison street is the outlet from the city's center of the Lincoln highway to the north and west gives added importance to the construction of the new bridge.

The bids for the work ranged from $70,474 to $89,950. Four of the bids immediately following the successful proposal in order of amount were very close together and all of the contractors who submitted proposals fr the wrk were hungry to land the contract.

The Bids Submitted.

The bids submitted for construction of the bridge were as follows:

On the "county plans" by Engineer A. A. Grosvenor, of Fort Wayne—Dravo Construction company, Pittsburg, Pa., $89,950; O'Lake & Hagan, Chicago, $84,766.50; A. J. Yawger & Company, Indianapolis, $79,440; Cleary White Construction company, Chicago, $79,341; Indiana Engineering & Construction Company, Fort Wayne, $74,989; Hickey Brothers, St. Louis, $74,947.50; J. W. Turner Improvement Company, Des Moines, Iowa, $73,260; H. J. Collier Company, Cleveland, Ohio, $72,874.58; Carmichael Investment & Engineering Company, St. Louis, Mo., $70,474.

On the plans by Daniel B. Luten, Indianapolis—National Concrete Company, Indianapolis, $73,208.

On the plans by Adams & Cummins, Detroit, Mich.—Hanneman Brothers, Detroit, $79,900.

On plan A by George Jaap, Fort Wayne—Cleary White Construction Company, Chicago, $79,800.

The Barker Construction company, of New Castle, Ind., submitted a bid to build the bridge according to any plans and specifications chosen by the commissioners on a basis of 15 per cent. commission on the actual cost of construction. This proposal was not considered. The Barker company built the Leo bridge and has done other work in the county.

Lively Interest and Big Crowd.

The office of the board of commissioners was crowded when at 10 o'clock Messrs. Butt, Schwier and Black entered upon the work of opening the bids. Besides the representatives of the concerns submitting proposals, there were many of the county officials, Messrs. Singrey, Kelly and Hilkeman, of the city board of works, City Engineer Frank M. Randall and a big delegation of citizens. The work of opening and tabulating the twelve bids did not require much time and the commissioners announced at its completion that the proposals would be taken under advisement until 1 o'clock, when the award would be announced.

Will Be County's Finest Bridge.

The bridge that is to be built over the St. Mary's river at Harrison street will be Allen county's largest and finest structure of the sort. It is to be of reinforced concrete construction, of stately and beautiful but severe design. It will consist of one span of 136 feet and four smaller spans of fifty feet each. The great arch will span the normal bed of the St. Mary's, while the four smaller arches will carry the bridge over the low ground between the bank of the stream and the embankment on the north. Every provision has been made to afford room for flood flows and the five arches all are carried from two to five feet above the maximum flood stage of March, 1913, which is the highest water of which there is any record here. The bridge will have a brick paved roadway thirty-two feet wide between curbs and will be flanked on either side by a seven-foot walk.

The Carmichael Cryder company is a firm of good repute and has done much big work. It constructed the concrete work of the Harrison street subway bridge for the Wabash railroad and is now at work on the Taylor street subways. The concern is thoroughly equipped for the work and has a well organized force. A representative of the company stated to the commissioners in explaining the low bid that the company could afford to make its proposal away down in order to keep its organization intact. All material can be delivered on the Lake Shore track at the north approach to the work and handled by power carrier. The Carmichael Cryder company is owner of fine gravel pits at Eaton, Ind.

CHUM PUTS BLAME ALL ON REYNOLDS

Connersville, Ind., Nov. 19.—Phillip Braun, jr., son of the mayor of this city and popular in the younger set, was the principal witness today in the trial of Ivy Reynolds, accused of killing his wife by poison on February 16 last. Braun has been frequently mentioned in the case as the man to whom Dora Gerber, of Morencie, Mich., who was married to Reynolds eleven days after the death of the first Mrs. Reynolds, addressed her letters intended for Reynolds.

Braun testified that the defendant asked permission a year ago to use Braun's postoffice box for letters from girls in Michigan. Braun said he accidentally opened one of the Reynolds letters which was from Dora Gerber and which began, "My Dear Husband."

The witness swore that he had had practically no correspondence with either Miss Gerber or Miss Marie Huston, also of Morencie, who testified yesterday. He also stated that Reynolds arranged the trip to Toledo, Ohio, where they were to meet the two girls, but Braun did not go, Reynolds keeping the appointment, as testified yesterday by Miss Huston.

More correspondence of Reynolds was introduced which the defendant wrote from the jail to Braun, was read to court. The letter purported to be an outline of what testimony Reynolds wished Braun to give at the trial. The letter contained the propositions that Braun, not Reynolds, carried on the correspondence with the Michigan girls; that Braun not Reynolds was in love with Dora Gerber, but that Reynolds, in desperation after the death of his wife, stole the affections of Miss Gerber and married her, not for love, but in order to maintain his home. Braun branded these propositions as false.

HASTY CHANGE MADE IN PLANS

Opening of Gotham Stock Exchange for Bonds Deferred.

New York, Nov. 19.—The officials of the stock exchange announced this afternoon that because of unforeseen difficulties the plan to reopen the exchange for dealings in bonds has been indefinitely postponed. Earlier in the day it was officially stated that trading in this class of securities would be resumed on Saturday subject to minimum prices.

Soon after this announcement was made officials of the exchange received inquiries from various parts of the country, some of which stated that the proposed opening did not allow sufficient time for bond dealers to make adequate arrangements.

It was also intimated that pressure had been brought upon the exchange by prominent banking interests which are said to have declared that domestic and financial conditions were not yet sufficiently stable to permit such opeeration with safety. It was learned also that soon after the announcement of the proposed reopening on Saturday large blocks of bonds were offered in the unlisted market at prices several points below par, indicating that a return to normal trading might be attended by considerable liquidation. These and other factors, when brought to the attention of governors of the stock exchange, resulted in a hasty cancellation of the plans previously announced.

THREE DIE IN EXPLOSION.

Employes of Nitroglycerine Plant Horribly Mangled.

Robinson, Ill., Nov. 19.—An explosion in the Dupont nitroglycerine plant near here this morning resulted in the death of three men. They were the only men in the plant at the time. The men's names were given as J. F. Stevenson, John Weber and Fred Herkle. Weber was blown to atoms. Stevenson's arms and legs were torn off and Herkle was decapitated. All had families.

An engine in the power plant of the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company broke down this morning, and as a result the street cars ceased to run.

OPEN HARRISON STREET SUBWAY

Way Under South Tracks is Now Free for Public Traffic.

It has been a long, tiresome and vexing wait, but it is at an end. The Harrison street subway is now open to public traffic and that thoroughfare is now in commission unbrokenly from the St. Mary's river to the south rim of the city. Thursday afternoon, after making an inspection of the brick pavement in the driveway under the Wabash tracks, the part completed a few days ago, the board of works and city engineer decided the work was in condition to bear heavy traffic and the barricades were ordered thrown down. The excavation for the subway was begun in July, 1913. The Pennsylvania railroad completed its bridge work a year ago, but the tardiness of the Wabash has delayed opening of the subway until this time. The opening will greatly relieve the traffic congestion on Calhoun street.

STRONG FOR PUBLIC OWNERSHIP.

Secretary Wessel, of City Light and Power Works, Is Back.

John Wessel, Jr., secretary and general manager of the city light and power works of Fort Wayne, has returned from Philadelphia, where last week he attended the convention of mayors and other municipal officers that assembled to discuss means to improve the position of cities in their relations to public utility corporations. Mayor W. J. Hosey and Secretary Wessel were the representatives from Fort Wayne. Secretary Wessel says the convention was of intense interest and that its effects are likely to be far-reaching and permanent and perhaps revolutionary in public policy with reference to public utilities of every sort.

"The convention finally wound up in a blaze of enthusiasm for municipal ownership of utilities," said Secretary Wessel to the Sentinel. "It was not called for the special purpose of forwarding any such sentiment and it was not unanimously so; but the sentiment for public ownership grew as the discussions proceeded and as the delegates mingled with each other and exchanged views. You can say that what Fort Wayne has accomplished during the brief six years of municipal ownership and operation of the lighting plant has attracted attention all over the country and the officials and others at the convention wanted to know more about it. That convention is going to make history. It started something and there will be a new deal in the municipal relation to public utilities."

DAIRY INSPECTION CONTINUES.

City Health Department Guarding Against Cattle Scourge.

Chief Inspector E. A. Schott, of the meat and dairy division of the city health department, and Deputies Josse, Brown and Leeuw, on Thursday continued their work of inspecting the distributing and producing dairies in Allen county west of Fort Wayne to the Whitley county line as a precaution against the foot and mouth disease. Wednesday the dairy farms on the Leesburg and Illinois roads were inspected from the county boundary to Fort Wayne and no trace of the disease was found in any case. The inspection corps is working along other main highways Thursday. This is a precautionary measure and has to do only with protection of Fort Wayne's milk supply. Incidentally the inspectors will gain a deal of valuable information respecting dairy conditions in the western part of the county.

Boerger, took office of city clerk early last January.

City Forester Carl J. Getz stated Thursday that when his force completes its campaign of tree-planting, which is still in progress, the record for this season would surpass any other year in the number of shade trees planted in Fort Wayne. More than one thousand trees will have been placed in the ground during the present year.

FILING DIVORCE SUITS HER HABIT

So Says John Garrod in His Cross-Complaint to One Just Filed.

Filing divorce suits against him is a habit with Mrs. Barbara C. Harrod, according to a general denial and cross complaint just entered in the superior court by John C. Harrod. Mrs. Harrod began action for divorce not long since and the husband now comes forward with his own tale of woe. He says that his wife has treated him in a cruel and inhuman manner by calling him vile and abusive names without cause or provocation, has several times refused to live with him and on numerous occasions has filed against him complaints for divorce, but before trying them would have such suits dismissed, much to his embarrassment and humiliation. He charges that she is always nagging at him and finding fault and that they are thoroughly incompatible and it is impossible longer to live with her. They have no children.

Notes of the Courts.

Louis Burlage has made sworn representations to the superior court that he is no longer able to pay the sum of $15 monthly to the support of his divorced wife, as ordered by the court, and he asks a modification of the order. He says his working time has been cut from twelve to eight hours a day.

In the circuit court judgment for $500 has been given the plaintiff in the suit of Noah Wallace vs. the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company. The suit was for $5,000 damages for injuries.

In the superior court John W. White has instituted action against Leon Stapleford to quiet title to real estate.

Hon. John W. Eggeman, judge of the circuit court, is sitting as special judge in the superior court to try the case of James S. Peddicord vs. James F. Conway. The suit involves a real estate transaction.

BEST ROADS IN STATE.

In an informal intercourse with County Commissioners James D. Butt, William C. Schwier and Albert J. Black, Wednesday, Luke W. Duffey, secretary of the Indiana road commission, declared Allen county had the best system of roads of any county in Indiana. This declaration followed a trip over many miles of Allen county highways Wednesday, when the commissioners took Secretary Duffey, Assistant Secretary Charles Carter and James Voshell, the road expert of the federal government, out on a tour of inspection of the improved roads of this county. Mr. Duffey said that for a long time Wayne county, Michigan, had been the last word in modern highway construction and that it had been the Mecca of all investigators. "It is no longer necessary to go to Wayne county to see the best examples of modern road building," said Mr. Duffey. "Allen county, Indiana, has as good roads and I shall tell all who make inquiry of me that they can come here to see the best." The commissioners are much gratified by this praise and Commissioner Schwier says that the Allen county board will take pleasure in showing the modern roads here to any who come here to see them and will explain them to all inquirers.

SINKS IN COLLISION.

Steamer Mildred Goes Down Five Miles Off Tampa Harbor Entrance.

Tampa, Fla., Nov. 19.—The steamer Mildred, plying between Tampa and Fort Myers, was sunk in collision with the schooner Brazos early today off Egmont Key, five miles southwest of the Tampa harbor entrance. The Mildred's passengers and crew, fifteen in all, were rescued. The Brazos is reported to have been badly damaged.

When the Mildred settled on the bottom her topmost deck was just above water. The passengers and crew remained there for five hours until taken off by a pilot boat.

This statement was made by Dr. Henry S. Pritchett, president of the foundation, at the ninth annual meeting of the board of trustees of that body yesterday.

Over 2,400 garments, the number including a few blankets of cotton and a very small number of sheets and pillowcases have been sent to the Needlework guild and are now on exhibit in the assembly room of the court house. The demand for aid is greater than ever this winter and the call for children's shoes is so much ahead of the supply that the guild officers are at their wits' ends to know what to do. The annual business meeting of the guild will be held tomorrow afternoon in the same place.

the pilot of the engine and carried six hundred feet west of the crossing, and the enginemen removed the body of the husband as soon as they were able to bring the heavy train to a standstill.

Thrown from the Pilot.

Mrs. Leslie's body was thrown from the pilot ten feet east of where the train was stopped. Both were badly mangled and indicated that death was instantaneous.

The bodies of Dr. and Mrs. DeHayes were carried twenty-five feet and were thrown with the top of the automobile against a switch stand and were found there. Dr. DeHayes had his head torn almost off and his body was broken and bruised until it bore little resemblance to a human body.

Romance in Sad Affair.

There was a tinge of romance in the sad affair that was particularly touching. Dr. DeHayes and his wife became estranged about fourteen years ago and up to within a few months ago he had been living in the south and had spent the greater portion of his time teaching school in Mississippi.

Through the efforts of the daughter who went to her death with them a reconciliation had been effected and the couple had practically started on a second honeymoon when they were hurled to a most horrible death.

Parts of the automobile were strewn along the track for six hundred feet and the engine, radiator, one of the wheels, the axles and part of the body reduced to a mass were found when the train was finally stopped.

Balky Automobile Plays Part.

A balky automobile played a big part in the tragedy, which had practically suspended business here during the day and which was discussed in all its awful details on the street corners and in the homes.

Both Dr. Leslie and his beautiful young wife were immensely popular in social and religious circles here and their sudden and horrifying death spread a pall of mourning over the community.

When he went early this morning to get his automobile to drive his wife's parents to Van Wert to catch a train for Cincinnati from where they expected to continue their journey south he found something wrong with it and after a number of attempts to crank it he abandoned it and borrowed one from C. M. Smith, an undertaker, in whose parlors the bodies lay after they had been removed from the scene of the accident.

Top Up and Curtains Down.

The top was up and the curtains down and the delay occasioned by the refusal of Dr. Leslie's automobile to work probably caused him to risk driving across the tracks ahead of the fast train, although he knew very well the time it was due.

He approached from the south and there was nothing to obstruct his view and he most probably could have seen the glare of the headlight as the heavy train came bearing down upon him. Unless it was that the noise of his own engine, the fact that the curtains prevented him from seeing the approaching train or whether he thought that it was not near enough to strike him before he could clear the tracks the people are at a loss to account for the awful tragedy.

Nobody Saw the Accident.

There were no witnesses to the accident. The only person near the scene at the time was J. B. Reynolds, agent here for the Pennsylvania company. He was in the ticket office engaged in his work and heard the train go thundering by and paid no more attention, as he heard nothing of the impact and did not know that the four persons had been killed until the trainmen returned to the depot.

Coroner C. D. Sidle was called and viewed the remains after which those of Dr. Leslie and his wife were removed to the Smith undertaking parlors and those of the others to the establishment conducted by B. F. Hoblet.

Examinations revealed the most extensive injuries and each of the four unfortunates received several wounds that would independently of the others have caused death. The train was running exactly on its time and a high rate of speed. The general speed through the town is from forty-five to fifty miles an hour.

Dr. G. M. Leslie Arrives.

Dr. Gaylord M. Leslie, of Fort Wayne, one of the brothers of Dr. Durban Leslie, arrived here early in the forenoon and assisted in the preparations for caring for the bodies.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie had no children and had just moved into a flat above their drug store building, recently erected. That the family had eaten a hasty breakfast in preparation for the trip was evidenced by the manner in which they left the house.

Aside from Dr. Gaylord Leslie, the mayor is survived by his parents, Dr. B. F. Leslie, F. W. Leslie, bank cashier at Van Wert, O.; H. B. Leslie, a farmer residing here; E. M. Leslie, cashier in the local bank; Mrs. W. B. Allen, a sister, and [illegible] of the train crew returned to the depot and gave notice of the accident and after it had been arranged to care for the bodies he left.

The train, which is due at Convoy at 7:45, passed that point at the usual speed on time. Lacey said he saw the automobile coming down from the north and gave the usual warning, but failed to attract notice from the occupants and Mr. Lacey says that he does not believe they saw the train at all. He was unable to stop and the engine struck the automobile about the center with terrific force. The pilot was driven backwards, under the pilot beam, all of the slats being broken, and the end of the coupler bore marks of having struck the automobile also. Engineer Lacey stopped the train and ran it back to the scene, but there was nothing he could do for the unfortunate people and he brought the train on to the city.

Mingled with the sandwiches, pieces of cake, pickles, etc., which comprised a lunch for Dr. and Mrs. DeHayes, found on the pilot beam were human brains and pieces of flesh, making the place where some of the victims struck the front of the locomotive.

May Have Seen Train.

One theory has been advanced that Leslie, who was driving the car, saw the approaching train, but did not realize that it was so close. As a result he speeded up his car in an effort to get across. The automobile was caught square in the middle and the occupants were hurled in every direction.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie had only been married about a year. They were exceedingly happy and devoted to each other. No newly married couple ever had a more encouraging outlook for the future. The Leslie family is one of the oldest in northwestern Ohio. The elder Leslie has been in the drug business in Convoy for years.

GOVERNMENT ISSUES WARNING.

Cattle Men Should Look Out for Fraudulent Agents.

Washington, Nov. 19.—Warning to cattle men to beware of men posing as representatives of the federal government in its fight against foot and mouth disease went out today from the department of agriculture. Reports to the department says persons who claim to represent the government are appearing in infected states with so-called cures. Officials say there is no specific cure for the disease and that the only way to prevent its spread is to keep well herds from contact with infected ones. The warning cautions farmers to make sure that men claiming to represent the department are actually federal inspectors.

Reliable and Crisp News Always

ZUPPKE WAS TOO SMALL TO PLAY FOOT BALL BUT HE KNEW THE GAME AND BECAME A GREAT COACH.

"LITTLE BOB" ZUPPKE AND A FEW OF HIS ILLINOIS CHAMPIONS—CAPT. CHAPMAN, GUARD, AND POGUE AND MACOMBER, HALF-BACKS.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton).

This is a story of a boy who was kicked out because he was too small to play the game, and, by proving that, even in football, brains beat brawn, became the Napoleon of the gridiron. It is the story of Bob Zuppke, coach of the victorious University of Illinois team, which stands now in the limelight as the most remarkable team of the year.

Bob Zuppke was small. When he was a kid the big boys bumped him around, ran over him and scolded him, telling him to run along with the kids so he wouldn't get hurt. And, when they bumped him extraordinary hard, he blinked back the tears and dived at the legs of fellows who weighed twice as much as he did and brought them to earth.

When he went to the University of Wisconsin he was among the first to respond to the call for volunteers for the 'varsity team.

But he was too small. However, in colleges like Wisconsin they have men who weigh the spirit and the brain along with the flesh. They realized that Zuppke's spirit outweighed his body. Still there were the traditions of Pat O'Dea and other great gridiron warriors to uphold, and what could a bantamweight do?

As a reward for his loyalty and his courage Zuppke was permitted to play on the scrubs. You who never have played on the scrub perhaps do not know what it means. The scrub is the punching bag of the 'varsity team; the sparring partner who must take all blows and strike only as he is directed.

In his senior year Wisconsin realized that it had overlooked a gem because it was only half a carat and that it was flawless, while the four carat stones were flecked and some yellow. So Zuppke was permitted to help by advising and he came away from the Badgers with never a "W" to show for his football work, but a record that many would envy.

All this time Zuppke thought he knew football. When he left school he had a chance to prove it. He went to Muskegon as a high school instructor and gave his team the Michigan championship. Oak Park high school, near Chicago, needed a coach and Zuppke was obtained. What he did with that high school team amazed the followers of football. He developed more great football players in three years than any coach in America ever turned out.

He turned out Macomber, now of Illinois; he developed Ghee, the most sensational quarter now in the east, who has been leading Dartmouth's amazing attack; he turned out Pete Russell, hero of the University of Chicago this season. He had Goellitz and half a dozen others who have gone from Oak Park high to make glad the hearts of the coaches of great universities. Oak Park high this season is represented on seven of the teams of great universities. A diploma from Oak park high under Zuppke entitled a freshman in any big university to almost human consideration. He took Oak park from New England to the Pacific coast and defeated the best "prep" teams in the country.

His success at Oak park attracted the attention of the University of Illinois athletic authorities. Illinois has been as unfortunate in football as it has been fortunate in baseball. It has more and better football material than almost any school in the west and yet has been a consistent loser.

Last year Zuppke took the team and developed it into a formidable eleven, although the material was not of the best for Illinois. It looked good, but lacked experience. This year Zuppke, with a veteran squad to depend upon as a foundation, commenced to work out his theories. His success has wrecked a lot of football traditions and, in fact, is the biggest triumph western football ever has known.

His football is all western. Williams, at Minnesota, is Yale. His tactics are Yale. Stagg, while his football is all Stagg's, is claimed by Yale as their own, although he has not seen Yale's football tactics for years. Zuppke is of the west western.

JACKSON OUT TO GET THE INDIAN

If the Jackson independent football team, booked to play the Friars at league park on Sunday afternoon, had no other incentive to win it would put its strongest lineup in the field just to defeat the locals because Louis Island is in the roster.

Ever notice how hard any sort of an athletic combination will play against an old teammate? The rule holds good in all lines of athletic endeavor. Just let a baseball pitcher switch from one club to another in the same league and watch his old pards go after him.

They had rather hang up a victory against a former member of their ranks than against an entire stranger and this feeling will urge Jackson to do its best in this particular encounter.

One of the chief reasons for securing the services of the little Indian quarterback for the Friar outfit was the showing he made against the squad here, and naturally the fellows who played with him are just a bit sore about it.

From a Jackson standpoint it looks like this. In seeking players the athletic board naturally endeavored to take from the other clubs the stars of its lineup. Now the independents are imbued with the idea that they can show the Friars that they did not pick the star or weaken the opposition by taking away this player and they will try to do it.

The Fort Wayne view of the situation is widely different. There is loyalty in the ranks and the players want to show that the Indian in changing base hooked up with a better organization than the one he left and his interests wil be at stake in the event.

Just what kind of football the Jackson club will play is a problem that will be solved only after the two clubs have clashed and staged the regulation gridiron encounter. Island says the club is stronger than it was when it played here and he ought to know as he worked out with the squad before he came to Fort Wayne.

Chris Chambers' bad ankle has mended so that he will be able to get back in the game and Ross has recovered from his injuries which insures that the team will enter the conflict with its regulars on the field.

The coaches are taking no chances. They do not know the playing strength of the opposition and for that reason have the men in as good condition as they have been for any of the high class clubs that have been seen in Fort Wayne.

CONCORDIA TEAM KEYED FOR GAME

With a record of two defeats in its meetings last season with the Zanesville club, Concordia college is all keyed up for the battle on Friday night when the season will be officially opened at the college gymnasium and an effort made to wipe out at least one of the setbacks administered by big Vaughn Crowe and his supporters.

Capt. G. A. Byroade has had his men working hard for two weeks and as he has some knowledge of the Zanesville plans of attack and defense he believes that he has his squad in shape to give a good account of itself in the first skirmish.

Concordia will have the same men to deal with that formed the Zanesville club of last season. Aside from big Crowe at center Jacobs and Kepplinger will play at forward and Walters and Hoppingarner will be back in the trenches to stave off the attack of the college flying squadron.

Last season the Zanesville team was the best drawing card that visited Fort Wayne. The club played such good basketball that it excited the enmity of the entire basketball population of the city and patrons rooted harder against this crowd than any that appeared on a local court. For this reason it is expected that a big crowd will attend.

The college gym in which the game will be played has been greatly improved during the summer months and now has one of the best basketball courts in the state. Steam heat has been put in and the seating capacity almost doubled. Although no seats will be reserved, ushers will be present at all games in order to avoid any confusion in handling the crowds. In the preliminary game the Concordia seconds will play the Zanesville second team.

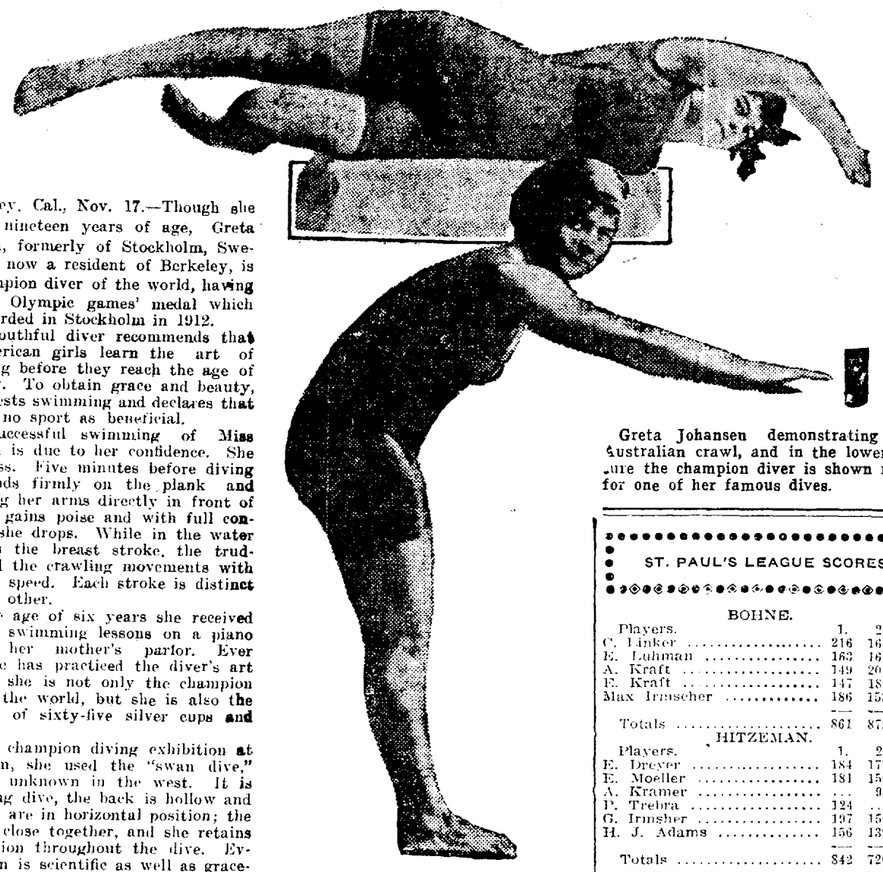
OLYMPIC GAME CHAMPION HAS BEEN WATER EXPERT SINCE SHE WAS SIX YEARS OLD.



Greta Johansen demonstrating the Australian crawl, and in the lower picture the champion diver is shown ready for one of her famous dives.

Berkeley, Cal., Nov. 17.—Though she is only nineteen years of age, Greta Johansen, formerly of Stockholm, Sweden, and now a resident of Berkeley, is the champion diver of the world, having won the Olympic games' medal which was awarded in Stockholm in 1912.

The youthful diver recommends that the American girls learn the art of swimming before they reach the age of maturity. To obtain grace and beauty, she suggests swimming and declares that there is no sport as beneficial.

The successful swimming of Miss Johansen is due to her confidence. She is fearless. Five minutes before diving she stands firmly on the plank and stretching her arms directly in front of her, she gains poise and with full confidence, she drops. While in the water she uses the breast stroke, the trudgeon and the crawling movements with ease and speed. Each stroke is distinct from the other.

At the age of six years she received her first swimming lessons on a piano stool in her mother's parlor. Ever since, she has practiced the diver's art and now she is not only the champion diver of the world, but she is also the possessor of sixty-five silver cups and medals.

In her champion diving exhibition at Stockholm, she used the "swan dive," which is unknown in the west. It is a standing dive, the back is hollow and the arms are in horizontal position; the feet are close together, and she retains her position throughout the dive. Every action is scientific as well as graceful.

JOHNNIE POE IS ARMY CANNONEER

New York, Nov. 19.—Johnnie Poe again has gone to war. Princeton's famous halfback, wit and fighting man extraordinary, is a cannoneer in the British army.

Of all Princeton's picturesque characters Johnnie Poe is one of the most interesting. When he was in college, now nearly twenty years ago, he was a halfback of unusual talents. A runner through the line so low that he passed beneath the hips of his opponents, a tackler so hard and fierce that his name itself was a terror, his greatest asset, nevertheless, was his tremendous spirit. The higher the score mounted against Princeton the harder Johnnie fought, with the result that on most occasions his comrades imbibed his astounding aggressiveness and usually overtook their adversaries.

And Johnnie comes from good stock. The poet, Edgar Allan Poe, was his great-uncle. His father, John Poe, was the late attorney general of Maryland, and his brother, Edgar Allan Poe, familiar to all Princeton men as "Pete," was a champion football captain. All of the other famous Princeton Poes are his brothers, and each of them, almost single handed has in his time licked either Harvard or Yale on the gridiron.

But Johnnie is the real fighting man. He has warred in Cuba; he has soldiered in the Philippines; he has fought in Mexico, and no revolution in Central America ever has been complete until Johnnie Poe joined one army or another. He has lived through enough hair raising situations to make a bundle of the best selling short stories ever written.

Poe has been sentenced to be shot at daybreak, and bluffed his captors out of it. He has been put upon the broad Atlantic to perish in an open boat, and has been picked up by a warship.

When Poe was found in a more or less exhausted condition by the man-o'-war the captain called out:

"We can't bother with your baggage."

There was a little splash, and as Poe was pulled over the side the captain said:

"What did you throw overboard?"

"My baggage," replied Johnnie. I only had a toothbrush."

When at peace Poe is a miner out west. His life on the plains has made him a dead shot with rifle or revolver and his war experience has made him equally adept with a cannon or machine gun.

Not long after the war in Europe broke out Johnnie started for the front and joined the English colors. He was consigned to the light artillery, sent into camp at Woolwich, and now probably is on the fighting line in France or Belgium.

NATIONALS IN THE FIELD.

The National basketball team has organized for the coming season. H. J. Adams will again captain the team, which will line up as follows: Hoffman and Stegner, forwards; Walda, center; Adams and Linnemeier, guards, and Luhman, sub.

The players have been practicing for the past few weeks and will open their season on next Wednesday evening when they play the Turner Juniors at St. Paul's hall. No admission will be charged and a large turnout is expected.

The Nationals desire games with the better class of secondary teams in this section. Phone Manager A. J. Rose, No. 2716.

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for Croup.

Croup scares you. The loud hoarse croupy cough, choking and gasping for breath, labored breathing, call for immediate relief. The very first doses of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound will master the croup. It cuts the thick mucus, clears away the phlegm and opens up and eases the air passages. Harold Berg, Mass, Mich., writes: "We give Foley's Honey and Tar to our children for croup and it always acts quickly." Every user is a friend.—Dreier Drug Co.—Adv.

COL. GOETHALS IN GREAT HURRY

Panama, Nov. 12.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—A hurry-up order has been issued by Governor Goethals for the completion of the canal. The time limit set by congress is July, 1916, and Colonel Goethals is determined that the last of the finishing touches in every department from dredging to landscape gardening shall be completed ahead rather than behind time. Col. Goethals himself is setting a pace, and may be seen often at work in the administration building at Balboa late at night.

Men and machines now on the isthmus are said to be working harder than at any time since the great work was started ten years ago.

Every morning Col. Goethals appears at some part of the work where he has not been for several days previously, to hurry things along. There is the case of the steam shovels delving into the side of Sosa hill for the rock that goes to form the east breakwater in front of Colon harbor. On each one is a huge placard which shows the number of cars loaded as the work progresses. For every job a mark has been set to be surpassed if possible. On Sosa hill the man who has charge of loading the cars that take the rock fifty miles across the isthmus to the new breakwater, is working against the man in charge of transporting those same cars those fifty miles while the man who unloads them out near the end of the two-mile trestle is rushing things so that he will always be just a little ahead of the other two. At present there are 200 to 250 cars of rock sent him every working day.

Out in Culebra cut, where a large slide recently choked the channel for a few days and canal traffic came to a standstill with a large number of ships seeking passage through, dredging ceases only during the eight daylight hours when the canal is used for navigation purposes. The other sixteen hours are devoted to the fastest dredging the canal has ever seen. The men work in two shifts and as they eat and sleep on the dredges no time is wasted. Their work in handling the recent slide and reopening the canal to traffic within five days won for them high commendation from Col. Goethals.

NEW PERIODICAL APPEARS.

"Biz" is the name of a new weekly publication that has just made its salutatory to the Fort Wayne public. Clarence F. Cook, one of the best known newspaper men in Fort Wayne, is its publisher and editor and if the inaugural issue has set the pace for subsequent appearances it is going to be one of the bright and interesting incidents of journalism in this city. "Biz" describes itself as a "weekly class paper devoted to business," and swings out its banner announcing that it is "for greater Fort Wayne and the city beautiful." The initial number consists of twelve pages of four fifteen-inch columns, is printed on book paper of quality and its mechanical get-up is artistic. It presents an almost amazing variety of matter bearing upon business in Fort Wayne, all of it interesting and of value. In his inaugural word Editor Cook plainly announces that "Biz" is not a newspaper," but is a "class journal that has a good field of its own where browsing is good and promises not to break over the fence and get into anybody else's pasture." Clarence F. Cook is a veteran newspaper man. For a good many years he was city editor of The Sentinel and since retiring from that position he has made two trips to the gold fields at Klondike and other points in Alaska, has held the position of advertising manager on the Journal-Gazette and the Daily News and has managed independent business enterprises. He has the experience and the ability essential to the highly successful publication of such a medium as he has launched. Fort Wayne has had no publication devoted to the field that "Biz" occupies for the decade and more that has elapsed since the old "Business Guide" suspended publication.

Cured His RUPTURE

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 92 A, Marcellus avenue, Manasquan, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation. nov 12-26 dec 10-24

OSSIAN NEWS.

Ossian, Ind., Nov. 19.—Mrs. E. H. Roe entertained for Tuesday dinner Mrs. Fred Plessinger and Mrs. Frank Shoemaker, of Bluffton, also Mrs. Sarah Foughty, of Ossian.

Mrs. A. A. Melching spent Wednesday in Bluffton visiting with Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Dustman.

Mrs. Walter Timbrook received a card yesterday from Mrs. Bruce Barr, of Tulsa, Okla., announcing the arrival on Nov. 10th of a little daughter in their home, which they call Catharine. Mrs. Barr will be remembered in Ossian as Miss Beatrice Bell, who lived here many years.

William Rodda has purchased the Fred Vananda property for a consideration of 1,100. Mr. Vananda will continue to live in the house until he has erected a new home on his lot on Lefever street.

Mrs. Dora Hoover and her daughter, Mrs. John Hanna, will join Mrs. Ed Dalley, of Bluffton, and her guest, Mrs. Mary Fulton, of Kansas City, Mo., and they will all spend the day Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Sturgis, of Montpelier, the former a nephew of Mrs. Hoover.

The M. E. ladies, who are giving the November birthday social in the K. of P. hall Friday evening, have arranged the following very unique program, with music to be furnished by the M. E. orchestra during the evening: Opening song; talk from headquarters; Preacher's Boy; Barnyard Song; Reading from the Country; Song by the Triplets; a curtain lecture by Aunt Samantha. These numbers are to be given by the ladies and the audience to guess who they are. Refreshments and a social time will follow.

Mrs. Albert Numbers visited Tuesday in Fort Wayne.

Glen Fisher, son of Emmett Fisher, had the first finger of his right hand badly mangled while shredding corn for Will Goshorn the first of the week. Fisher was brushing grains of corn off the machine when his glove caught and pulled his hand into the gearing of the shredder, thus causing the accident. Dr. E. W. Dyar was called and is trying to save the finger.

Mrs. Mary Wilson moved Monday into the property owned by the Chloe Caston heirs.

A very delightful surprise party was given by the Pleasant Word circle for Mrs. Oscar Way, who is moving soon to Tocsin. The ladies met at the home of Mrs. Maude Swihart and went together to the Way home. While the ladies were busy in the kitchen making taffy the husbands planned to surprise them and all went with Mr. Way to his home, taking an abundant supply of popcorn. So a jolly evening was had by all and the people left at a late hour wishing Mr. and Mrs. Way much success in their new home. Mr. Way has been Jefferson township trustee for the past two years and now on his term expiring he goes to Tocsin to take charge of an elevator there. The guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Bowman, Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Henline, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Weirich, Mr. and Mrs. James Crabill, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Swaim, Mr. and Mrs. Minor Hoover, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Orin Roe; Mr. and Mrs. Evan Hoover, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Melching, Mesdames Hazel Mahnensmith, Gee Lord, Maude Swihart, Emma Vananda, Margaret Kellogg, Bessie Ritchey, the Misses Mary Buch and Lucile Davis, also Messrs. E. H. Roe and Anson Buck.

John Hoover has moved from the Ed Stine property to the Cloyd Wilson property.

Mrs. J. H. Krewson is on the sick list this week.

EMBARGO HAS BEEN EXTENDED

New York State Places It Upon Live and Dressed Poultry from Indiana.

H. M. Quicksell, agent of the Star Union line, was surprised this morning by notice that New York state had placed an embargo on live and dressed poultry from the foot and mouth infected states, which include Indiana and Ohio, from whence comes much of the business of this kind sent over the Star Union line route. "Boston and Philadelphia are still open to the dressed and live poultry business originating in my territory," said Mr. Quicksell, "but the bulk of the business heretofore has been to New York. This embargo will greatly lessen the demand for poultry for Thanksgiving and the holidays and will have some influence on prices," continued Mr. Quicksell. The New York embargo extends to all states wherein are quarantined sections, whether the disease appears in more than one locality in a state or not.

WAS A DISTINGUISHED PARTY.

The inspection party headed by President Samuel Rea, of the Pennsylvania, which was in the city Tuesday, was probably the largest party of distinguished railway men in Fort Wayne for many years. From the lines east of Pittsburg were President Rea, Vice President W. W. Atterbury, Henry Tathall, John P. Green and A. J. County. According to the Pittsburg Times-Gazette, the personnel of the party also included the following prominent men of the lines west of Pittsburg: J. J. Turner, first vice president; Edward B. Taylor, second vice president; D. T. McCabe, third vice president; G. L. Peck, fourth vice president; Guy S. McCabe, general freight agent; Benjamin McKeen, general manager; D. C. Crawford, general superintendent of motive power; E. T. Whiter, general superintendent Northwest system; F. J. Kron, superintendent Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago; T. Rood, chief engineer; R. Trimble, engineer of maintenance of way; W. C. Downing, general superintendent Central system, and others.

QUITS NEXT SATURDAY.

Paul Hanley, the watchman at the Pennsylvania shop gate on Lafayette street, will not work the month out as he expected. Instead he will quit work Saturday in order that he may have time to look after some business in Michigan before leaving for California to join his wife and spend a few months with her and their daughter at Oakland. As stated by the Sentinel two weeks ago, Mr. Hanley is seventy years old and has been transferred to the pension system. His successor at the gates may be John Shuster, the machinist, who sustained some injuries in a bicycle accident several months ago which partially incapacitates him for work at his trade.

GOOD BUSINESS ON EAST END.

(Bellevue Gazette.)

Freight business on the Nickel Plate is good with a steady increase during the past few days and indications that the present volume will continue for some time in the future. This is the cheering news which is given forth at the local offices of the company, together with the information that two additional preferred freight trains have been placed in service of the Fort Wayne division of the road, to which regular crews are to be assigned, while two crews have also been added to the through freight pool of the Fort Wayne division.

LIP CUT; TEETH LOOSENED.

While passing behind a man who was using a sledge in the Pennsylvania erecting shop this morning, H. G. Sheetal received a blow in the mouth. His lip was split and two of his teeth were loosened and he will be unable to work for awhile.

TO PITTSBURG ON BUSINESS.

E. T. Wood, division freight agent of the Pennsylvania, will go to Pittsburg tonight, where he will attend a meeting of the traffic officers of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburg. These meetings are held nearly every month and Mr. Wood always attends them.

ENTERTAINING HIS FATHER.

Chief Clerk E. F. Stephan, of the Pennsylvania superintendent's office, is entertaining his father, Jacob Stephan, of Upper Sandusky, who is also engaged in railroad work, being a foreman on the Hocking Valley road.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Pennsylvania Passenger Fireman C. D. Eckinger, is sick and off duty.

Machinist H. F. Tolley and W. C. Colb, of the Pennsylvania shops, are off duty on account of sickness.

After an illness of two days, E. E. Saffen resumed his duties as clerk in the Pennsylvania boiler shop this morning.

Frank Monahan, Wabash boilermaker, will be the guest of friends in Logansport over Sunday. He once resided in that city.

Conductor Albert Osborne, who was injured three weeks ago, was able to resume work on the Nickel Plate yesterday.

Supt. W. M. Wardrop and Trainmaster C. L. Hamilton, of the Pennsylvania, went to Pittsburg last night on business for the company.

Division Storekeeper E. L. Ensel and C. E. Dale have returned from St. Thomas, where they spent two or three days in the interest of the Wabash.

Assistant Chief Clerk Thomas Gordon, of the Pennsylvania master mechanic's office, is preparing for an over Sunday visit with friends in Indianapolis.

By the burning of a freight car at Toledo Tuesday night, the Wabash sustained a loss of upwards of $1,000. The fire was of unknown origin and an effort is being made to solve the mystery.

Pennsylvania Machinist Charles Knothe, who has been looking after some private matters a day or two, reported for work at the Pennsylvania shops this morning.

C. F. Barraider, Pennsylvania dispatcher, was presented with a son last night. As a result the dispatchers and operators at the office are well provided with cigars.

J. G. Roper, who attended the I. O. O. F. meetings in Indianapolis this week, resumed his place at the forge in the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Franke, the former a tank repairman at the Pennsylvania boiler shop, were called to Sturgis, Mich., yesterday by news of the death of her mother.

Night Engine Inspector Ralph Burns, of the Wabash railroad, is laying off for a few days to move into his new home on West Butler street. Mr. Burns has one of the finest residences on this street.

Wabash Road Foreman of Engines James Bell, of the Detroit division, transacted business in Fort Wayne yesterday and incidentally visited his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bell, the former a foreman at the Wabash shops.

The Wabash evidently expects a big movement in grain and hay soon, for orders were issued several days ago to rush all grain cars west. Quarantine on account of the hoof and mouth disease, however, will interfere with traffic more or less for awhile.

John T. Scott, foreman of the night fire builders at the Wabash round house, has just returned from a successful hunting trip to Maine. He killed two deer, one fine moose and a lot of small game. Mr. Scott, who makes this trip every fall, says this is the best trip he has made there.

E. W. Ely and H. Willard Smith, machinists, resumed their respective stations in the Pennsylvania shops this morning. Mr. Ely was sick and Mr. Smith had an eye injured by a piece of metal lodging in it. He is the "first aid" eye doctor at the machine shop, but was unable to remove the piece from his own eye and had to go to the oculist.

Harry G. Pinninger spent a few hours in the city yesterday and called upon a number of his railway and other friends. For several years Mr. Pinninger was Lake Shore passenger agent in Fort Wayne and served the Ninth ward a part of a term in the city council, resigning when he was promoted and transferred to Toledo in the capacity of traveling claim agent of the New York Central lines.

A train of twenty-eight cars loaded with lead billets passed through the city over the Wabash Tuesday, en route to Black Rock, Ont., where it was delivered to the Canadian Pacific. The metal is probably for export to be used in the manufacture of munitions of war. Sixteen car loads of fine horses from points in Missouri also passed through the city over the Wabash Tuesday, en route to the Atlantic coast for export. They also are for the armies.

OWNER AND HIS CLOCK WHICH HAS TICKED STEADILY AWAY FOR FORTY-TWO YEARS.

JOHN FRUECHTE AND HIS CLOCK
Sentinel Photo

Tick-Tock! Tick-Tock! 1,320,732,000 times during its existence is rather a remarkable performance for a clock and almost seems impossible, but nevertheless John Fruechte, of 2720 Broadway, Fort Wayne, is the owner of this wonderful timepiece which has ticked off the hours of the day for the past forty-two years without once stopping or making a visit to the repair shop.

It has proven to be rather a cheap investment as it was purchased for the price of $4.50, or at a cost of a little better than ten cents a year. The clock was bought in Fort Wayne from a Calhoun street jeweler in 1872 and ever since has been keeping correct time without being regulated but once.

It is a Seth Thomas one-day weight clock made in Thomaston, Conn., and requires winding every day. The construction of the timepiece is very simple, there only being half as many "wheels" in it as in a modern clock. All that has been required to keep it in running order was to place a bottle of oil in the clock and the amount that evaporated was enough to keep the "joints" oiled.

The average clock costing the amount of this one would continue in action not more than fifteen years, according to a local watchmaker, due to the fact that the material used in the clock today is not as hard as was used years ago. The brass in the clock shown above is nearly as hard as steel.

ECZEMA ITCHED AND BURNED CONTINUALLY

On Wrist and Arm. Broke Out With Rash. Could Not Sleep. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Healed.

2406 Copeland St., Cincinnati, Ohio.—"For one year my right wrist and left arm from elbow to shoulder were disfigured with sore eruption. The eczema broke out with a rash and looked like raw beef steak. It itched and burned continually and I had to keep my arms covered with soft linen cloths. I could not sleep at night.

"I was told it was chronic case of eczema and got medicine but it had no effect. Then I sent for a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and the first application seemed to help me. I used them three times daily washing first with the Cuticura Soap and hot water, then covering with the Ointment. I purchased two cakes of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment and in six weeks my arms and wrists were thoroughly healed, not a scar remains and I have had no trouble since." PREDICT DRY NATION SOON

Prohibition Leaders Are Already Busy on Next Campaign.

Kansas City, Nov. 19.—Four members of the national committee of the prohibition party met at the Densmore hotel and discussed plans for hastening the date of the demise of the whisky ring. The men, all of whom recently have been through political campaigns in different sections of the nation and are armed with figures and statistics from the elections, were Virgil G. Hinshaw, of Chicago, chairman of the national committee; Eugene W. Chafin, twice nominee for president and recently defeated for senator from Arizona; W. G. Calderwood, of Minneapolis, chairman of the congressional committee, and Charles J. Hall, of Los Angeles, who will direct the campaign work in the new Missouri prohibition district.

Mr. Chafin voiced the sentiment of the conference. "Never before in the history of this movement have we carried four states in one day," he said. "Washington, Oregon, Colorado and Arizona make a total of fourteen states in the dry column. In Arizona, where I was a candidate for senator, I polled more than eight thousand votes, as against 265 for president in 1912. In California, where the prohibition amendment was lost, we elected a representative in congress. The whisky ring has long been crying for figures and now they're getting them.

Suffrage a Big Factor.

"It is significant that in each of the four new dry states woman suffrage figured largely. As a further token, let me add that the woman suffrage amendment and the county unit measure lost in Missouri, I am told, by about the same vote. The whisky ring would prefer state prohibition to woman suffrage—and wisely, too. Prohibition might later be defeated in a state without woman suffrage."

In the plan decided upon yesterday college men will be made the nucleus of a fighting army. To make it seem more like a real army, an organization will be immediately recruited, trained in army methods of discipline and put on the army scale of pay. The door bell will supplant the trigger and personal solicitation will be the only ammunition used.

FOUR TOWNS ANNEXED.

New Albany Adds 2,500 Population with New Territory.

New Albany, Ind., Nov. 16.—Silver Grove, Glenwood place, Fairmont park, North park and other territory contiguous to New Albany, were annexed to the city today under a decision of Special Judge J. H. Paynter, of Salem. The territory was annexed by ordinance adopted by the city council three years ago. Anders Rasmussen and ten other property holders in the territory led a remonstrance in circuit court, where it has been pending, having been before three different judges in its preliminary stages.

The case was tried last month by Judge Paynter and taken under advisement until today. The annexation will add more than twenty-five hundred persons to the population of New Albany and also includes a number of manufacturing industries.

AUNT SALLY'S ADVICE TO BEAUTY SEEKERS.

Red Nose. The nose is a more delicate organ than most people imagine. It should be touched as little as possible. For undue redness the treatment recommended in following paragraph will be found effective. Apply without rubbing.

Muddy Skin. The surest, safest and surest method of giving a clear, healthy, transparent appearance to the complexion is to apply ordinary mercolized wax every night for from one to two weeks. This wax, obtainable at any drug store (one ounce is sufficient), actually takes off a bad complexion by gently and gradually absorbing the thin veil of surface skin. The new skin then in evidence is as fresh and velvety as a young girl's. The wax is applied like cold cream and washed off mornings.

Wrinkles: A harmless lotion made as follows has been found very effective in cases of wrinkles and crow's feet: Powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in witch hazel, ½ pt. Bathe the face in this daily.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—Wheat today showed weakness, influenced by lower spot quotations at Liverpool. After opening ½c to ⅞c off, and then recovering, the market steadied at a little below the previous close.

The close was steady at the same as last night to a shade off.

Fine weather eased corn. The opening was from a shade to ⅛c lower and was followed by frequent changes within ¼c range.

The close was weak, ⅛@¼c to ½@⅝c under last night.

In oats there was a fair commission demand at the outset but wants were soon filled.

Provisions hardened as a result of scattered buying.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

A moderate storm is passing across the lake region. It is being preceded by warmer weather, but it is being followed by much colder weather which has already overspread the western lake region. In the northwest the lowest temperatures of the season are reported this morning, 23 below being reported from Manitoba and Saskatchawan, while zero temperatures extend southward nearly to central Iowa. In the extreme northwest the cold weather has already begun to moderate rapidly.

Some snow is reported from the lake region, and rains have set in over the south Atlantic coast districts in connection with a storm on that coast. Elsewhere fair weather has prevailed.

Fair weather will continue in this section tonight and Friday. It will be still colder tonight, but the temperature will begin to moderate again by Friday afternoon or Friday night.

between the sea coast and Lys. There were no infantry attacks in this region.

"Between the Oise and the Aisne the operations in the vicinity of Tracy-le-Val had a termination very favorable for our troops. It will be remembered that we took possession of the village several days ago. The day before yesterday the Germans endeavored to capture it. After having captured our first trenches they succeeded in making their way as far as the central square of the village. Here, however, a vigorous counter attack delivered by our Algerian contingent drove the enemy back, wrested from him all the ground we had lost and inflicted on him very heavy losses.

CALL IT FEINT AT WARSAW.

How the German Advance is Viewed in Petrograd.

Petrograd, Nov. 19.—The German advance in considerable force along the narrow battle front on the west bank of the river Vistula is regarded by Russia nmilitary observers as a feint at the city of Warsaw.

This plan is calculated to revive the German troops in East Prussia now giving way along the entire line by rendering a Russian further advance untenable. Despite this German demonstration the converging lines of the Russian advance on the Austrian fortress of Cracow are steadily progressing, the Russians say, now being reported within twenty-five miles of that point. The Austrians are stubbornly contesting the Russian offensive and are taking advantage of every creek and hillock in any way available for defense, but the Russian columns in south Poland already have traversed the last river between them and the fortress of Cracow.

FARMERS ASSIST STATE OFFICERS

Local authorities declare they have the hoof and mouth disease well in hand and there is little possibility of it breaking out in Allen county if the farmers and stockmen co-operate with them.

The discovery of the disease on the farm of Edward Kissell, just across the line in Whitley county, aroused the authorities of Allen county to immediate action and all roads leading from the adjoining county are being carefully guarded. Sheriff Gladieux stated Thursday that the patrolling of the roads would continue for several days, at least until all danger is passed.

The herd of forty-four cattle held under temporary quarantine at Maples have been inspected by veterinarians and were found free from the infection.

Rules Are Posted.

Posters have been placed in conspicuous places stating that no one shall enter a quarantined farm but the owner and tenant and that nothing shall be taken from them. No live poultry is to be marketed and milk and butter must be marketed from farms not under quarantine. Vegetables may be marketed providing there is no straw or hay. Dogs are to be chained and pigeons are to be gotten rid of as quickly as possible. Hunters are not permitted to hunt from farm to farm. Farmers also urged to disinfect their stock.

Dr. E. C. Cannon, government expert, who is working out of Niles, Mich., inspected the cattle on the Kissell farm Wednesday afternoon. He says that much of the livestock on the farm is afflicted with the hoof and mouth disease in its most malignant form and equal to any case he has ever seen. Dr. Cannon expects to remain in Whitley county until the cattle on the Kissell farm has been killed and properly buried. The livestock will be appraised by a government expert and Mr. Kissell will partially be reimbursed for the cattle that it will be necessary to kill.

Sheriff Gladieux stated Thursday that the car load of sheep which was expected to arrive here Wednesday from the Chicago stock yards did not make its appearance. He is of the opinion that it is being held in Chicago.

READY FOR WORK.

Boys of Hoagland School Now Ready to Spray Trees.

Last spring the boys at the Hoagland school were taught the art of spraying trees infected with the San Jose scale. They were taught to prepare the fluid used in this work and the proper method for applying the same. Much work was done for persons having trees infected with the San Jose scale. Now they are ready to take up this work again and any person wanting their trees sprayed should notify F. M. Price, principal of the school, and he will see that the same is done. The fall of the year is regarded as the best time to spray trees to prevent the spread of the San Jose scale, which is playing havoc in some sections.

LOVES "GREAT WHITE WAY."

Son of Indiana Physician Held for Alleged Jewelry Theft.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 19.—Because he loved "the great white way" of Chicago, Warner Spink, the son of a prominent physician of Washington, Ind., is being held here for the authorities of his home town on the charge of having stolen $1,200 worth of jewelry from his step-mother. Spink is said to have admitted to the police that he sold the jewelry in Chicago for $600, the most of which he spent in having a good time in that city. He came here Tuesday night from Chicago. He wore a seven weeks' growth of beard and the police did not recognize him at first. His friends in Washington declare that the young man was stricken some time ago with an ailment akin to paralysis and since that time many of his acquaintances have believed him mentally unbalanced.

INJURES WOMAN AND RUNS AWAY

The police are trying to discover the identity of the man with a bicycle who ran into Mrs. John Kirsch, 1038 East Wayne street, Wednesday evening, knocked her down and injured her painfully and then sped away without stopping to learn the consequences of his recklessness or offering her assistance. The accident occurred on East Wayne street, near the home of Mrs. Kirsch. The cyclist came tearing along at high speed with no lights on his wheel and without sounding a bell. Mrs. Kirsch was not aware of his approach until she was struck. She was greatly stunned by the impact, and made her way home with difficulty. Cyclists who ride their wheels after dark without lights are subject to a fine. During the past week about two score riders have been arrested and taken to the station. None has yet been fined, but the city court hereafter will assess fines.

HIGHWAYMEN ROB FARMER.

The city police department and Sheriff A. C. Gladieux have been on the lookout since midnight for traces of two highwaymen who held up and robbed Gust Koenemann, an Adams county farmer, about 10 o'clock Wednesday night as Koenemann was driving home from Decatur. The men were overtaken by the farmer on the road and they asked him for a ride. He permitted them to get into his buggy, and after riding about six miles north of Decatur one of them thrust a gun in Koenemann's face, compelled him to get out of the buggy and submit to be tied to a tree at the roadside. His pockets were rifled and $20 taken. The men then drove the rig a short distance and left it, continuing their flight on foot. A man who was passing heard Koenemann's call for help and untied him.

ATTEMPT TO ROB A POOLROOM.

Patrolman Hill discovered four men in the poolroom of Christoph John, 816 Wallace street, at 1 o'clock Thursday morning. The men ran out of the back door as the officer approached the front, and Hill gave chase. He fired his revolver at the fleeing marauders but they did not stop. Detective Sergeant Walter Immel and Patrolmen Brown, Hill and Cantwell searched the east and south sides for the fellows but could not find them. Two young men who were suspected were interviewed at their homes, but insisted that they had been in bed before midnight. John was fined in the city court Tuesday morning on conviction of assault and battery on Edward Needham, an 18-year-old youth with whom he had had trouble in the poolroom.

THE CITY COURT.

The shortest docket and the briefest session of the city court for many weeks marked the proceedings of that tribunal Thursday morning.

George Shermak, a vag, was released and promised to get out of the city.

The case against John H. Green, charged with operating a motor car without a license, was dismissed. The case had been pending on continuance for several weeks.

A letter from the secretary of state informed the court that R. H. Sherlock, of DeKalb county, had remitted his application and fee for an automobile license and tags, but had not been supplied because the department was out of tags. Thereupon the case against him for driving without tags on his machine was continued indefinitely. Sherlock was arrested while passing through Fort Wayne with his family en route to Preble, Adams county, a few days ago.

Asthma-Catarrh and Bronchitis

Can Be Greatly Relieved by the New External Vapor Treatment.

Melt in a spoon a little Vick's "Vap-O-Rub" Croup and Pneumonia Salve and inhale the vapors. Put a little up each nostril and at night apply well over throat and chest, covering with a warm flannel cloth. Leave the covering loose around the neck so that the vapors of Menthol, Thymol, Eucalyptol, Camphor, and Pine Tar, that are released by the body heat, may be inhaled all night long. In Asthma and Hay Fever rub Vick's over the spinal column to relax the nervous tension. This treatment is not a "cure," but it has at least the merit of containing no harmful drugs and it is sold by all druggists in 25c, 50c, and $1.00 jars, on thirty days' trial. Vick's is also excellent for all croup and cold troubles.

DOES YOUR SWEETHEART LOVE YOU? HERE'S SCIENTIFIC WAY TO FIND OUT.

HOW TO GRASP A GIRL'S WRIST TO LEARN IF SHE LOVES YOU.

Here's an infallible test to discover if the girl you're in love with reciprocates your affection.

The secret was discovered by Dr. W. Percy Hicking, a noted alienist of Washington, D. C., who has placed love-making on a scientific basis.

A woman's pulse will tell the tale of her affections every time, contends Dr. Hickling. All you have to do to find out if her heart beats for you is to put your finger on her wrist and note the pulse. This can be done under the pretense of merely holding her hand. It is of course presumed that you have enough of her favor to undertake such familiarity.

It's taking a rather mean advantage of the lady of your heart's desire, but anything is fair in love as everyone knows.

If her pulse goes up like a skyrocket the moment you touch her hand, you may be certain that she loves you. If there is no immediate rise of the heart barometer, begin a casual, teasing conversation in which you mention, one after another, the names of your suspected rivals. If the girl's pulse begins to hammer hard upon the mention of any certain name you may be certain that you have learned the identity of her favored suitor. If it mounts to about 100 per minute—well, you might as well quit. She's head over heels in love with the man whose name has thus excited her.

Now, keep this thing a secret, boys. Don't let the girls get wise. They might refuse to let us hold their hands altogether, especially during that trying period in which we're trying to discover just what they do think of us!

Today's War News Given in Summary.

Violent fighting has been resumed within a two hour motor ride of the gates of Paris. At Tracy-le-Val, where the main battle line from the north swings to the eastward at the point nearest Paris, a German advance led to a violent encounter. The Germans attempted to recapture the town, won by the allies a few days ago, but according to the French war office statement today, they were repulsed with heavy losses.

In Flanders the artillery duel, described during the last few days as of furious intensity, has become still more violent, on the part of the Germans, but here, as elsewhere, the opposing forces are holding fast to their main positions.

An official German communication states that heavy fighting has been resumed in the Argonne forests around which some of the most severe encounters of the war have raged from time to time during the last two months. A heavy loss, it is said, was inflicted on the enemy. In a battle between two squadrons of aeroplanes, it is said, one airship of the allies and one of the Germans were lost.

Turkey's explanation of her act in firing on the American flag at Smyrna has not been submitted, nor has the navy department at Washington received a detailed report from Captain Decker, of the cruiser Tennessee, one of whose launches was under fire. The Washington authorities were confident, however, that satisfactory amends would be made by Turkey and that no complications would result.

Austria is calling for more soldiers. The older men of the landsturm of 1870 to 1890 have been summoned to the colors. Austria apparently has the upper hand in her war with Servia. Reports from Vienna state that the pursuit of the enemy is being carried further and that the Servians retreat was attended with heavy losses.

Germany's new attack on the Russian army in the center of the eastern battle line stood out conspicuously today as of chief immediate importance in the European war. The sudden assault of the Germans in Russian Poland, from which territory they were described recently as being driven in disorder, has lent a new aspect to this campaign. Russian military officials admit a reverse in the territory and Berlin is celebrating a great victory, but the meagerness of authentic information from the front makes it impossible to determine the extent or importance of the German success.

The sound of cannonading was reported off the coast of Sweden in the Baltic sea. It was thought possible that the main Russian fleet, which recently set out from Helsingfors Finland, might have engaged the Germans.

AIRMEN ENGAGE IN FIERCE ENCOUNTER

Berlin, Nov. 19.—Via Marconi Wireless to London—(3 p. m.)—A German official communication given out in Berlin today says:

"The situation in West Flanders and in the north of France is unchanged.

"A German aviation squadron encountered some of the enemy's aviators while making a reconnoitering flight and caused them to descend, one of them falling. One of our flying machines is missing.

"A fierce French attack in the region of Servon, on the western slope of the Argonne forest was repulsed with heavy loss to the enemy. Our losses were small.

"In the eastern theater of the war the newly commenced battles are proceeding."

For the first time since the outbreak of the war the Germans spent the day without their newspapers, the publication of which was suspended because of the religious day of repentance. The daily report from war headquarters appeared as usual but there was no means of circulating it except through bulletins posted in shop windows and by means of a telegraphic extract displayed in the postoffice down town.

Berlin is Celebrating.

The streets of Berlin today were crowded and the spirit of the promenaders was confident as a result of the Russian defeats reported yesterday. The Neuwe Frie Press correspondent gives details of the capture of Valeivo, Servia. The Austrians advanced in five columns, three of which arrived within cannon range early Sunday but the attack was delayed because of the slow progress of the other columns over a difficult terrain.

The attack began at 11 o'clock. The Austrians, despite vigorous resistance, drove the left wing in. The right wing was simultaneously threatened by an outflanking movement from Rolubara and a devastating artillery fire completed the discomfiture of the Servians so that by 5 o'clock in the afternoon they were in full retirement on Arandelovatz, abandoning fortifications on which they had worked for years and which were considered impregnable. It is doubtful whether the Servians will make a stand at Arandelovatz.

The Servians had no time to bring off or to destroy their guns or supplies, great quantities of which fell into the hands of the Austrians. Over 6,000 Servians were taken prisoners.

WEST FLANDERS CUT OFF.

The Hague, Via London, Nov. 19.—(3:30 a. m.)—Advices received here from Thielt, Belgium, which were brought by way of Sas Van Gent by messenger and are dated Monday, Nov. 16, state that west Flanders, the scene of incessant military operations, remains almost cut off from the rest of Belgium through the blowing up of most of the bridges leading thereto. Peasants are obliged to make emergency bridges from planks and crawl along these to escape from the danger zone. The Germans have declared the territory west of the railroad running from Antwerp to Brussels and thence to Mons, an official war area where nobody, including even Germans, are allowed to travel without a special military passport.

It is difficult to obtain reliable news of the situation in the war zone, as the bedraggled men and women, who manage to escape, are too miserable, through cold and hunger, to give a connected account of their experiences.

Their only definite recollection seems to be the continued cannon fire and the endless procession of wounded filling their villages. It was learned from some of them, however, that Dixmude, the scene of such severe fighting, is entirely ruined. Nieuport also suffered severely. The principal church there has lost its tower and its roof and the renaissance carvings in its interior have been demolished. In Ypres the Cloth Hall, which was one of the few ancient buildings saved from the English siege in the year 1383, is severely damaged by shrapnel fire.

In Termonde the Germans have ordered the schools reopened, but since the ten thousand inhabitants have been reduced to a hundred, there are no pupils and besides, as four-fifths of the town is in ruins, there are no schools. The bridges here are lightly guarded by men of the Bavarian landwehr.

Ghent is deserted by its population, but is overflowing with German wounded. Zeebrugge, according to reports, has been made a station for submarines by the Germans. At Alost the population is beginning to return. The people are establishing themselves in shacks and in the ruins of their old homes. From the entire province of Flanders, where the roads are full of aimlessly drifting people, come credible reports of ever increasing suffering and privations. Food is exceedingly scarce and many persons are suffering from hunger. The peasants are cutting down the old line of trees at the country places for fuel.

RUSSIAN WARSHIPS PUT TO FLIGHT.

Berlin, Nov. 19.—(By Wireless to The Associated Press.)—A Turkish fleet including a Dreadnought and four torpedo boat destroyers and a number of submarines put to sea today, according to an official report reaching Berlin from Constantinople today. One of the Russian battleships was sunk by shrapnel and the other seven, with the Turkish warships in pursuit fled to Sevastopol.

HELD ON CHARGE OF HIGH TREASON.

Sault Ste Marie, Nov. 19.—Robert Sayer of this city is held in custody here on a charge of high treason. He is said to have admitted in court today that he aided 31 Amerians to cross the St Mary's river from the United States into Canada, to join their home regiment in the European war. The crime is punishable by death. The hearing has been postponed eight days while local officials wait for instructions from the military authorities.

FIGHT FROM BOATS IN INUNDATED REGION.

Bruges, Belgium, Nov. 19.—Fighting between the German and allies forces in inundated territory between Dixmude and Nieuport on the north sea coast, is now frequently being carried on in boats. Artillery for the first time in the war has proved ineffective, but personal bravery and enterprise are counting for much. The battle is beginning to resemble the classical siege of Leyden, in the sixteenth century with raids and counter raids by means of flat bottomed boats.

GRAND JURY IN ELECTION PROBE

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 19.—Investigation of the Terre Haute election was begun today by the federal grand jury. Twenty-six witnesses had been subpoenaed for the day and all election returns to the Vigo county clerk and the registration books held by the county auditor were taken into the grand jury room. Both men and women were among the witnesses. All the witnesses today are regarded highly by people of the state, no alleged gangsters or election crooks being among those appearing.

When first information, regarding political conditions in Terre Haute was presented to Frank C. Dailey, United States district attorney, who has personal charge of the investigation, it was said that 2,800 names had been falsely registered. Later, when the election was held, many corrupt acts were committed at the polls. Both phases of this alleged political crookedness will be investigated. Two weeks or more, it is expected, will be spent in consideration of the Terre Haute case. How many witnesses have been subpoenaed is unknown, but it is expected that three hundred persons will be examined before the inquiry is complete.

MOTHER LOOKS FOR LOST SON

In a search for her 17-year-old son, who left home three weeks ago, Mrs. Lillian Randall, of Huntington, made a visit to the office of the Indiana Free Employment bureau, in the court house, Wednesday afternoon. While she learned that he had been there a few days before in search of employment, she was unable to locate him.

The boy left home suddenly and without telling a soul that he was going. There was apparently no cause for his leaving, according to the distracted mother. She was told at the employment bureau's office that at the time her son was there no positions were available and for that reason they had no record as to where he might be found. The young man is a fine looking chap. Mrs. Randall is a widow.

BABE BURNS TO DEATH IN HOME

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 19.—William Guelat, seven months old, was burned to death today in a fire that destroyed the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claud Guelat, in this city. Mrs. Guelat went to a neighbors, leaving the baby in a cab and his four-year-old brother in the house. She had been away only a few minutes when the boy came running out and the house was discovered in flames.

Mrs. Guelat rushed into her home and in her haste to pull the baby can out wedged it behind the door. Flames, which cut off the rescue of the child, surrounded her and she was severely burned before being dragged away by two men who also were burned.

Question of Withdrawal of Cruisers Yet to Be Determined.

Washington, Nov. 19.—Although the navy department continued every effort to get a fuller report to furnish the missing links in the chain of incidents connected with the firing upon the cruiser Tennessee launch by the Turkish forts at Smyrna, nothing had been heard early today from Captain Decker or from Ambassador Morgenthau.

As nearly a week was taken in getting the last message through to the state department from the ambassador at Constantinople little information is expected from him before Captain Decker is heard from. Yesterday he got through his first report of the incident within a few hours.

Secretary Daniels today said he would not decide on whether the North Carolina and Tennessee would remain in Turkish waters until all the facts were known concerning the firing at Smyrna. Some naval officers have urged that the cruisers be withdrawn.

Officials believe, however, that missionary interests for which the cruisers

FREED ON WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS

Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 19.—A petition for a writ of habeas corpus for the release of Wesley A. Mitchell, the election sheriff, who shot Deputy Sheriff Peter Feiler on election day, was granted by Judge John E. Cox, of the superior court, at a session at his home here this morning. In support of the petition for release attorneys for Mitchell offered the testimony of Dr. M. A. Boor at the preliminary hearing of Mitchell yesterday that the death of Feiler, which occurred last Friday, was due to pneumonia and heart trouble and was not the direct result of the wounds inflicted by Mitchell. Judge Cox made the writ returnable at 10 o'clock Friday morning and ordered the sheriff to produce Mitchell at that time.

DESPONDENT MAN COMMITS SUICIDE

Excessive drinking is believed to have caused Worthington Asher to commit suicide Wednesday evening by swallowing the contents oof a two-ounce bottle of carbolic acid at his home, 1509 Cass street, shortly after he had finished his supper. Mrs. Asher is of the opinion that his excessive drinking had deranged his mind. Asher was 35 years old and a carpenter.

Asher drank the deadly drug in the presence of his wife and step-children, who attempted to prevent him but to no avail. Mrs. Asher immediately called the police and Dr. M. W. Tinkham, who arrived just a few minutes before Asher breathed his last.

According to Mrs. Asher her husband had often threatened suicide, but she paid little attention to it. He also had threatened her life, she said, and on one occasion carried a hatchet around with him for hours declaring he would use it on her.

Asher moved to Fort Wayne some months ago from Indianapolis and six weeks ago he was joined by his wife and her three children, Robert, Alma and Esther, children by a former marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Asher were married only last April. The deceased is survived by a mother and brother, both of Indianapolis, and two small children, David and Flora, who live with relatives in Indianapolis.

Coroner E. H. Kruse investigated the case Wednesday night. The body is now at the Schone & Ankenbruck undertaking parlors.

SKULL CRUSHED BY PIPE WRENCH

Aurora, Ill., Nov. 19.—A woman found lying unconscious in a church yard here last night with her skull crushed by a blow from a heavy pipe wrench, was identified today as Miss Jennie Miller, 55 years old, daughter of a former mayor of Aurora. Physicians say she cannot live.

Miss Miller's hand bag containing money and valuable jewelry, was not found. Authorities investigating the case held a theory of robbery. Although a member of a family that long had been prominent in social affairs, Miss Miller had lived the life of a recluse.

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in avoiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

THAT TURKISH SHOT AT THE AMERICAN FLAG

The main battery consists of four 10-inch and sixteen 6-inch guns, with a secondary battery consisting of twenty-two 3-inch rapid-firers, twelve 3-pounders and numerous other smaller rifles.

GERMANS DRIVE BACK THE RUSSIAN ADVANCE

London, Nov. 19.—(12:07 p. m.)—The unexpected blow delivered on the Russian center by Gen. von Hindenburg with the German army which had retreated from before Warsaw was the predominant feature of the news reaching London today from the eastern arena of war.

No change of importance has been recorded for some days past in the western arena where Flanders is still the scene of heavy fighting. In spite of adverse weather conditions and flooded trenches the Germans appear to be holding their positions from which, at intervals, they launch the attacks for which the territory from the Belgian coast to Arras has become famous.

The allies' warships are still off the coast, putting shells inland when opportunity offers. The Belgian army remains in the region where the floods have been the worst and some dispatches say that in certain places they have been fighting from small boats.

Having for the time being thrown back the Russian advance toward the German frontier of Posen, Gen. von Hindenburg is the hero of the hour in Berlin. There is much criticism in Berlin of the German retreat from Warsaw, but if the present marked reversal of form proves permanent, the German tation just as the allies retrived themtation just as th allies retrieved themselvres almost at the gates of Paris. The German wedge from Posen would appear to have driven the Russian center more than fifty miles back from the frontier, so that the line is now about midway between German territory and Warsaw. Elsewhere along the great eastern front the Russians, where they are not progressing, seem to be holding their own.

England and especially London turned its eyes from the conflict today to pay a last tribute to its greatest and best loved soldier, Field Marshall Lord Roberts, whose body, in the presence of King George and all the military leaders not at the front, was placed at rest beside Wellington, Nelson and others celebrated in the country's history, in St. Paul's cathedral.

Cold weather of the last few days has created a big draft on the resources of the poor and the snow flurries that accompanied it call to mind the fact that Christmas is rapidly approaching when the flood gate of generosity ought to be opened and permitted to pour its flood of joy and happiness on the world at large and the children of the poor in particular.

Donations of $25 each have been placed in The Sentinel-Empress fund by the Fort Wayne Sentinel and by the Empress theater management and a charitable young lady who does not want her name to be made public at this time, has insured that an equal amount in useful gifts will be added, so that this makes a good start for one of the undertakings that is certain to spread Christmas cheer among the little ones.

Then the show that goes with it all is to be considered. It can not be measured in dollars and cents, but last year the enjoyment it provided was worth an immense sum to the little fellows whose parents have no money to provide the amusements that help to relieve life of its monotony.

At the meeting Wednesday afternoon the Fort Wayne Mothers' club made arrangements to distribute the gifts that are to be purchased with the donations and this work will be done by a committee made up of the various parent-teacher clubs of the city.

Those clubs also will be able to reach directly the children who will be deprived of the joys of Christmas gifts unless the charitable people of Fort Wayne provide them.

With a year of experience as a guide and the full knowledge that there is a wonderfully rich field in Fort Wayne for charity among the poor children the fund can be more intelligently handled and better results obtained. Persons who desire to contribute are asked to send their money to The Sentinel office and they will be duly acknowledged.

TAKES A RAP AT WILSON HISTORY

Mrs. Beard Scores It for Failure to Recognize Woman's Work.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 19.—The presentation and discussion of commissioners on a wide range of subjects pertaining to municipal government occupied the attention of the delegates to the twenty-second annual conference of the National Municipal League here today. Mrs. Charles A. Beard, of New York, who delivered an address on "Woman's Work for the City," declared that if a visitor from Mars were to read President Wilson's five-volume history of American people "he would imagine that there had been no women in this part of the universe from the landing of the pilgrims to the present day, for scarcely a mention of women can be found in all the hundreds of pages."

Mrs. Beard believed the knell of that sort of history had been rung. "Women are now studying history for themselves," she said. Mrs. Beard outlined the wide range of women's activities, particularly in civic work—all the way from planting window flower boxes to assumption of the "judicial ermine."

"It is a matter of common knowledge," she declared, "that many a municipal politician in office owes the success of his technical administration to the efficiency of a woman under-secretary."

CONVOCATION IS NEAR ITS CLOSE

Judge Harry B. Tuthill, of Michigan City, delivered the address to the class Wednesday evening at the banquet which was the big social feature of the annual fall convocation of Scottish Rite Masons in Fort Wayne. More than one thousand members of the fraternity were in attendance at the banquet, E. G. Hoffman presiding as toastmaster, and Schlatter's orchestra furnishing the music.

The class of some seventy candidates receiving the degrees of the consistory will reach the conclusion of the work Thursday evening, when the thirty-second degree will be conferred.

Friday will follow the ceremonial session of Mizpah temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine.

DOES CUPID USE A HAIR NET?

Yes indeed he does. At least many times the attention of "the one man" has been caught by beautiful hair. Love stories all tell us of the heroine's beautiful hair because it is one of the features which most attracts men. In washing the hair it is not advisable to use a makeshift, but always use a preparation made for shampooing only. You can enjoy the best that is known for about three cents a shampoo by getting a package of cantbrox from your druggist: dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and your shampoo is ready. After its use the hair dries rapidly with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its lustre and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth.—Adv.

ROBERTS' BODY BORNE TO TOMB

London, Nov. 19.—(12:12 p. m.)—The body of Field Marshal Lord Roberts, borne on a gun carriage, moved slowly through the streets of London today to its last resting place in St. Paul's cathedral. The streets were lined with troops while hundreds of thousands of civilians stood with bared heads in a cold rain as the funeral cortege went by.

The cortege reached St. Paul's at noon where funeral services were held before a reverent throng, including King George. The body will be interred alongside the remains of Wellington, Nelson, Wolseley and other famous Britons.

Lord Roberts died from natural causes last week at the headquarters of the British army in France. He was 82 years old. The body was returned to England yesterday and last night it lay in his residence at Ascot, where brief services attended by Lady Roberts and her daughters were held. This morning the coffin was brought to London for public funeral.

WILL PROBE ELECTION.

Grand Jury Is Called for Investigation in Daviess County.

Washington, Ind., Nov. 19.—A surprise was sprung here yesterday when Judge J. W. Ogden in the circuit court entered an order calling the grand jury together on Wednesday, December 2. The body held a session only a few weeks ago and nothing of importance resulted. From what can be gleaned from remarks from democratic leaders, it is understood that the grand jury is to look into the conduct of the last election in Daviess county, these men openly charging that "boodle and booze" caused the defeat of the entire democratic ticket.

MINE WORKERS SEE PRESIDENT

Washington, Nov. 19.—Three officials of the United Mine Workers of America, fresh from the American Federation of Labor convention in Philadelphia, where a resolution was adopted calling on the federal government to put the Colorado mines into a receivership unless the operators accept the pending plan for settlement of the strike, conferred today with President Wilson at the white house. The delegation, consisting of John D. White, president; Wm. Greene, treasurer, and F. J. Hayes, vice president of the mine workers, were accompanied by Secretary Wilson, of the department of labor, who has had charge of the negotiations to bring about a settlement.

Recently it was said the president investigated the legality of a proposal of some labor leaders that the government close down the mines. Protests against such action were received from the representatives of the operators and it was denied at the white house that such a plan was being considered.

WHAT MR. TAFT IS DOING.

Just Sitting Up in Tree Watching Events, Says Ex-President.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—Wm. H. Taft told reporters who sought his views on national questions today that he "was sitting up in an apple tree watching the course of events." The former president is here to deliver three lectures at the University of Chicago. "I am having an infinitely better time as a spectator than I would be having as an actor in the happening," Prof. Taft said. "I am a pedagogue now and pedagogues are a quiet, contemplative lot, who can afford to sit back and wait for things to take place."

Dances and Plays for Churchgoers

Rev. J. A. Atkinson,

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 19.—Dancing and acting are to have a prominent place in the social program of St. Phillip's cathedral this winter, and St. Philip's is the most conservative church in the south.

The new rector, Rev. John Robert Atkinson, came here recently from Newark, N. J., and he brought with him many new ideas—one of them is that, as young people have a natural love for dancing, they should be allowed to dance under proper supervision, and, as they like plays, they should be provided with the right kind of plays.

"I do not want to hurt anyone's feelings," declares Rev. Atkinson, "I simply want to reach the people through the church."

STOCK SHIPMENTS CHECKED.

Thousands of Animals Ready for Market Held in Montana.

Billings, Mont., Nov. 19.—More than 40,000 sheep and 1,000 cattle, ready for market, are being held in the local yards on account of the quarantine against the foot and mouth disease. It is estimated that more than 80,000 head of sheep and several thousand cattle also are being fattened in neighboring valleys, none of which can be shipped under the present federal quarantine order.

Unless this stock can be moved shortly stockmen of this region say they face a loss estimated at a quarter of a million dollars.

VAN WERT BURGLARS SENTENCED

Van Wert, O., Nov. 19.—Robert Martin and John Kane, the two young men arrested in Pittsburgh, Pa., several weeks ago and brought back here for the burglary of the Van Wert Clothing company's store, from which they stole over $500 worth of merchandise, pleaded guilty in the criminal court here. Martin was sentenced to an indefinite term in the penitentiary at Columbus, and Kane was sentenced to an indefinite term in the reformatory at Mansfield, the court judging it best to separate them. The two men got from here to Lima with their booty and from that point expressed it to Pittsburgh. Van Wert officers got to the stuff in Lima before it could be put on a train and seized it, then went to Pittsburgh where they arrested the two men when they called at the express office expecting to get their loot.

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless "fruit laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When its little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here, so don't be fooled. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company."—Adv.

Stop the Thing that Causes It and the Cough will Stop Itself

A cough is really one of our best friends. It warns us that there is inflammation or obstruction in a dangerous place. Therefore, when you get a bad cough don't proceed to dose yourself with a lot of drugs that merely "stop" the cough temporarily by deadening the throat nerves. Treat the cause—heal the inflamed membrance. Here is a home-made remedy that gets right at the cause and will make an obstinate cough vanish more quickly than you ever thought possible.

Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth) in a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. This gives you a full pint of the most pleasant and effective cough remedy you ever used, at a cost of only 54 cents. No bother to prepare. Full directions with Pinex.

It heals the inflamed membranes so gently and promptly that you wonder how it does it. Also loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough and stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, rich in guaiacol, and is famous the world over for its healing effect on the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex," and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

Esther 2:1-12.

1 After these things, when the wrath of king Ahasuerus was appeased, he remembered Vashti, and what she had done, and what was decreed against her.

2 Then said the king's servants that ministered unto him, Let there be fair young virgins sought for the king;

3 And let the king appoint officers in all the provinces of his kingdom, that they may gather together all the fair young virgins unto Shushan the palace, to the house of the women, unto the custody of Hege the king's chamberlain, keeper of the women; and let their things for purification be given them:

4 And let the maiden which pleaseth the king be queen instead of Vashti. And the thing pleased the king; and he did so.

5 Now in Shushan the palace there was a certain Jew, whose name was Mordecai, the son of Jair, the son of Shimei, the son of Kish, a Benjamite;

6 Who had been carried away from Jerusalem with the captivity which had been carried away with Jeconiah king of Judah, whom Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon had carried away.

7 And he brought up Hadassah, that is, Esther his uncle's daughter: for she had neither father nor mother, and the maid was fair and beautiful; whom Mordecai, when her father and mother were dead, took for his own daughter.

8 So it came to pass, when the king's commandment and his decree was heard, and when many maidens were gathered together unto Shushan the palace, to the custody of Hegai, that Esther was brought also unto the king's house, to the custody of Hegai, keeper of the women.

9 And the maiden pleased him, and she obtained kindness of him; and he speedily gave her her things for purification, with such things as belonged to her, and seven maidens, which were meet to be given her, out of the king's house: and he preferred her and her maids unto the best place of the house of the women.

10 Esther had not shewed her people nor her kindred: for Mordecai had charged her that she should not shew it.

11 And Mordecai walked every day before the court of the women's house, to know how Esther did, and what should become of her.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 19,1914.

Cities, Too, Must Train for Farming.

In every big city you hear the sad story of shop girls, women office clerks and stenographers laid off, hungry and unable to get work. It happens most every winter—only this time war and scare have made it worse.

It's tough for a husky man to be out of a job in winter, but he can generally find something to do. Many of these girls can't find a thing that they can do. What must the winter mean for them? In a way they are victims of city life and city training. They know only one job and when that fails they are stranded.

A good many of these young women have come to the cities from small towns and from homes on the farm. They wished to be "independent." Alas, they are finding that nobody is independent; that everybody is somehow related to everybody else.

Now suppose the village and country schools had taught them how to earn a living from the soil; had fitted them to be wives of skilled farmers. Don't you think they would be better off? Our agricultural schools are filling up with lads from the cities who have tired of the city glamor and want to become out-of-door producers. But can this wholesome tendency continue if there are not women to go with them upon the farms?

Right now, in the west, there are enough bachelor ranchers and sturdy farm workers to provide homes for very many of these jobless women in the cities; but the latter aren't fitted for country life and there is no way by which they can be fitted and mated.

Application of the state law which provides for the revocation of automobile license on conviction of driving the machine while in an intoxicated condition, as has been done in a recent Fort Wayne instance, is to be thoroughly commeded. It will perhaps never be possible to entirely divest automobile driving from its perils, even under the most favorable circumstances and in the exercise of the utmost caution. But it is very clear that a drunken man has no business whatever at the wheel of a motor car. His elimination will remove a menace both to himself and to the general public.

Eighteen Terre Haute men have been arrested by federal authorities on election fraud charges, and their cases will be submitted to the United States grand jury at Indianapolis. Three hundred witnesses are to be summoned to testify regarding conditions in Terre Haute, and the developments are at least bound to be interesting. After all, Terre Haute is useful in giving that variety which is declared to be the spice of life, but it might at least vary the variety occassionally. Charges crookedness in elections there have become so frequent that they have lost much of their pristine originality.

Boys of the Hoagland school who are engaged in the study of forestry are getting some practical grasp of the subject at the same time by spraying trees under competent instruction. The idea is a splendid one, and values in education would be tremendously increased if it were possible to apply similar methods to still other branches of instruction that are not now included in vocational and manual training work.

When a politically good thing comes out of Pennsylvania, the fact is so rare as to make it noteworthy. The other day Philadelphia tried a remnant sale of 4 per cent. bonds direct to the people; $825,000 were offered at par, over the counter, first come first served. In an hour and a half the lot was exhausted and the public clamored for $500,000 more.

Testifying in an anti-trust suit at Chicago on the question of price-fixing, one witness explained that the policy of his company was to sell at a price sufficiently low that its competitor would not be happy in his business. There is one phase of the trust evil summed up in a strikingly true to life statement that is also refreshingly frank.

PRESS ON NEGROES AND SEGREGATION.

"Was No Segregation."

Boston Transcript:—"Until the Wilson administration came into power there was no segregation of negro clerks at Washington; there was no necessity for it, there was no demand for it—in short, there was no 'segregation issue.'"

"Segregation Justified."

New Orleans Times-Picayune:—"The segregation effected during this administration can be justified on any one of a number of grounds. It makes for efficiency in the public service and for better racial relations."

"Un-American Attitude."

Philadelphia Ledger:—"There can be no question that there has crept into the departments at Washington an un-American attitude toward colored people. The necessity for segregation has been forced, with the connivance of at least one member of the cabinet."

"Perfectly Reasonable."

Syracuse Herald:—"It appears that provision has been made in the treasury department for separating white and colored employes. Most people will think that it is a perfectly reasonable one."

"Trotter Not Tactful."

Boston Herald:—"Mr. Trotter is not a tactful man. He is very prompt to assign ineradicable prejudice to any one who does not comply with all his wishes. His address to the president, passages of which are now reproduced, was inexcusably offensive."

"The President."

Philadelphia Bulletin:—"Had the president been wise he would have checked the zeal of his southern department and bureau heads long ago and counselled them to follow the path of least resistance and let the modus vivendi, which was one of inoffensive segregation, stand."

"Bad Service."

Baltimore Sun:—"William Monroe Trotter, of Boston, and others of his kind are rendering their people a notably bad service by such insolent performances as that at the white house Thursday."

"Politics Responsible."

JOY WALKING.

(New York Press.)

Out in Kansas City, three or four years ago, they adopted police regulations to compel pedestrians to observe due caution in the streets. It was complained that too many were utterly regardless of such rules as keeping to the right or watching where they were going. The police adopted a program not only of holding up people that undertook to cross streets without giving attention, but that walked along the sidewalk reading newspapers and expecting other people to get out of the way.

Particularly was there effort to compel due regard of the obligation which is on the pedestrian to contribute his share toward safety at crossings. Every town has its proportion of walkers who deliberately take advantage of the supposed priority of their rights over those of vehicles to discommode and worry drivers. The countryman who seesawed his vehicle back and forth across the road because he hated to let a motor car pass was of the type of this pedestrian of the city. The number of these has been rapidly lessened in the country, but there are too many of them in the town.

Some regulations against "joy walking" would supplement excellently the rules for the government of drivers.

GOV. RALSTON IN A PROCLAMATION

Urges Thanksgiving Day Observance on Thursday, Nov. 26.

"The pilgrim fathers found cause for Thanksgiving in the fact that their lives were spared by the sea, although they landed on a barren rock and faced nature and man in their most savage state. They were thankful, although they had abandoned the peace of Europe and the comforts of civilization and had chosen the perils of pioneer life, because they were securing for themselves and their posterity the blessings of civil and religious liberty. And with humble and thankful hearts and a patience, fortitude and sacrifice unparalleled, they met and overcame the dangers and difficulties which compassed them about and laid broad and deep the foundations of republican institutions in American life and character.

"If our forefathers were so impressed by their faith in Divine guidance that they could establish a day of thanksgiving under such adverse conditions, how much more should we, who are heirs of their achievement and beneficiaries of their life struggles keep in our minds and hearts and maintain with all sincerity and humility the Thanksgiving day which they established.

"With all Europe at war, the American people have peace, because of the isolation and civilization created by our forefathers under the providence of God. Our lines of life and duty have fallen in pleasant places. We are the victims of no man's mad ambition, but are a free and prosperous people. We are friendly with all nations and have the respect of all. Our families are united, our sons and daughters are about us and we are happy in the peaceful pursuits of civil life.

"Now, therefore, I, Samuel M. Ralston, governor of the state of Indiana, in consideration of the many blessings, both national and individual, so deeply impressed upon us all at this special time, and in response to law and to a custom as wise as it is beautiful, do hereby designate and proclaim THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1914, as Thanksgiving day and I earnestly request that all business be suspended as far as possible; that the people assemble in their various places of worship; and that they do in spirit as well as in form have such regard for the day as will do it real honor, and inspire all our hearts to better things and nobler lives in the future.

"In witness whereof, I, Samuel M. Ralston, governor of Indiana, do hereunto set my hand and cause to be affixed the great seal of the state at the capitol in the city of Indianapolis, this 18th day of November, 1914.

(Seal)

"SAMUEL M. RALSTON, governor.

Many Millions of Dollars Worth of American Merchandise Still Has No Outlet.

PRICES SEEK LOWER LEVELS

Live-Wire Merchants Pick Up Much Winter Goods at One-Half and One-Third.

In spite of the Dry Goods Economist's claim that the crises in American manufacturing, due to the European war, has passed and that there is now an upward trend in prices, Fort Wayne's shrewd shoppers are today experiencing the novel sensation of buying standard merchandise at one-half and one-third the prices usually paid at this time of the year. This is due to the fact that The Grand Leader, for six weeks past, has been scouring the markets of the east and middle west for large quantities of surplus stocks and buying them in on a cash basis at much less than the usual price.

"People can't realize," said one of the firm's buyers, "the depressing effect of this war upon American manufacturers. The hostile fleets that have been sweeping the seas have put a stop to all our foreign commerce—completely bottling us up—and many American manufacturers in their patriotic endeavors to keep their mills running on full schedules have been piling up surplus stocks of merchandise, hoping against hope that each passing day would see some action taken by the warring nations that would enable them to ship this vast stock abroad. The nation owes a deep debt of gratitude to these patriotic men, who, in unparalleled hard times, have realized their duty to their employes and have kept their mills running on full time in the face of certain losses. But the war still continues with unabated fury and these manufacturers, in need of ready money, have asked the larger merchants of the entire nation to take hold of these surplus stocks and put them before the public in the right manner. When our buyers went east several weeks ago to buy in some of these stocks, they had a list of marvelous opportunities to choose from—merchandise of every description, merchandise whose name has been a household word for more than a generation, and offered at just about what it cost to make. This organization usually buys on a conservative basis, but the rare opportunity presented caused us to ignore that policy and plunge. We bought liberally for this store and the eight other stores of our organization. The special sales we have arranged for the remainder of this week and all during the coming week is for the purpose of disposing of this merchandise to the interest of the American manufacturer and the American consumer—that's why Fort Wayne women can buy winter goods at one-third and one-half the usual prices.

How long this demoralized condition will prevail is hard to say. We still continue to receive sacrifice offers on surplus stocks every day, but I am convinced that the crisis is past. The declining, by the warring nations, of contrabands of war, the destruction of the German cruiser Emden, and the almost complete mastery of the seas by the allied powers will open many of our former foreign markets, while South America—the new market—will consume vast quantities of our products when once we are able to secure ships to place it within her reach. I firmly believe that the bottom has been reached, that the depression due to the war has come to its end and that from now on there will be an upward trend in prices on all lines of merchandise. Shrewd people should make the most of today's opportunities presented by this great underselling store."

Why FIRMSETT GLASSES

Are better than the imitations on the market. The lenses are large, there is no unsightly metal projecting into the field of vision to obstruct or annoy. The lens boxes or gold part that is attached to the glass is copper lined (on which we hold a patent) thereby preventing disintegraion which cannot be prevented in any other manner. When cemented with Firmsett cement, they are there to stay. Call and see them.

This Blunder Has Proved Costly

To Many Builders--and Some Architects

The strongest evidence that we can advance in support of our contention that every Building should be piped for gas during construction can be found in our records, showing that we are sooer or later called upon to furnish gas to occupants of most every building in the city.

We can prove that the builder who for special reasons leaves gas out of his specifications, eventually uses or rents his buildings for a purpose it was not originally built for.

When it is finally necessary to install gas, it means a lot of tearing up of floors and walls, and a loss of time and money to all concerned

For this reason it is clearly a matter of plain economy to have every building piped for gas during process of construction.

We will be pleased to send one of our engineers free of charge to consult with any architect or builder in regard to special requirements, proper appliance or installation problems.

SEEMS READY TO TAKE THE RISK

Manchester, England, Nov. 19.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—Speculation on the possibility of a Zeppelin raid on London, the Manchester Guardian says there is a noticeable feeling of "disappointment" in England over the non-appearance of these airships. While the Zeppelin would not be really welcome, there were those at home so lungering for excitement that as a whole England seemed ready to take the risk.

It was coldly calculated that even if fifty Zeppelins were sent over, their concentrated devastation could not cover more than six acres—or if they dropped all their bombs on the "square mile" that makes up the city of London proper "they could kill something under one in a hundred of the people who happened to be there.

"Over the whole of London, taking the metropolitan police area, the chances of escaping would be about 70,000 to one. Over what may be described as the central area of London, within which a Zeppelin might be expected to operate, the chances of escape would be about 15,000 to one."

"Personally, I think it would be a good job if the Zeppelins did come. Even if they did drop a few bombs, the stimulus to recruiting would be worth what little was done," says Frank Hedges Butler, who is founder of the Royal Aero club.

"Among the most interesting of the war trophies that have found their way over here," says the Manchester Guardian, "are some specimens of the German lance. It is not a wooden pole, but an eleven or twelve-foot steel tube. It is very heavy and at first seems quite unmanageable to a man of ordinary strength. But two-thirds of the way down from the head towards the butt is a wrapping of thick twine to give a grip. And if you hold it there, and there only, you find that it is so evenly poised that, as one admiring observer remarked, you could write your name with it.

"There have been some descriptions of cases where these tubular lances have crumpled up in action like an overburdened steel mast on a racing yacht. Perhaps that may be accounted for by the peculiar shape of the head. There is no point or spear head of any kind. Instead there is a solid piece of iron shaped exactly like the end of a giant poker, square and quite blunt."

Residents of Carney's Point, Me., now receive their mail by trolley. Several of the residents have had built an endless chain which is suspended across the river to a point near their homes. Now the carrier slides the mail bags over the wire and the residents sort the contents.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 19.—Jurisdictional disputes in many trades held the attention today of the delegates to the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor. The committee on adjustment, to whom had been referred most of the troubles regarding jurisdiction, reported on thirty-nine cases. Some were amicably adjusted, in other instances the disputes were referred by the committee to the executive council for final adjustment, and about ten cases were submitted to the delegates to be threshed out on the floor of the convention.

The dispute between the International Typographical union and the bookbinders' organization over control of the mailers employed in the printing business was referred to the executive council for adjustment after much debate.

The convention agreed to give support to the defense of the men who were arrested in Michigan in connection with the copper strike.

NEW FILIBUSTER PLOT IS NIPPED

Laredo, Tex., Nov. 19.—Discovery of an alleged filibustering plot against Nuevo Laredo, Mex., was announced here today. Four Mexicans were arrested here late yesterday and another was arrested in San Antonio. They were said to be former Villa men. They were charged with recruiting on American soil.

The Mexicans were held to await an examination before United States Commissioner Foster here on Monday. Within the last two months there have been several reports of attempts to organize filibustering expeditions here. Definite proof failed to develop, but with the publication of each report the apparent filibustering activity disappeared.

With the completion of the line from Denver to San Francisco there is now a continuous commercial telephone line stretching across the continent from New York to the Pacific coast.

Wanamaker Sends Aid to War Victims

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 19.—Cheering like a school boy, John Wanamaker, former postmaster general and founder of the Wanamaker stores, was at the dock when the "mercy ship" Thelma sailed recently for Belgium to give succor to starving war victims.

The Thelma carried 2,000 tons of supplies—food and clothing and other necessaries, all donated by Wanamaker to the suffering Belgians. Wanamaker expects to send a second ship to the war zone with more food and clothes for the widows and orphans of soldiers.

Washington, Nov. 19.—Two thousand Carranza troops voluntarily surrendered to Gen. Villa when he took Leon, and other garrisons. All along the line people are changing allegiance to the northern chief, as he marches on toward Mexico City.

American Consular Agent Carothers, with Villa, reported there had been no fighting since the southward movement began and ventured his opinion that there would be no hostilities because the rank and file of the constitutionalist army seemed to favor Villa.

Leon was taken yesterday without the firing of a shot and other reports tell of the occupation of Irapuato and Guanajuato also without resistance.

No report was received here of the alleged interruption by Villa of the telegraph conference between Gen. Gutierrez and Gen. Gonzales, but it was the opinion that Villa had ordered all telegraph communication with the troops south of him to cease so that the enemy would be unable to learn of the oncoming of his forces.

The general expectation in official circles today was that Gen Villa would reach Mexico City without much difficulty, fighting perhaps one battle as his troops clashed with those of Obregon or Gonzales near the capital.

BRESNAHAN IS MANAGER.

Player Will Take Charge of Chicago National Leaguers.

Cincinnati, Nov. 19.—Roger Bresnahan was today appointed manager of the Chicago National league baseball club following a meeting between President Thomas, of the club; Charles P. Taft, owner of the majority of the stock of the club, and Bresnahan, who succeeds Henry O'Day. Bresnahan signed a contract for three years but the figures in this document were not announced. Bresnahan was formerly catcher for the New York Nationals, former manager of the St. Louis Nationals and last season was catcher for the team he today signed to manage.

ALL RUSSIA NOW IS ACTUALLY DRY

Petrograd, Nov. 19.—There is prohibition in Russia today, prohibition which means that not a drop of vodka, whisky, brandy, gin or any other strong liquor is obtainable from one end to the other of a territory populated by 150,000,000 people and covering one-sixth of the habitable globe.

The story of how strong drink has been utterly banished from the Russian empire was related to the Associated Press by Michael Demitrovitch Tchelisheff, the man directly responsible for putting an end to Russia's great vice, the vodka habit.

It should be said in the beginning that the word prohibition in Russia must be taken literally. Its use does not imply a partly successful attempt to curtail the consumption of liquor—resulting in drinking in secret places, the abuse of medical licenses and general evasion and subterfuge.

It does mean that a vast population that consumed $1,000,000,000 worth of vodka a year, whose ordinary condition has been described by Russians themselves as ranging from a slight degree of stimulation upward, has been lifted almost in a day from a drunken inertia to sobriety. The nation has been compelled, virtually overnight, to abandon its enormous daily consumption of vodka, a liquor that is almost pure alcohol, and become abstermious to the extent of letting no liquor pass its lips.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

"Little Lost Sister" Tonight and Twice Tomorrow.

In the history of theatrical ventures the arranging to stage "Little Lost Sister," the gripping story of adventure by Virginia Brooks, now published in book form, is indeed one of the most daring, if not the most daring.

The producers and owners of this play, Messrs. Richsen and Gazzolo, of Chicago, decided to "go the limit." Expenses were forgotten. The company was chosen and sent to study the red light district of the Windy City. Edward E. Rose, the man who dramatized the book, spent his entire time during the past summer coaching the cast and directing them into the dangerous highways of the underworld.

"The cast who plays 'Little Lost Sister,'" he declared, "are going to see vice conditions as they exist before I will consent to rehearse the play." He had his way.

"Seven Keys to Baldpate" at the Majestic Saturday.

This is one of the last speeches by the leading character in George M. Cohan's new "farce of mystery," called "Seven Keys to Baldpate," which is booked for presentation at the Majestic theater Saturday matinee and night. The character, a writer of "best sellers," is speaking of his latest book.

The same words might be applied to Mr. Cohan's new piece, which is said to be one of the cleverest bits of writing he has ever done, and one which promises to lead all others in popularity. And that is saying a great deal.

As told in the form of farce, "Seven Keys to Baldpate," which Mr. Cohan made from Earl Derr Biggers' story of the same name, is not alone highly entertaining; it is thrilling and by far the most entertaining of his plays of the past half dozen years.

AT THE TEMPLE.

With the Victoria Four, a combination of harmony and fun lauded by the press of the great cities of the country as one of the stellar acts of vaudeville, as the headline attraction the Temple has a considerable bill for the last half of the week. The singing Victorian comedians have come to Fort Wayne with a great reputation as amusement fashioners and if they come within a mile of living up to their advance notices a real hit will be the result. Along with this quartet of vocalists the Temple is presenting on the bill that opened this afternoon the Four Konerz Brothers, a double duo of sensational hoop rollers and diabolo tossers. Sumery, Bush and Robinson are on the bill in their musical skit, "Fun in a Music Shop," which has been one of the emphatic hits of the United Booking company's circuit this season. Vinie Bailey, the charming singing comedienne, will be heard in a group of popular songs while Lennitt and Wilson will put on their celebrated bar act.

On Saturday afternoon the Temple again will observe school children's matinee. The present bill is one that is calculated to make a big hit with the youngsters. Of course at this matinee the price for the kiddies is to be but five cents.

The Dorcas ladies of Trinity English Lutheran church will give a penny supper Saturday night from 5 to 8. 2t

The Messrs. Stouder and Barnett will have to change the name of their new theater now in course of construction, is the belief of local postoffice authorities. There are two Palace theaters in Fort Wayne, one a moving picture house located at Fourth and Wells streets, and the new house now being erected. Of course, if the moving picture house manager agrees to change the name of his theater then the name of Fort Wayne's beautiful new theater can continue to be known as the Palace.

In this instance Shakespeare's saying that "there's nothing in a name," does not hold true. Already there has been much confusion in the delivery of the mail, for it is nearly an every day occurrence that the moving picture theater gets mail intended for the owners of the new theater and vice versa. As a result the postal authorities are going to take a hand in an effort to remedy the situation.

AT THE EMPRESS.

This afternoon marks the opening of the new bill for the last half of the week at the Empress and on this bill appear two unusual foreign acts which are visible in this country because of the European war. They are Mlle. Fleurette in an artistic posing novelty and Ergotti and Liliputians. Both of these acts were big successes in Europe before the war broke out and came over to this country because of the war. The Lilliputians are physical marvels and they have a snappy, interesting act.

The Three Brownies will present the acme of artistic roller skating for the last half of the week at the Empress. Edmund Hayes and company appear in Mr. Hayes' latest laugh-maker, "The Piano Movers." Armstrong and Ford, those laughable parties, present an act entitled "The English Johnny and the Cop."

AT THE LYRIC.

The Lyric this afternoon opened a new box full of novelties for the local theater-going world. King and Brown, the acrobatic comedians; Mable Merritt, the saxaphone queen and acrobatic dancer, and T. F. Alexander, the famous monologuist, are on this bill. The box of tricks of course includes for this afternoon and evening another series of adventures in which Our Mutual Girl is involved. "Shep's Race With Death" is another superb picture on this program. In this picture the great canine actor belonging to the Mutual troupe saves an entire family from annihilation in front of an express train. "His Musical Career" is the Keystone comedy feature picture for the day.

"HIS UNCLE'S WILL."

One of the most delightful comedy-dramas conceivable is "His Uncle's Will." Acted by those two talented Universal stars, Robert Leonard and Ella Hall, this dainty romance will give one of the pleasantest hours imaginable. It tells a story of youth and love; of how the affection of two young lovers was almost thwarted by the dictates of a certain clause in the will of the boy's uncle, which said that he must marry a girl whom he had never seen or lose the inheritance. He accepts the latter course, and after he has eloped with his sweetheart, after taking her from the school where she is confined, he returns proudly home, only to find that his bride is the supposedly unknown girl mentioned in the will.

The other number of this excellent program will introduce another of the inimitable Sterling comedies, under the caption, "Noodles' Return." The orchestra will contribute two very popular late successes, the "Invincible Eagle" march, and the much syncopated "Ragtime Everywhere." Miss Lyons will be heard in Cadman's wonderfully beautiful love song, "At Dawning."

Moving by parcel post is the latest use to be made of the mails in Grass Valley, Cal. A family moving there from Nevada sent most of their household goods by mail. It will take several days for the rural carrier to deliver all of the parcels.

AT THE JEFFERSON.

A SENSATIONAL HIT.

One of the most notable successes ever registered at this popular playhouse was noted yesterday in the appearance of Lydia Borelli, the celebrated Italian actress, in the filminized version of Henry Bataille's sensational story of Parisian life and love, "The Naked Truth." As Lolette, the artist's model, in this unique play, Miss Borelli treated us to some acting the like of which we have not seen for many a day. Her art is distinctified by a certain charm that establishes her firmly in the estimation before she has been on the screen for a minute. She is an adherent of the Bernhardt school of expression, and many little peculiarities of her art were reminiscent of that distinguished artiste.

Setting in the photo-play are on the elaborate scale, the majority of the outdoor scenes revealing backgrounds of surpassing beauty. It is without a doubt one of the most surprising and distinct film-plays we have seen this season. Today and tonight marks the last appearances.

Miss Mary West, who for ten years has been identified with some of the best art stores in the country, and for the past three years has been in Winnipeg, Canada, has come to Fort Wayne to take charge of similar work in connection with the Parrot studios. Miss West is familiar with high class work in watercolors, oils and reproductions in mezzo-tints and photogravures and talks well about things of the kind. When Mr. Parrot moves into his new quarters in West Berry street Miss West will have an opening and will show many beautiful things in the art line. Miss West is a Virginian by birth and is personally quite charming to meet.

HARRISON STREET BRIDGE CONTRACT

At figures practically $10,000 under the $80,000 appropriation made by the Allen county council for that purpose County Commissioners James D. Butt, William C. Schwier and Albert J. Black on Thursday afternoon awarded to the Carmichael & Cryder Construction company, of St. Louis, the contract for building the Harrison street bridge over the St. Mary's river. The successful firm's bid, made in competition with half a score of other bidders, is $70,474 for the work complete and the bridge will be constructed upon the "county plans" prepared by Engineer Asa W. Grosvenor, of Fort Wayne.

The Carmichael Cryder company will furnish a bond at once for the performance of the work and operations will begin this winter if the weather does not become too severe to permit excavations to be made.

Will Open Long Thoroughfare.

The Harrison street bridge will realize the long-held dreams of the people of Fort Wayne and especially those residing on the northside, for it will join the now separated parts of the only thoroughfare that will pass entirely through the city from north to south. The fact that the Harrison street subway, under the Pennsylvania and Wabash railroads is completed and that Harrison street is the outlet from the city's center of the Lincoln highway to the north and west gives added importance to the construction of the new bridge.

The bids for the work ranged from $70,474 to $89,950. Four of the bids immediately following the successful proposal in order of amount were very close together and all of the contractors who submitted proposals fr the wrk were hungry to land the contract.

The Bids Submitted.

The bids submitted for construction of the bridge were as follows:

On the "county plans" by Engineer A. A. Grosvenor, of Fort Wayne—Dravo Construction company, Pittsburg, Pa., $80,950; O'Lake & Hagan, Chicago, $84,766.50; A. J. Yawger & Company, Indianapolis, $79,440; Cleary White Construction company, Chicago, $79,341; Indiana Engineering & Construction Company, Fort Wayne, $74,989; Hickey Brothers, St. Louis, $74,947.50; J. W. Turner Improvement Company, Des Moines, Iowa, $73,200; H. J. Collier Company, Cleveland, Ohio, $72,874.58; Carmichael Investment & Engineering Company, St. Louis, Mo., $70,474.

On the plans by Daniel B. Luten, Indianapolis—National Concrete Company, Indianapolis, $73,298.

On the plans by Adams & Cummins, Detroit, Mich.—Hanneman Brothers, Detroit, $79,900.

The Barker Construction company, of New Castle, Ind., submitted a bid to build the bridge according to any plans and specifications chosen by the commissioners on a basis of 15 per cent. commission on the actual cost of construction. This proposal was not considered. The Barker company built the Leo bridge and has done other work in the county.

Lively Interest and Big Crowd.

The office of the board of commissioners was crowded when at 10 o'clock Messrs. Butt, Schwier and Black entered upon the work of opening the bids. Besides the representatives of the concerns submitting proposals, there were many of the county officials, Messrs. Singrey, Kelly and Hilgeman, of the city board of works, City Engineer Frank M. Randall and a big delegation of citizens. The work of opening and tabulating the twelve bids did not require much time and the commissioners announced at its completion that the proposals would be taken under advisement until 1 o'clock, when the award would be announced.

Will Be County's Finest Bridge.

The bridge that is to be built over the St. Mary's river at Harrison street will be Allen county's largest and finest structure of the sort. It is to be of reinforced concrete construction, of stately and beautiful but severe design. It will consist of one span of 136 feet and four smaller spans of fifty feet each. The great arch will span the normal bed of the St. Mary's, while the four smaller arches will carry the bridge over the low ground between the bank of the stream and the embankment on the north. Every provision has been made to afford room for flood flows and the five arches all are carried from two to five feet above the maximum flood stage of March, 1913, which is the highest water of which there is any record here. The bridge will have a brick paved roadway thirty-two feet wide between curbs and will be flanked on either side by a seven-foot walk.

The Carmichael Cryder company is a firm of good repute and has done much big work. It constructed the concrete work of the Harrison street subway bridge for the Wabash railroad and is now at work on the Taylor street subways. The concern is thoroughly equipped for the work and has a well organized force. A representative of the company stated to the commissioners in explaining the low bid that the company could afford to make its proposal away down in order to keep its organization intact. All material can be delivered on the Lake Shore track at the north approach to the work and handled by power carrier. The Carmichael Cryder company is owner of fine gravel pits at Eaton, Ind.

Connersville, Ind., Nov. 19.—Phillip Braun, jr., son of the mayor of this city and popular in the younger set, was the principal witness today in the trial of Ivy Reynolds, accused of killing his wife by poison on February 16 last. Braun has been frequently mentioned in the case as the man to whom Dora Gerber, of Morencie, Mich., who was married to Reynolds eleven days after the death of the first Mrs. Reynolds, addressed her letters intended for Reynolds.

Braun testified that the defendant asked permission a year ago to use Braun's postoffice box for letters from girls in Michigan. Braun said he accidentally opened one of the Reynolds letters which was from Dora Gerber and which began, "My Dear Husband."

The witness swore that he had had practically no correspondence with either Miss Gerber or Miss Marie Huston, also of Morencie, who testified yesterday. He also stated that Reynolds arranged the trip to Toledo, Ohio, where they were to meet the two girls, but Braun did not go, Reynolds keeping the appointment, as testified yesterday by Miss Huston.

More correspondence of Reynolds was introduced which the defendant wrote from the jail to Braun, was read in court. The letter purported to be an outline of what testimony Reynolds wished Braun to give at the trial. The letter contained the propositions that Braun, not Reynolds, carried on the correspondence with the Michigan girls; that Braun not Reynolds was in love with Dora Gerber, but that Reynolds, in desperation after the death of his wife, stole the affections of Miss Gerber and married her, not for love, but in order to maintain his home. Braun branded these propositions as false.

New York, Nov. 19.—The officials of the stock exchange announced this afternoon that because of unforeseen difficulties the plan to reopen the exchange for dealings in bonds has been indefinitely postponed. Earlier in the day it was officially stated that trading in this class of securities would be resumed on Saturday subject to minimum prices.

Soon after this announcement was made officials of the exchange received inquiries from various parts of the country, some of which stated that the proposed opening did not allow sufficient time for bond dealers to make adequate arrangements.

It was also intimated that pressure had been brought upon the exchange by prominent banking interests which are said to have declared that domestic and financial conditions were not yet sufficiently stable to permit such operation with safety. It was learned also that soon after the announcement of the proposed reopening on Saturday large blocks of bonds were offered in the unlisted market at prices several points below par, indicating that a return to normal trading might be attended by considerable liquidation. These and other factors, when brought to the attention of governors of the stock exchange, resulted in a hasty cancellation the plans previously announced.

THREE DIE IN EXPLOSION.

Employes of Nitroglycerine Plant Horribly Mangled.

Robinson, Ill., Nov. 19.—An explosion in the Dumont nitroglycerine plant near here this morning resulted in the death of three men. They were the only men in the plant at the time. The men's names were given as J. F. Stevenson, John Weber and Fred Herkle. Weber was blown to atoms, Stevenson's arms and legs were torn off and Herkle was decapitated. All had families.

An engine in the power plant of the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company broke down this morning and as a result the street car service was tied up for about twenty minutes, elevators in the office buildings and department stores were put out of commission and there was no electric current to be had until the engine was repaired.

OPEN HARRISON STREET SUBWAY

Way Under South Tracks is Now Free for Public Traffic.

It has been a long, tiresome and vexing wait, but it is at an end. The Harrison street subway is now open to public traffic and that thoroughfare is now in commission unbrokenly from the St. Mary's river to the south rim of the city. Thursday afternoon, after making an inspection of the brick pavement in the driveway under the Wabash tracks, the part completed a few days ago, the board of works and city engineer decided the work was in condition to bear heavy traffic and the barricades were ordered thrown down. The excavation for the subway was begun in July, 1913. The Pennsylvania railroad completed its bridge work a year ago, but the tardiness of the Wabash has delayed opening of the subway until this time. The opening will greatly relieve the traffic congestion on Calhoun street.

STRONG FOR PUBLIC OWNERSHIP.

Secretary Wessel, of City Light and Power Works, Is Back.

John Wessel, jr., secretary and general manager of the city light and power works of Fort Wayne, has returned from Philadelphia, where last week he attended the convention of mayors and other municipal officers that assembled to discuss means to improve the position of cities in their relations to public utility corporations. Mayor W. J. Hosey and Secretary Wessel were the representatives from Fort Wayne. Secretary Wessel says the convention was of intense interest and that its effects are likely to be far-reaching and permanent and perhaps revolutionary in public policy with reference to public utilities of every sort.

"The convention finally wound up in a blaze of enthusiasm for municipal ownership of utilities," said Secretary Wessel to the Sentinel. "It was not called for the special purpose of forwarding any such sentiment and it was not unanimously so; but the sentiment for public ownership grew as the discussions proceeded and as the delegates mingled with each other and exchanged views. You can say that what Fort Wayne has accomplished during the brief six years of municipal ownership and operation of the lighting plant has attracted attention all over the country and the officials and others at the convention wanted to know more about it. That convention is going to make history. It started something and there will be a new deal in the municipal relation to public utilities."

DAIRY INSPECTION CONTINUES.

City Health Department Guarding Against Cattle Scourge.

Chief Inspector E. A. Schott, of the meat and dairy division of the city health department, and Deputies Josse, Brown and Leeuw, on Thursday continued their work of inspecting the distributing and producing dairies in Allen county west of Fort Wayne to the Whitley county line as a precaution against the foot and mouth disease. Wednesday the dairy farms on the Leesburg and Illinois roads were inspected from the county boundary to Fort Wayne and no trace of the disease was found in any case. The inspection corps is working along other main highways Thursday. This is a precautionary measure and has to do only with protection of Fort Wayne's milk supply. Incidentally the inspectors will gain a deal of valuable information respecting dairy conditions in the western part of the county.

TO BE DEPUTY CITY CLERK.

When Loraine Boerger, deputy city clerk, takes his position as deputy under Auditor Will Johnson the first of the coming year, he will be succeeded in the city office by Leroy Swartz, until recently an employe in the offices of the S. F. Bowser Oil Tank works in Fort Wayne. Mr. Swartz came to Fort Wayne about two years ago from Columbia City. Loraine Boerger has been deputy since his father, G. W. Boerger, took office of city clerk early last January.

RECORD FOR TREE PLANTING.

City Forester Carl J. Getz stated Thursday that when his force completes its campaign of tree-planting, which is still in progress, the record for this season would surpass any other year in the number of shade trees planted in Fort Wayne. More than one thousand trees will have been placed in the ground during the present year.

THREE DEAD; FIVE INJURED.

Caving Trench at Cleveland Entombs Several Victims.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 19.—Three men are dead, and five injured seriously when a trench caved in at Broadway and Independence road, shortly after noon today. Two of the injured may not recover. Eight others who were in the trench, but who had quit work for lunch a few minutes before the cave-in at first were thought to have been entombed.

FILING DIVORCE SUITS HER HABIT

Filing divorce suits against him is a habit with Mrs. Barbara C. Harrod, according to a general denial and cross complaint just entered in the superior court by John C. Harrod. Mrs. Harrod began action for divorce not long since and the husband now comes forward with his own tale of woe. He says that his wife has treated him in a cruel and inhuman manner by calling him vile and abusive names without cause or provocation, has several times refused to live with him and on numerous occasions has filed against him complaints for divorce, but before trying them would have such suits dismissed, much to his embarrassment and humiliation. He charges that she is always nagging at him and finding fault and that they are thoroughly incompatible and it is impossible longer to live with her. They have no children.

Notes of the Courts.

Louis Burlage has made sworn representations to the superior court that he is no longer able to pay the sum of $15 monthly to the support of his divorced wife, as ordered by the court, and he asks a modification of the order. He says his working time has been cut from twelve to eight hours a day.

In the circuit court judgment for $500 has been given the plaintiff in the suit of Noah Wallace vs. the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company. The suit was for $5,000 damages for injuries.

In the superior court John W. White has instituted action against Leon Stafford to quiet title to real estate.

Hon. John W. Eggeman, judge of the circuit court, is sitting as special judge in the superior court to try the case of James S. Peddicord vs. James F. Conway. The suit involves a real estate transaction.

BEST ROADS IN STATE.

In an informal intercourse with County Commissioners James D. Butt, William C. Schwier and Albert J. Black, Wednesday, Luke W. Duffey, secretary of the Indiana road commission, declared Allen county had the best system of roads of any county in Indiana. This declaration followed a trip over many miles of Allen county highways Wednesday, when the commissioners took Secretary Duffey, Assistant Secretary Charles Carter and James Voshell, the road expert of the federal government, out on a tour of inspection of the improved roads of this county. Mr. Duffey said that for a long time Wayne county, Michigan, had been the last word in modern highway construction and that it had been the Mecca of all investigators. "It is no longer necessary to go to Wayne county to see the best examples of modern road building," said Mr. Duffey. "Allen county, Indiana, has as good roads and I shall tell all who make inquiry of me that they can come here to see the best." The commissioners are much gratified by this praise and Commissioner Schwier says that the Allen county board will take pleasure in showing the modern roads here to any who come here to see them and will explain them to all inquirers.

SINKS IN COLLISION.

Tampa, Fla., Nov. 19.—The steamer Mildred, plying between Tampa and Fort Myers, was sunk in collision with the schooner Brazos early today off Egmont Key, five miles southwest of the Tampa harbor entrance. The Mildred's passengers and crew, fifteen in all, were rescued. The Brazos is reported to have been badly damaged.

When the Mildred settled on the bottom her topmost deck was just above water. The passengers and crew remained there for five hours until taken off by a pilot boat.

Misses Nora Shreve, Dessie White, Daisy Hauck and Elizabeth Harkenrider were recent hostesses at a party for the girls of the offices of the Wayne Knitting mills. The party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Tourgee, with whom Miss Harkenrider makes her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Koopman, of 1211 Jones street, are quietly celebrating their fortieth wedding anniversary with a family dinner at 6 o'clock this evening. Mr. and Mrs. Koopman were married on Nov. 19, 1874 in Emanuel Lutheran church by Rev. Stubnatzy.

Over 2,400 garments, the number including a few blankets of cotton and a very small number of sheets and pillowcases have been sent to the Needlework guild and are now on exhibit in the assembly room of the court house. The demand for aid is greater than ever this winter and the call for children's shoes is so much ahead of the supply that the guild officers are at their wits' ends to know what to do. The annual business meeting of the guild will be held tomorrow afternoon in the same place.

the pilot of the engine and carried six hundred feet west of the crossing, and the enginemen removed the body of the husband as soon as they were able to bring the heavy train to a standstill.

Thrown from the Pilot.

Mrs. Leslie's body was thrown from the pilot ten feet east of where the train was stopped. Both were badly mangled and indicated that death was instantaneous.

The bodies of Dr. and Mrs. DeHayes were carried twenty-five feet and were thrown with the top of the automobile against a switch stand and were found there. Dr. DeHayes had his head torn almost off and his body was broken and bruised until it bore little resemblance to a human body.

Romance in Sad Affair.

There was a tinge of romance in the sad affair that was particularly touching. Dr. DeHayes and his wife became estranged about fourteen years ago and up to within a few months ago he had been living in the south and had spent the greater portion of his time teaching school in Mississippi.

Through the efforts of the daughter who went to her death with them a reconciliation had been effected and the couple had practically started on a second honeymoon when they were hurled to a most horrible death.

Parts of the automobile were strewn along the track for six hundred feet and the engine, radiator, one of the wheels, the axles and part of the body reduced to a mass were found when the train was finally stopped.

Balky Automobile Plays Part.

A balky automobile played a big part in the tragedy, which had practically suspended business here during the day and which was discussed in all its awful details on the street corners and in the homes.

Both Dr. Leslie and his beautiful young wife were immensely popular in social and religious circles here and their sudden and horrifying death spread a pall of mourning over the community.

When he went early this morning to get his automobile to drive his wife's parents to Van Wert to catch a train for Cincinnati from where they expected to continue their journey south he found something wrong with it and after a number of attempts to crank it he abandoned it and borrowed one from C. M. Smith, an undertaker, in whose parlors the bodies lay after they had been removed from the scene of the accident.

Top Up and Curtains Down.

The top was up and the curtains down and the delay occasioned by the refusal of Dr. Leslie's automobile to work probably caused him to risk driving across the tracks ahead of the fast train, although he knew very well the time it was due.

He approached from the south and there was nothing to obstruct his view and he most probably could have seen the glare of the headlight as the heavy train came bearing down upon him. Unless it was that the noise of his own engine, the fact that the curtains prevented him from seeing the approaching train or whether he thought that it was not near enough to strike him before he could clear the tracks the people are at a loss to account for the awful tragedy.

Nobody Saw the Accident.

There were no witnesses to the accident. The only person near the scene at the time was J. B. Reynolds, agent here for the Pennsylvania company. He was in the ticket office engaged in his work and heard the train go thundering by and paid no more attention, as he heard nothing of the impact and did not know that the four persons had been killed until the trainmen returned to the depot.

Coroner C. D. Sidle was called and viewed the remains after which those of Dr. Leslie and his wife were removed to the Smith undertaking parlors and those of the others to the establishment conducted by B. F. Hoblet.

Examinations revealed the most extensive injuries and each of the four unfortunates received several wounds that would independently of the others have caused death. The train was running exactly on its time and a high rate of speed. The general speed through the town is from forty-five to fifty miles an hour.

Dr. G. M. Leslie Arrives.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie had no children and had just moved into a flat above their drug store building, recently erected. That the family had eaten a hasty breakfast in preparation for the trip was evidenced by the manner in which they left the house.

Engineer Michael Lacey and members of the train crew returned to the depot and gave notice of the accident and after it had been arranged to care for the bodies he left.

The train, which is due at Convoy at 5:45, passed that point at the usual speed on time. Lacey said he saw the automobile coming down from the north and gave the usual warning, but failed to attract notice from the occupants and Mr. Lacey says that he does not believe they saw the train at all. He was unable to stop and the engine struck the automobile about the center with terrific force. The pilot was driven backwards, under the pilot beam, all of the slats being broken, and the end of the coupler bore marks of having struck the automobile also. Engineer Lacey stopped the train and ran it back to the scene, but there was nothing he could do for the unfortunate people and he brought the train on to the city.

Mingled with the sandwiches, pieces of cake, pickles, etc., which comprised a lunch for Dr. and Mrs. DeHayes, found on the pilot beam were human brains and pieces of flesh, making the place where some of the victims struck the front of the locomotive.

May Have Seen Train.

One theory has been advanced that Leslie, who was driving the car, saw the approaching train, but did not realize that it was so close. As a result he speeded up his car in an effort to get across. The automobile was caught square in the middle and the occupants were hurled in every direction.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie had only been married about a year. They were exceedingly happy and devoted to each other. No newly married couple ever had a more encouraging outlook for the future. The Leslie family is one of the oldest in northwestern Ohio. The elder Leslie has been in the drug business in Convoy for years.

GOVERNMENT ISSUES WARNING.

Washington, Nov. 19.—Warning to cattle men to beware of men posing as representatives of the federal government in its fight against foot and mouth disease went out today from the department of agriculture. Reports to the department says persons who claim to represent the government are appearing in infected states with so-called cures. Officials say there is no specific cure for the disease and that the only way to prevent its spread is to keep well herds from contact with infected ones. The warning cautions farmers to make sure that men claiming to represent the department are actually federal inspectors.

Reliable and Crisp News Always

This is a story of a boy who was kicked out because he was too small to play the game, and, by proving that, even in football, brains beat brawn, became the National of the gridiron. It is the story of Bob Zuppke, coach of the victorious University of Illinois team, which stands out in the limelight as the most remarkable team of the year.

Bob Zuppke was small. When he was a kid the big boys bumped him around, ran over him and scolded him, telling him to run along with the kids as he wouldn't get hurt. And, when they bumped him extraordinary hard, he blinked back the tears and dived at the legs of fellows who weighed twice as much as he did and brought them to earth.

When he went to the University of Wisconsin he was among the first to respond to the call for volunteers for the varsity team.

But he was too small. However, in colleges like Wisconsin they have men who weigh the spirit and the brain along with the flesh. They realized that Zuppke's spirit outweighed his body. Still there were the traditions of Pat O'Dea and other great gridiron warriors to uphold, and what could a bantamweight do?

As a reward for his loyalty and his courage Zuppke was permitted to play on the scrubs. You who never have played on the scrub perhaps do not know what it means. The scrub is the punching bag of the 'varsity team; the sparring partner who must take all blows and strike only as he is directed.

In his senior year Wisconsin realized that it had overlooked a gem because it was only half a carat and that it was flawless, while the four carat stones were flecked and some yellow. So Zuppke was permitted to help by advising and he came away from the Badgers with never a "W" to show for his football work, but a record that many would envy.

All this time Zuppke thought he knew football. When he left school he had a chance to prove it. He went to Muskegon as a high school instructor and gave his team the Michigan championship. Oak Park high school, near Chicago, needed a coach and Zuppke was obtained. What he did with that high school team amazed the followers of football. He developed more great football players in three years than any coach in America ever turned out.

He turned out Macomber, now of Illinois; he developed Ghee, the most sensational quarter now in the east, who has been leading Dartmouth's amazing attack; he turned out Pete Russell, hero of the University of Chicago this season. He had Goeltiz and half a dozen others who have gone from Oak Park high to make glad the hearts of the coaches of great universities. Oak Park high this season is represented on seven of the teams of great universities. A diploma from Oak park high under Zuppke entitled a freshman in any big university to almost human consideration. He took Oak park from New England to the Pacific coast and defeated the best "prep" teams in the country.

His success at Oak park attracted the attention of the University of Illinois athletic authorities. Illinois has been as unfortunate in football as it has been fortunate in baseball. It has more and better football material than almost any school in the west and yet has been a consistent loser.

Last year Zuppke took the team and developed it into a formidable eleven, although the material was not of the best for Illinois. It looked good, but lacked experience. This year Zuppke, with a veteran squad to depend upon as a foundation, commenced to work out his theories. His success has wrecked a lot of football traditions and, in fact, is the biggest triumph western football ever has known.

If the Jackson independent football team, booked to play the Friars at league park on Sunday afternoon, had no other incentive to win it would put its strongest lineup in the field just to defeat the locals because Louis Island is on the roster.

Ever notice how hard any sort of an athletic combination will play against an old teammate? The rule holds good in all lines of athletic endeavor. Just let a baseball pitcher switch from one club to another in the same league and watch his old pards go after him.

They had rather hang up a victory against a former member of their ranks than against an entire stranger and this feeling will urge Jackson to do its best in this particular encounter.

One of the chief reasons for securing the services of the little Indian quarterback for the Friar outfit was the showing he made against the squad here, and naturally the fellows who played with him are just a bit sore about it.

From a Jackson standpoint it looks like this. In seeking players the athletic board naturally endeavored to take from the other clubs the stars of its lineup. Now the independents are imbued with the idea that they can show the Friars that they did not pick the star or weaken the opposition by taking away this player and they will try to do it.

The Fort Wayne view of the situation is widely different. There is loyalty in the ranks and the players want to show that the Indian in changing base hooked up with a better organization than the one he left and his interests wil be at stake in the event.

Just what kind of football the Jackson club will play is a problem that will be solved only after the two clubs have clashed and staged the regulation gridiron encounter. Island says the club is stronger than it was when it played here and he ought to know as he worked out with the squad before he came to Fort Wayne.

Chris Chambers' bad ankle has mended so that he will be able to get back in the game and Ross has recovered from his injuries which insures that the team will enter the conflict with its regulars on the field.

The coaches are taking no chances. They do not know the playing strength of the opposition and for that reason have the men in as good condition as they have been for any of the high class clubs that have been seen in Fort Wayne.

CONCORDIA TEAM KEYED FOR GAME

With a record of two defeats in its meetings last season with the Zanesville club, Concordia college is all keyed up for the battle on Friday night when the season will be officially opened at the college gymnasium and an effort made to wipe out at least one of the setbacks administered by big Vaughn Crowe and his supporters.

Capt. G. A. Byroade has had his men working hard for two weeks and as he has some knowledge of the Zanesville plans of attack and defense he believes that he has his squad in shape to give a good account of itself in the first skirmish.

Concordia will have the same men to deal with that formed the Zanesville club of last season. Aside from big Crowe at center Jacobs and Kepplinger will play at forward and Walters and Huppingarner will be back in the trenches to stave off the attack of the college flying squadron.

Last season the Zanesville team was the best drawing card that visited Fort Wayne. The club played such good basketball that it excited the enmity of the entire basketball population of the city and patrons rooted harder against this crowd than any that appeared on a local court. For this reason it is expected that a big crowd will attend.

The college gym in which the game will be played has been greatly improved during the summer months and now has one of the best basketball courts in the state. Steam heat has been put in and the seating capacity almost doubled. Although no seats will be reserved, ushers will be present at all games in order to avoid any confusion in handling the crowds. In the preliminary game the Concordia seconds will play the Zanesville second team.

Berkeley, Cal., Nov. 17.—Though she is only nineteen years of age, Greta Johansen, formerly of Stockholm, Sweden, and now a resident of Berkeley, is the champion diver of the world, having won the Olympic games' medal which was awarded in Stockholm in 1912.

The youthful diver recommends that the American girls learn the art of swimming before they reach the age of maturity. To obtain grace and beauty, she suggests swimming and declares that there is no sport as beneficial.

The successful swimming of Miss Johansen is due to her confidence. She is fearless. Five minutes before diving she stands firmly on the plank and stretching her arms directly in front of her, she gains poise and with full confidence, she drops. While in the water she uses the breast stroke, the trudgeon and the crawling movements with ease and speed. Each stroke is distinct from the other.

At the age of six years she received her first swimming lessons on a piano stool in her mother's parlor. Ever since, she has practiced the diver's art and now she is not only the champion diver of the world, but she is also the possessor of sixty-five silver cups and medals.

In her champion diving exhibition at Stockholm, she used the "swan dive," which is unknown in the west. It is a standing dive, the back is hollow and the arms are in horizontal position; the feet are close together, and she retains her position throughout the dive. Every action is scientific as well as graceful.

JOHNNIE POE IS ARMY CANNONEER

New York, Nov. 19.—Johnnie Poe again has gone to war. Princeton's famous halfback, wit and fighting man extraordinary, is a cannoneer in the British army.

Of all Princeton's picturesque characters Johnnie Poe is one of the most interesting. When he was in college, now nearly twenty years ago, he was a halfback of unusual talents. A runner through the line so low that he passed beneath the hips of his opponents, a tackler so hard and fierce that his name itself was a terror, his greatest asset, nevertheless, was his tremendous spirit. The higher the score mounted against Princeton the harder Johnnie fought, with the result that on most occasions his comrades imbibed his astounding aggressiveness and usually overtook their adversaries.

And Johnnie comes from good stock. The poet, Edgar Allan Poe, was his great-uncle. His father, John Poe, was the late attorney general of Maryland, and his brother, Edgar Allan Poe, familiar to all Princeton men as "Pete," was a champion football captain. All of the other famous Princeton Poes are his brothers, and each of them, almost single handed has in his time licked either Harvard or Yale on the gridiron.

But Johnnie is the real fighting man. He has warred in Cuba; he has soldiered in the Philippines; he has fought in Mexico, and no revolution in Central America ever has been complete until Johnnie Poe joined one army or another. He has lived through enough hair raising situations to make a bundle of the best selling short stories ever written.

Poe has been sentenced to be shot at daybreak, and bluffed his captors out of it. He has been put upon the broad Atlantic to perish in an open boat, and has been picked up by a warship.

"We can't bother with your baggage."

There was a little splash, and as Poe was pulled over the side the captain said:

"What did you throw overboard?"

"My baggage," replied Johnnie. I only had a toothbrush."

When at peace Poe is a miner out west. His life on the plains has made him a dead shot with rifle or revolver and his war experience has made him equally adept with a cannon or machine gun.

Not long after the war in Europe broke out Johnnie started for the front and joined the English colors. He was consigned to the light artillery, sent into camp at Woolwich, and now probably is on the fighting line in France or Belgium.

NATIONALS IN THE FIELD.

The National basketball team has organized for the coming season. J. H. J. Adams will again captain the team, which will line up as follows: Hoffman and Stegner, forwards; Walda, center; Adams and Linnemeier, guards, and Lohman, sub.

The players have been practicing for the past few weeks and will open their season on next Wednesday evening when they play the Turner Juniors at St. Paul's hall. No admission will be charged and a large turnout is expected.

The Nationals desire games with the better class of secondary teams in this section. Phone Manager A. J. Rose, No. 2716.

COL. GOETHALS IN GREAT HURRY

Panama, Nov. 12.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—A hurry-up order has been issued by Governor Goethals for the completion of the canal. The time limit set by congress is July, 1916, and Colonel Goethals is determined that the last of the unsung touches in every department from dredging to landscape gardening shall be completed ahead rather than behind time. Col. Goethals himself is setting a pace, and may be seen often at work in the administration building at Balboa late at night.

Men and machines now on the isthmus are said to be working harder than at any time since the great work was started ten years ago.

Every morning Col. Goethals appears at some part of the work where he has not been for several days previously, to hurry things along. There is the case of the steam shovels delving into the side of Sosa hill for the rock that goes to form the east breakwater in front of Colon harbor. On each one is a huge placard which shows the number of cars loaded as the work progresses. For every job a mark has been set to be surpassed if possible. On Sosa hill the man who has charge of loading the cars that take the rock fifty miles across the isthmus to the new breakwater, is working against the man in charge of transporting those same cars those fifty miles while the man who unloads them out near the end of the two-mile trestle is rushing things so that he will always be just a little ahead of the other two. At present there are 200 to 250 cars of rock sent him every working day.

Out in Culebra cut, where a large slide recently choked the channel for a few days and canal traffic came to a standstill with a large number of ships seeking passage through, dredging ceases only during the eight daylight hours when the canal is used for navigation purposes. The other sixteen hours are devoted to the fastest dredging the canal has ever seen. The men work in two shifts and as they eat and sleep on the dredges no time is wasted. Their work in handling the recent slide and reopening the canal to traffic within five days won for them high commendation from Col. Goethals.

NEW PERIODICAL APPEARS.

"Biz" is the name of a new weekly publication that has just made its salutatory to the Fort Wayne public. Clarence F. Cook, one of the best known newspaper men in Fort Wayne, is its publisher and editor and if the inaugural issue has set the pace for subsequent appearances it is going to be one of the bright and interesting incidents of journalism in this city. "Biz" describes itself as a "weekly class paper devoted to business," and swings out its banner announcing that it is "for greater Fort Wayne and the city beautiful." The initial number consists of twelve pages of four fifteen-inch columns, is printed on book paper of quality and its mechanical get-up is artistic. It presents an almost amazing variety of matter bearing upon business in Fort Wayne, all of it interesting and of value. In his inaugural word Editor Cook plainly announces that "Biz" is not a newspaper," but is a "class journal that has a good field of its own where browsing is good and promises not to break over the fence and get into anybody else's pasture." Clarence F. Cook is a veteran newspaper man. For a good many years he was city editor of The Sentinel and since retiring from that position he has made two trips to the gold fields at Klondike and other points in Alaska, has held the position of advertising manager on the Journal-Gazette and the Daily News and has managed independent business enterprises. He has the experience and the ability essential to the highly successful publication of such a medium as he has launched. Fort Wayne has had no publication devoted to the field that "Biz" occupies for the decade and more that has elapsed since the old "Business Guide" suspended publication.

Cured His RUPTURE

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 92 A, Marcellus avenue, Manasquan, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation. nov 12-26 dec 10-24

The M. E. ladies, who are giving the November birthday social in the K. of P. hall Friday evening, have arranged the following very unique program, with music to be furnished by the M. E. orchestra during the evening: Opening song; talk from headquarters; Preacher's Boy; Barnyard Song; Reading from the Country; Song by the Triplets; a curtain lecture by Aunt Samantha. These numbers are to be given by the ladies and the audience to guess who they are. Refreshments and a social time will follow.

Glen Fisher, son of Emmett Fisher, had the first finger of his right hand badly mangled while shredding corn for Will Goshorn the first of the week. Fisher was brushing grains of corn off the machine when his glove caught and pulled his hand into the gearing of the shredder, thus causing the accident. Dr. E. W. Dyar was called and is trying to save the finger.

Mrs. Mary Wilson moved Monday into the property owned by the Chloe Caston heirs.

A very delightful surprise party was given by the Pleasant Word circle for Mrs. Oscar Way, who is moving soon to Toesin. The ladies met at the home of Mrs. Maude Swihart and went together to the Way home. While the ladies were busy in the kitchen making taffy the husbands planned to surprise them and all went with Mr. Way to his home, taking an abundant supply of popcorn. So a jolly evening was had by all and the people left at a late hour wishing Mr. and Mrs. Way much success in their new home. Mr. Way has been Jefferson township trustee for the past two years and now on his term expiring he goes to Tocsin to take charge of an elevator there. The guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Bowman, Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Henline, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. C. I. E. T. Wood, division freight agent of the Pennsylvania, will go to Pittsburg tonight, where he will attend a meeting of the traffic officers of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburg. These meetings are held nearly every month and Mr. Wood always attends them.

ENTERTAINING HIS FATHER.

Chief Clerk E. E. Stephan, of the Pennsylvania superintendent's office, is entertaining his father, Jacob Stephan, of Upper Sandusky, who is also engaged in railroad work, being a foreman on the Hocking Valley road.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

After an illness of two days, E. E. Sailor resumed his duties as clerk in the Pennsylvania boiler shop this morning.

Frank Monahan, Wabash boilermaker, will be the guest of friends in Logansport over Sunday. He once resided in that city.

Conductor Albert Osborne, who was injured three weeks ago, was able to resume work on the Nickel Plate yesterday.

Supt. W. M. Wardrop and Trainmaster C. L. Hamilton, of the Pennsylvania, went to Pittsburg last night on business for the company.

Division Storekeeper E. L. Enecl and C. E. Dale have returned from St. Thomas, where they spent two or three days in the interest of the Wabash.

Assistant Chief Clerk Thomas Gordon, of the Pennsylvania master mechanic's office, is preparing for an over Sunday visit with friends in Indianapolis.

By the burning of a freight car at Toledo Tuesday night, the Wabash sustained a loss of upwards of $1,000. The fire was of unknown origin and an effort is being made to solve the mystery.

Pennsylvania Machinist Charles Knothe, who has been looking after some private matters a day or two, reported for work at the Pennsylvania shops this morning.

C. F. Burraider, Pennsylvania dispatcher, was presented with a son last night. As a result the dispatchers and operators at the office are well provided with cigars.

J. G. Roper, who attended the I. O. C. F. meetings in Indianapolis this week, resumed his place at the forge in the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Franke, the former a tank repairman at the Pennsylvania boiler shop, were called to Sturgis, Mich., yesterday by news of the death of her mother.

Wabash Road Foreman of Engines James Bell, of the Detroit division, transacted business in Fort Wayne yesterday and incidentally visited his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bell, the former a foreman at the Wabash shops.

The Wabash evidently expects a big movement in grain and hay soon, for orders were issued several days ago to rush all grain cars west. Quarantine on account of the hoof and mouth disease, however, will interfere with traffic more or less for awhile.

John T. Scott, foreman of the night fire builders at the Wabash round house, has just returned from a successful hunting trip to Maine. He killed two deer, one fine moose and a lot of small game. Mr. Scott, who makes this trip every fall, says this is the best trip he has made there.

E. W. Ely and H. Willard Smith, machinists, resumed their respective stations in the Pennsylvania shops this morning. Mr. Ely was sick and Mr. Smith had an eye injured by a piece of metal lodging in it. He is the "first aid" eye doctor at the machine shop, but was unable to remove the piece from his own eye and had to go to the oculist.

Harry G. Pinninger spent a few hours in the city yesterday and called upon a number of his railway and other friends. For several years Mr. Pinninger was Lake Shore passenger agent in Fort Wayne and served the Ninth ward a part of a term in the city council, resigning when he was promoted and transferred to Toledo in the capacity of traveling claim agent of the New York Central lines.

A train of twenty-eight cars loaded with lead billets passed through the city over the Wabash Tuesday, en route to Black Rock, Ont., where it was delivered to the Canadian Pacific. The metal is probably for export to be used in the manufacture of munitions of war. Sixteen car loads of fine horses from points in Missouri also passed through the city over the Wabash Tuesday, en route to the Atlantic coast for export. They also are for the armies.

Tick-Tock! Tick-Tock! 1,320,732,000 times during its existence is rather a remarkable performance for a clock and almost seems impossible, but nevertheless John Fruechte, of 2720 Broadway, Fort Wayne, is the owner of this wonderful timepiece which has ticked off the hours of the day for the past forty-two years without once stopping or making a visit to the repair shop.

It has proven to be rather a cheap investment as it was purchased for the price of $4.50, or at a cost of a little better than ten cents a year. The clock was bought in Fort Wayne from a Calhoun street jeweler in 1872 and ever since has been keeping correct time without being regulated but once.

It is a Seth Thomas one-day weight clock made in Thomaston, Conn., and requires winding every day. The construction of the timepiece is very simple, there only being half as many "wheels" in it as in a modern clock. All that has been required to keep it in running order was to place a bottle of oil in the clock and the amount that evaporated was enough to keep the "joints" oiled.

The average clock costing the amount of this one would continue in action not more than fifteen years, according to a local watchmaker, due to the fact that the material used in the clock today is not as hard as was used years ago. The brass in the clock shown above is nearly as hard as steel.

ECZEMA ITCHED AND BURNED CONTINUALLY

2406 Copeland St., Cincinnati, Ohio.—"For one year my right wrist and left arm from elbow to shoulder were disfigured with sore eruption. The eczema broke out with a rash and looked like raw beef steak. It itched and burned continually and I had to keep my arms covered with soft linen cloths. I could not sleep at night.

"I was told it was chronic case of eczema and got medicine but it had no effect. Then I sent for a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and the first application seemed to help me. I used them three times daily washing first with the Cuticura Soap and hot water, then covering with the Ointment. I purchased two cakes of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment and in six weeks my arms and wrists were thoroughly healed, not a scar remains and I have had no trouble since." (Signed) Mrs. John Clark, Jan. 26, '14.

PREDICT DRY NATION SOON

Kansas City, Nov. 19.—Four members of the national committee of the prohibition party met at the Densmore hotel and discussed plans for hastening the date of the demise of the whisky ring. The men, all of whom recently have been through political campaigns in different sections of the nation and are armed with figures and statistics from the elections, were Virgil G. Hinshaw, of Chicago, chairman of the national committee; Eugene W. Chafin, twice nominee for president and recently defeated for senator from Arizona; W. G. Calderwood, of Minneapolis, chairman of the congressional committee, and Charles J. Hall, of Los Angeles, who will direct the campaign work in the new Missouri prohibition district.

Mr. Chafin voiced the sentiment of the conference. "Never before in the history of this movement have we carried four states in one day," he said. "Washington, Oregon, Colorado and Arizona make a total of fourteen states in the dry column. In Arizona, where I was a candidate for senator, I polled more than eight thousand votes, as against 265 for president in 1912. In California, where the prohibition amendment was lost, we elected a representative in congress. The whisky ring has long been crying for figures and now they're getting them.

Suffrage a Big Factor.

"It is significant that in each of the four new dry states woman suffrage figured largely. As a further token, let me add that the woman suffrage amendment and the county unit measure lost in Missouri, I am told, by about the same vote. The whisky ring would prefer state prohibition to woman suffrage—and wisely, too. Prohibition might later be defeated in a state without woman suffrage."

In the plan decided upon yesterday college men will be made the nucleus of a fighting army. To make it seem more like a real army, an organization will be immediately recruited, trained in army methods of discipline and put on the army scale of pay. The door bell will supplant the trigger and personal solicitation will be the only ammunition used.

FOUR TOWNS ANNEXED.

New Albany Adds 2,500 Population with New Territory.

New Albany, Ind., Nov. 16.—Silver Grove, Glenwood place, Fairmont park, North park and other territory contiguous to New Albany, were annexed to the city today under a decision of Special Judge J. H. Paynter, of Salem. The territory was annexed by ordinance adopted by the city council three years ago. Anders Rasmussen and ten other property holders in the territory led a remonstrance in circuit court, where it has been pending, having been before three different judges in its preliminary stages.

The case was tried last month by Judge Paynter and taken under advisement until today. The annexation will add more than twenty-five hundred persons to the population of New Albany and also includes a number of manufacturing industries.

AUNT SALLY'S ADVICE TO BEAUTY SEEKERS.

Red Nose. The nose is a more delicate organ than most people imagine. It should be touched as little as possible. For undue redness the treatment recommended in following paragraph will be found effective. Apply without rubbing.

Muddy Skin. The surest, safest and surest method of giving a clear, healthy, transparent appearance to the complexion is to apply ordinary mercolized wax every night for from one to two weeks. This wax, obtainable at any drug store (one ounce is sufficient), actually takes off a bad complexion by gently and gradually absorbing the thin veil of surface skin. The new skin then in evidence is as fresh and velvety as a young girl's. The wax is applied like cold cream and washed off mornings.

Wrinkles: A harmless lotion made as follows has been found very effective in cases of wrinkles and crow's feet: Powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in witch hazel, ½ pt. Bathe the face in this daily for awhile.—Woman's Realm.

CITY BREVITIES

Sixteen young men have made application at the Fort Wayne recruiting office in the federal building since the first of November and not a single applicant has been accepted.

John Jones, of Lima, O., a patient at the St. Joseph hospital, who is temporarily insane due to an abscess on his brain, leaped through the glass of a window of his room on the first floor, and ran west on Main street as far as the Wayne Knitting mills, where he was stopped by Officer Lynch, who called the wagon and had the man returned to the hospital. Luckily Jones escaped serious injury in his plunge through the window, receiving only a scratch on the neck.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

The close was steady at the same as last night to a shade off.

Fine weather eased corn. The opening was from a shade to ⅛c lower and was followed by frequent changes within ¼c range.

The close was weak, ⅛@¼c to ½@⅝c under last night.

In oats there was a fair commission demand at the outset but wants were soon filled.

Provisions hardened as a result of scattered buying.

ARTILLERY MORE ACTIVE.

German Effort to Recapture Village is Frustrated.

Paris, Nov. 19.—(2:45 p. m.)—The French official announcement given out by the war office this afternoon says that yesterday saw in the north increased activity in artillery fire particularly between the seacoast and the river Lys. There were no infantry attacks in this region. The text of the announcement follows:
"On the north yesterday was marked by a renewal of activity on the part of the enemy's artillery, particularly between the sea coast and Lys. There were no infantry attacks in this region.
"Between the Oise and the Aisne the operations in the vicinity of Tracy-le-Val had a termination very favorable for our troops. It will be remembered that we took possession of the village several days ago. The day before yesterday the Germans endeavored to capture it. After having captured our first trenches they succeeded in making their way as far as the central square of the village. Here, however, a vigorous counter attack delivered by our Algerian contingent drove the enemy back, wrested from him all the ground we had lost and inflicted on him very heavy losses.
"In the Argonne we have maintained our position. Along the rest of the front there is nothing new to report."

CALL IT FEINT AT WARSAW.

Petrograd, Nov. 19.—The German advance in considerable force along the narrow battle front on the west bank of the river Vistula is regarded by Russia military observers as a feint at the city of Warsaw.
This plan is calculated to revive the German troops in East Prussia now giving way along the entire line by rendering a Russian further advance untenable. Despite this German demonstration the converging lines of the Russian advance on the Austrian fortress of Cracow are steadily progressing, the Russians say, now being reported within twenty-five miles of that point. The Austrians are stubbornly contesting the Russian offensive and are taking advantage of every creek and hillock in any way available for defense, but the Russian columns in south Poland already have traversed the last river between them and the fortress of Cracow.
The Russian troops from two fronts, one facing Cracow and the other facing the Carpathian mountains, where yesterday they reoccupied the approaches to two of the most important passes into Hungary.

were dispatched to Turkish waters might insist the vessels be retained as a moral force making for the protection of the American missions and interests.
The government last night directed Ambassador Henry Morgenthau to ask the Ottoman government for an explanation of the incident. Secretary Daniels, with the approval of President Wilson, simultaneously cabled the commanders of the Tennessee and the North Carolina, also in the Mediterranean, to take no action which might embarrass the American government and to await specific instructions from Washington concerning the general situation.

Local authorities declare they have the hoof and mouth disease well in hand and there is little possibility of it breaking out in Allen county if the farmers and stockmen co-operate with them.

The discovery of the disease on the farm of Edward Kissell, just across the line in Whitley county, aroused the authorities of Allen county to immediate action and all roads leading from the adjoining county are being carefully guarded. Sheriff Gladieux stated Thursday that the patrolling of the roads would continue for several days, at least until all danger is passed.

The herd of forty-four cattle held under temporary quarantine at Maples have been inspected by veterinarians and were found free from the infection.

Rules Are Posted.

Posters have been placed in conspicuous places stating that no one shall enter a quarantined farm but the owner and tenant and that nothing shall be taken from them. No live poultry is to be marketed and milk and butter must be marketed from farms not under quarantine. Vegetables may be marketed providing there is no straw or hay. Dogs are to be chained and pigeons are to be gotten rid of as quickly as possible. Hunters are not permitted to hunt from farm to farm. Farmers also urged to disinfect their stock.

Dr. E. C. Cannon, government expert, who is working out of Niles, Mich., inspected the cattle on the Kissell farm Wednesday afternoon. He says that much of the livestock on the farm is afflicted with the hoof and mouth disease in its most malignant form and equal to any case he has ever seen. Dr. Cannon expects to remain in Whitley county until the cattle on the Kissell farm has been killed and properly buried. The livestock will be appraised by a government expert and Mr. Kissell will partially be reimbursed for the cattle that it will be necessary to kill.

Sheriff Gladieux stated Thursday that the car load of sheep which was expected to arrive here Wednesday from the Chicago stock yards did not make its appearance. He is of the opinion that it is being held in Chicago.

READY FOR WORK.

Last spring the boys at the Hoagland school were taught the art of spraying trees infected with the San Jose scale. They were taught to prepare the fluid used in this work and the proper method for applying the same. Much work was done for persons having trees infected with the San Jose scale. Now they are ready to take up this work again and any person wanting their trees sprayed should notify F. M. Price, principal of the school, and he will see that the same is done. The fall of the year is regarded as the best time to spray trees to prevent the spread of the San Jose scale, which is playing havoc in some sections.

LOVES "GREAT WHITE WAY."

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 19.—Because he loved "the great white way" of Chicago, Warner Spink, the son of a prominent physician of Washington, Ind., is being held here for the authorities of his home town on the charge of having stolen $1,200 worth of jewelry from his step-mother. Spink is said to have admitted to the police that he sold the jewelry in Chicago for $600, the most of which he spent in having a good time in that city. He came here Tuesday night from Chicago. He wore a seven weeks' growth of beard and the police did not recognize him at first. His friends in Washington declare that the young man was stricken some time ago with an ailment akin to paralysis and since that time many of his acquaintances have believed him mentally unbalanced.

PURCHASES RESTAURANT.

Herman Komisaron, formerly city salesman for the Ackerman-Wiener Co., produce and fruit merchants, has purchased the Coney Island restaurant at 1501 Calhoun street. He will make extensive improvements and install modern and up-to-date fixtures in the place of business and will change the name to the Manhattan Inn. INJURES WOMAN AND RUNS AWAY

The police are trying to discover the identity of the man with a bicycle who ran into Mrs. John Kirsch, 1038 East Wayne street, Wednesday evening, knocked her down and injured her painfully and then sped away without stopping to learn the consequences of his recklessness or offering her assistance. The accident occurred on East Wayne street, near the home of Mrs. Kirsch. The cyclist came tearing along at high speed with no lights on his wheel and without sounding a bell. Mrs. Kirsch was not aware of his approach until she was struck. She was greatly stunned by the impact, and made her way home with difficulty. Cyclists who ride their wheels after dark without lights are subject to a fine. During the past week about two score riders have been arrested and taken to the station. None has yet been fined, but the city court hereafter will assess fines.

HIGHWAYMEN ROB FARMER.

The city police department and Sheriff A. C. Gladieux have been on the lookout since midnight for traces of two highwaymen who held up and robbed Gust Koenemann, an Adams county farmer, about 10 o'clock Wednesday night as Koenemann was driving home from Decatur. The men were overtaken by the farmer on the road and they asked him for a ride. He permitted them to get into his buggy, and after riding about six miles north of Decatur one of them thrust a gun in Koenemann's face, compelled him to get out of the buggy and submit to be tied to a tree at the roadside. His pockets were rifled and $20 taken. The men then drove the rig a short distance and left it, continuing their flight on foot. A man who was passing heard Koenemann's call for help and untied him.

ATTEMPT TO ROB A POOLROOM.

Patrolman Hill discovered four men in the poolroom of Christoph John, 816 Wallace street, at 1 o'clock Thursday morning. The men ran out of the back door as the officer approached the front, and Hill gave chase. He fired his revolver at the fleeing marauders but they did not stop. Detective Sergeant Walter Immel and Patrolmen Brown, Hill and Cantwell searched the east and south sides for the fellows but could not find them. Two young men who were suspected were interviewed at their homes, but insisted that they had been in bed before midnight. John was fined in the city court Tuesday morning on conviction of assault and battery on Edward Needham, an 18-year-old youth with whom he had had trouble in the poolroom.

THE CITY COURT.

The shortest docket and the briefest session of the city court for many weeks marked the proceedings of that tribunal Thursday morning.

George Shernak, a vag, was released and promised to get out of the city.

The case against John H. Green, charged with operating a motor car without a license, was dismissed. The case had been pending on continuance for several weeks.

A letter from the secretary of state informed the court that R. H. Sherlock, of DeKalb county, had remitted his application and fee for an automobile license and tags, but had not been supplied because the department was out of tags. Thereupon the case against him for driving without tags on his machine was continued indefinitely. Sherlock was arrested while passing through Fort Wayne with his family en route to Preble, Adams county, a few days ago.

HOW TO GRASP A GIRL'S WRIST TO LEARN IF SHE LOVES YOU.

Here's an infallible test to discover if the girl you're in love with reciprocates your affection.

The secret was discovered by Dr. W. Percy Hicking, a noted alienist of Washington, D. C., who has placed love-making on a scientific basis.

A woman's pulse will tell the tale of her affections every time, contends Dr. Hickling. All you have to do to find out if her heart beats for you is to put your finger on her wrist and note the pulse. This can be done under the pretense of merely holding her hand. It is of course presumed that you have enough of her favor to undertake such familiarity.

It's taking a rather mean advantage of the lady of your heart's desire but anything is fair in love as everyone knows.

If her pulse goes up like a skyrocket the moment you touch her hand, you may be certain that she loves you. If there is no immediate rise of the heart barometer, begin a casual, teasing conversation in which you mention, one after another, the names of your suspected rivals. If the girl's pulse begins to hammer hard upon the mention of any certain name you may be certain that you have learned the identity of her favored suitor. If it mounts to about 100 per minute—well, you might as well quit. She's head over heels in love with the man whose name has thus excited her.

Now, keep this thing a secret, boys. Don't let the girls get wise. They might refuse to let us hold their hands altogether, especially during that trying period in which we're trying to discover just what they do think of us!

A civic discussion club will be organized Thursday evening at the Wayne township school No. 5. The principal address will be delivered by R. F. Lockridge. Five civic discussion clubs have been organized in Wayne county.

Melt in a spoon a little Vick's "Vap-O-Rub" Croup and Pneumonia Salve and inhale the vapors. Put a little up each nostril and at night apply well over throat and chest, covering with a warm flannel cloth. Leave the covering loose around the neck so that the vapors of Menthol, Thymol, Eucalyptol, Camphor, and Pine Tar, that are released by the body heat, may be inhaled all night long. In Asthma and Hay Fever rub Vick's over the spinal column to relax the nervous tension. This treatment is not a "cure," but it has at least the merit of containing no harmful drugs and it is sold by all druggists in 25c, 50c, and $1.00 jars, on thirty days' trial. Vick's is also excellent for all croup and cold troubles.

Saving the Savors of a Turkey

When you smell a turkey cooking, look out; the odors that saturate the house ought to be staying in the pan.

The SAVORY ROASTER is a saver in various ways:

It retains all the flavor of the meat and cooks it in.

It saves the labor of basting by hand; the juices collect on the top of the pan like dewdrops, and descend in a mist.

It saves labor of cleaning; the pan is so shaped that there are no more corners than a football has.

It saves the turkey; put eight pounds in the roaster and nearly eight pounds will come out—priced at 98c to $2.25.

WOLF & DESSAUER

"BOB" BURDETTE HAS PASSED AWAY

Death Comes to Man Famous as Preacher, Author and Humorist.

Pasadena, Cal., Nov. 20.—Dr. Robert J. Burdette, preacher, author and humorist, died at his home here at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He had been ill for the greater part of two years and for the last week had been in a state of coma.

Dr. Burdette's illness became acute ten weeks ago. Up to that time he had continued his literrary and journalistic work, to which he turned after giving up the active pastorate of Temple Baptist church, Los Angeles, in 1909.

Although Burdette's original home was in Greensboro, Pa., where he was born in 1844, the latter part of his life was spent in California. At Clifton-on-the-Sea, Pasadena, he had a spacious house with broad verandas. His first wife had died after fifteen years of encouragement to him, during which time she had traveled all over the country with him. In 1899 he married Mrs. Clara B. Baker, of Pasadena.

A fugitive instance of Burdette's rollicking humor was a letter home to his luck in Los Angeles during his first trip to Europe. He dated the letter from "some distance out in the damp," and said in part:

"The scenery along this route, although somewhat monotonous, is splendidly irrigated, but it seems too early for the growing crops. Nothing has come up yet, except on shipboard, and that has gone overboard. The route is not nearly so populous as the Santa Fe trail over the desert. We have just had two kinds of days—the days we see a ship and the days we don't."

The veteran humorist found fun in everything. While he was forced to abandon it in the pulpit largely because of the reputation he had made for fun-making, he agreed with Henry Ward Beecher that a joke in the pulpit was not at all out of place. It was, as Beecher said: "When you are fighting the devil, shoot him with anything."

Burdette died with the conviction that there was not only just as much fun in the world today as ever, but "a great deal more because," as he said, "there are more people in it, and people are the funniest things on this side of the grave."
